Howdy Folks:

Just a word of caution this week about being too hasty to have your engine worked on if it suddenly starts using oil.

As you should know by now, present driving conditions are doubly hard on car engines and there are scores of filler caps and crankcase breathers plugged, to the extent oil is forced out of the main bearings. We'll take time to check it for you and the cure is simple.

It is important that all preventive measures be taken for neglect may place millions of cars on dry dock during the next year.

Tin Can Day Observed At Washington School

Washington school pupils carried, hauled, or dragged nearly a ton of tin cans to their school Friday of last week. This "Tin Can Day" was in response to a call from the county salvage committee which was relayed to the pupils and their teachers by Burton W. Dunn, local school superintendent.

Mr. Dunn states that no prizes, contest, nor pressure of any kind was used to secure the co-operation of the pupils in this drive. The pupils were enthusiastic about performing this service for Good Old Uncle Sam, which they know means all of us.

While pupils from all rooms in the Washington school brought cans, the most enthusiastic and ardent workers were first grade pupils from the rooms of Inez Chase and Alberta Tyrrell.

The cans, all of which were prepared cans, that is, of the washed and flattened variety, were removed from the Washington school and transported to Marshfield by volunteer workers, Jim Bunch, Earl Benham and Mike Broad.

It is anticipated that another "Tin Can Day" will be held in about two weeks and after that about once each month.

Takes A Vacation

Mrs. LaVelle Haggith, after seven years of steady employment at the Evans Products Co. plant in Marshfield and then took six weeks' vacation, has returned from Miami, Florida. She made the trip east by United Air Lines and returned home the southern route by bus. She considers the Air Liner as the most wonderful way to travel. She says Miami is a most gorgeous city with a delightful climate, the thermometer registering from 75 to 85 during the twenty-four hours (constantly). There was considerable rain while she was there, quite like Oregon weather, only warm and pleasant. The court house of Dade county, which is situated in the heart of Miami, stands twenty-four stories high and is a magnificent structure. It cost one million dollars and is one of the outstanding edifices. While there she visited with her daughter and son-in-law, Floyd Shepard, who is now stationed at Miami, and also visited friends in Arizona on the way home. Her mother lives in Coquille.

all classes, the faculty, and University and Eugene high school girls. Marilyn Sage, journalism major assisted in the freshman skit. An Oregon Dream Girl was chosen from the freshman class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Sage, Coquille.
