Corporal Robt. H. Irwin Recuperating From Injuries

Corporal Robert H. Irwin, son of Mrs. Ivy Plieth of this city, stopped here for a couple of days' visit on his way north to Seattle where he is to enter the Naval Hospital for further treatment and await orders for again reporting for duty. He has been back in the United States for four months now, recovering from his injuries and is much better at this time.

Bob Martin Secures V-12 Rating In Wisconsin

Bob Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Martin of this city, who finished boot camp at Farragut last September and has since been taking radio instruction at the University of Wisconsin, was one of three out of a class of 150 who was selected for V12 classification. That means he will be sent to some college where he will take an eight months' course and then be in line for commissioning as an ensign.

Bob McCarthy Taking Army Aviation Instruction in Minn.

Robert McCarthy, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McCarthy, Coquille, has arrived at the University of Minnesota, for course in Army Air Force instruction, lasting approximately five months prior to his appointment as an Aviation Cadet in the Army Air Forces. During this period he will take numerous academic courses, as well as elementary flying training. Upon completion of the course he will be classified as a pilot, navigator or bombardier and go on to schools of the Flying Training Command for training in these specialties.

Jack Carroll in Aviation Radio School at Memphis

A letter from Jack Carroll states he is now in the Aviation Radio School, which is one of three at his base at the Naval Air Technical Center at Memphis, Tenn. After completion of twenty weeks at this base Jack says he is to go to Florida for gunnery school after which there will be six weeks with a squadron practicing what he has learned. His address is John Carroll, W. A. T. T. C., Barracks 11, Lower, Section R-24-B, Memphis, Tenn.

Jim Watson Has Arrived in England

Mrs. Carl Gilbert has received word from her brother, James Watson, that he arrived safely in England recently.

Roy Miller, formerly Mt. States Power Co. representative in Myrtle Point, and who has been in the Navy the past six or seven months, was in Coquille Wednesday. He leaves soon for Gulf Port, Miss., from which his next move will be overseas.

Dick Ray Now A Fireman First Class

Now a fireman first class, Blue-jacket Richard G. Ray, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Ray formerly of Coquille but now living near John Day, Ore., received this rate at recent graduation ceremonies for students at the Naval Training School (Diesel) on the Iowa State College campus, Ames, Iowa.

Known as a "qualified striker" for the petty officer rate of motor machinist's mate third class, the Blue-jacket was sent to the specialty school on the basis of his recruit training aptitude tests. The completed course of study included the operation, function and maintenance of internal combustion engines. A theoretical phase also included fuel oil engines and electricity.

Active duty orders to sea or to a shore station awaits the newly graduated man, who was called Dick in his Coquille high school attendance.

Letter From Fred Watson Somewhere in England

Herbert Carl, of Arago, has received copy of a letter that Fred Watson wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Watson in Seattle:

"About the only thing I can say is I'm some place in England and it's really cold. Haven't felt good since I got here. Guess you have to get acclimated or some thing. Boy, I've never seen such weather in my life. It's damp all the time and usually, cold as heck, I wear all the clothes I can get on when I am outside and about as many inside as these coal stoves seem to hold the heat in much better than they let it out. May get a chance to go to London some of these days. They say it is very interesting. Lots of bomb ruins though. Everything is so very old. All the old town halls and churches are very quaint. Would like to really look soon of those places over. Haven't seen any papers yet from home, we do get an English newspaper but it only tells what the English are doing. There is a short wave radio in the club we get American programs on. Everything is rationed here and I mean everything. We only get a little sweets and no cookies or stuff like that.

Tyler Walker Now A Colonel In The Army Dental Corps

Tyler J. Walker, a student in Coquille High 20 years ago, the son of T. J. Walker and brother of the first Mrs. C. W. Endicott, has recently been made a colonel in the Dental Corps of the U. S. Army, according to last Thursday's Oregonian, which included his picture in the story. He is stationed at Augusta, Ga.

The Junior Women's Club will meet for a 6:30 pot luck dinner next Monday night. Dorothy Harris is in charge and urges members to come.

Praise For SeaBees In English Press

One of the clippings sent The Sentinel by Marlin Brandon, somewhere in England, was an article written by Jack Foster, "Stars and Stripes" Navy writer, and which appeared in November in an England publication. The following is quoted from it:

"Confused Bassars" the Marines called them back in their early training days.

But a tag like that doesn't stick long when it refers to a lot of rugged guys who spent civilian days sending up skyscrapers, building bridges, putting down pipelines and pushing bulldozers around from Nome to Florida.

For the SeaBees, men of the Navy's Construction Battalions, have been laying airfields in the tropical hell of the South Pacific, rebuilding former Jap bases recaptured in the Aleutians, clearing the clogged harbors of North Africa, Sicily and Italy, and raising and running naval bases in most other parts of the world.

They lost that "Confused Bassars" name for ever last June when they won the respect of the leatherneck legions by landing on the beach at Seft, New Georgia, scouting the Jap-controlled jungle land, surveying the airfield sites before the Marines arrived to secure the area.

An Associated Press story related how a detachment of Marine Raiders crept ashore ready for a desperate beachhead battle. Instead, they were met by Lieut. Bob Ryan, SEC, USNR, Ventura, Cal., and a grinning group of SeaBees.

"Colonel," said Ryan, extending his hand in greeting, the "SeaBees are always happy to welcome the Marines!"

"Well I'll be —!"

The SeaBees had landed at Seft with bulldozers, power shovels and trucks on June 30, the day the American invasion of New Georgia started. Most of the outfit hailed from Texas and Oklahoma. They turned on the muscle and within nine days from the moment the first tree was uprooted the first fighter plane made an emergency landing on the coral strip of the airfield. The first take-off was achieved on the eleventh day after construction.

Jap-slaughtered civilian construction workers at Wake, Guam and Cavite decided the Navy on its own corps of armed bluejacket builders. A plan of organization, worked out two months prior to Pearl Harbor, went into operation and construction men were militarized for duty at bases outside the continental limits of the U. S. Last July the 100th Battalion was commissioned and sent to an advanced base depot for shipment overseas.

Most SeaBees were draft-proof because of age or family. Hardened from years of outdoor life they easily took to the rigorous military training. Even commando courses were included in the 12 weeks training schedule at Naval Construction Centers at Camp Peary, near Williamsburg, Va., and Danville, R. I.

Burton Johnson In Training For Army Air Pilot

At the pre-flight school of San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, 27 cadets from Oregon, including Burton R. Johnson of Coquille, are receiving training designed to mold them into Army Air Forces pilots. Burton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy C. Johnson.

Norman McCool Left For San Diego Monday Morning

Norman McCool, Marine private first class, who had been at home here on a three weeks' leave, after seeing action in the South Pacific, left Monday for San Diego to report back for duty. Where he might be sent from there he did not know.

Does Not Find It Much Like Coos County Weather

Levi Bunch had a letter this week from his Rink creek neighbor, Frank George, who has been stationed at a base up close to the Arctic Circle for the past year. He says it is just one blizzard after another up there but that when the sun does come out, it is down close to the horizon, travels a short arc and disappears early in the afternoon.

In Justice Court The Past Week

Oscar Kinder Sargent and William Earl Sargent, the two brothers from Canyonville who were before Justice Bull a few days before, were before him again last Friday, having been arrested by the state police for possession of game—venison this time—were each fined $25 and costs of $4 by the J. P. They were given until Jan. 25 to make payment.

Edward Tuel, picked up by the state police for angling without a license on Tuesday, was fined $25 and $4 costs by Justice Bull. Upon payment of the cost and $10, the $15 balance of the fine was suspended.

Oscar Dulaney was summoned by the state police last Friday to appear in J. P. court for having a 3300 pound combined overload on his truck.

There Was No Fight In 101 Cafe New Year's Eve

Mrs. Grace Gilkey asks that a correction be made in what was said at the council meeting on Jan. 6, when it was stated that a fight occurred in a cafe where dancing was in progress during the holidays.

The cafe referred to was the 101 on Front street and Mrs. Gilkey says the fight started further west on Front street and was not in her cafe at any time.

The broken window in the front of the cafe came from a young fellow who walked across the street from the Belle Knife Hospital corner and deliberately shoved his fist through the glass. He had no connection with the fight but had to call on Dr. Stark to dress his cut fist.

Julia gives
3 good, hearty
soup recipes

It's amazing, how many different varieties of hearty, stick-to-the-ribs soups there are—and how easy they are to prepare. Suppose I stir your imagination with some specific recipes?

MEATLESS BEAN SOUP

1 1/2 cups dried beans
1 cup coarsely chopped onion
3/4 cup thinly sliced celery
2 tbsps. shortening
9 cups water
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. thyme
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. vinegar

Pick over and wash the beans. Saute onion and celery in hot melted shortening in heavy 4-qt. kettle until limp but not brown. Add beans and water, cover. Cook slowly until beans are mushy (about 3 hours). Mash beans. Add seasonings and vinegar. Serve garnished with egg or lemon slices. (Can serve 6.)

COUNTRY SOUP

2 medium-size potatoes
2 small turnips
3 small onions
1 large carrot
3/4 cup sliced celery
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. enriched flour
2 tbsps. cold water
milk
1 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. salt

Wash, peel and dice potatoes, turnips, onions and carrot. Add celery; cook in boiling water to cover in 3-qt. saucepan until tender (about 20 mins.) Drain vegetables, saving liquid. Cool vegetables thoroughly. Force through fine sieve, making about 5 cups puree. Make paste of flour and cold water; add to vegetable puree. Cook until slightly thickened (about 10 mins.), stirring frequently. Add vegetable liquid combined with enough milk to make 1 1/2 cups, butter or margarine, and seasonings. Heat thoroughly. (Can serve 6.)

FISH-CORN CHOWDER

2 tbsps. drippings
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 to 1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. onion salt
1 1/2 cups cooked flaked fish
1 1/2 cups thin milk
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 cups whole kernel corn

Make white sauce. Melt drippings, blend in flour, add milk gradually and cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients and heat well. Serve at once. NOTE: One No. 2 can oysters can be used in place of fish.
