Oregon and Coos Co. 4th War Bond Record

F. W. Martin, Coquille chairman of the Fourth War Loan drive, hands in the following complete report of the successful drive recently finished: Oregon's quota of $99,000,000 went 29.9 per cent over, the total sales being $129,621,500, and Oregon stood third highest in the United States in percentage over its quota.

The state's E bond quota of $38,000,000 went to $43,538,400, or 114.6 per cent of its quota. Individual purchases, including E bonds, in the state, totalled $72,692,000, which is 34.6 above the quota.

Corporation purchases amounted to $55,929,500, which is 124.3 per cent of the state's $45,000,000 quota.

Coos county ranked tenth in the state in exceeding its quota and eleventh in excess buying by individuals. In counties having a quota of more than $1,000,000, Coos ranked third in the total amount of bonds purchased and fourth in the amount purchased by individuals.

Total county sales of $2,229,400 were 146.8 per cent of the quota of $1,518,700. Quota of corporations had been set at $559,100, and the $834,300 was 149.2 per cent of that quota.

Series E bonds brought total sales of $785,700, where the county quota for that class was $763,800, making it 2.9 per cent above the quota.

Individual purchases of all bonds, including E, in Coos county, totalled $1,395,100, where the quota set was $959,800. Sales in this department were therefore 145.4 per cent of the quota.

Memorial Service For Dean E. W. Allen

Oregon newspaper men will join the university community Sunday, March 19, in a memorial service honoring Eric W. Allen, nationally known dean of the University of Oregon School of Journalism, who died Mar. 5. The hour has been set tentatively for 3 p. m. and the auditorium of the Music school on the campus will be the scene of the services.

Dean Allen started the university's first courses in journalism in the fall of 1912, and the whole growth of the small department into a large and important school was under his leadership and direction.

Refunds For Non-Highway Gas Use Last Year

Refunds for gasoline purchased for use other than highway purposes amounted to $1,750,467.44 for the year 1943, Secretary of State Bob Farrell disclosed today. The refund consists of the five cent state tax per gallon of gasoline bought in this state.

On the basis of the refund, it was shown that gasoline used for farm purposes in Oregon during the year amounted to 12,987,290 gallons, while 1,080,231 gallons were used for marine purposes, mostly fishing, 10,696,522 gallons for lumbering and 2,180,077 by cities and counties.

When He Comes Back

by Carole Landis

I AM a woman waiting for the day he comes back. There are millions like me. We buy a hat... and wonder how he'll like it. We cook something he loves for dinner and sit alone eating it with a throat so tight we can hardly swallow. We have friends in and as we bid them good-bye at the door, we miss his strong arm around our shoulders.

For him... to bring him back... we buy bonds, do a war job. But one of the biggest jobs we can possibly do to bring him back a lot of us are falling down on! The government urgently needs our used cooking fats with which to make the glycerine essential for gunpowder, shells, bullets... as well as life-saving medicines. The need is so urgent that for every pound of used fat you turn in to your meat dealer he has been authorized by the government to give you 4¢ and two free meat ration points.

The sulfa drugs that help him heal; the vaccines that protect him... these are made with glycerine. And one of the most important sources of glycerine now left to us is the American kitchen, where millions of pounds of fats are still being poured down the drain. Stop throwing away lives! Start saving every drop of fat. No fat has been used too much or is too black to produce crystal-clear glycerine. One tablespoonful a day will help to bring him back sooner! Save your fats in any sort of tin can, not glass, and rush them to your meat dealer promptly! Start doing it today, won't you?

Tin Cans and Waste Paper are vitally needed too.

Valley Dairyman Also Ask Testing

The testing of dairy cattle in the northern part of Coos county for Bang's Disease and tuberculosis has been nearly completed by veterinarians representing the Bureau of Animal Industry and the committee organized at a recent meeting of dairyman to head up a control program, will meet at the Coos Bay Mutual Creamery in Marshfield next Saturday, March 18, at 10:00 a. m. to formulate plans for organizing a control area and for effective disease control in the future, according to George Jenkins, County Agricultural Agent, who is serving as secretary of the committee.

A large number of dairymen have signed petitions directed to the State Department of Agriculture requesting the organization of a disease control area including that part of Coos county lying north of the watershed between Coos Bay and the Coquille River. While the meeting Saturday is especially for committeemen, anyone interested in this subject will be welcome, according to Everett Messerle, committee chairman, who urges that all of those who care to do so sign a copy of the petition at the Coos Mutual Creamery, Coos Farmers Cooperative, or with Ben Monson of Hauser, prior to the meeting.

Dairymen in the Coquille Valley expressed an interest in having tests made on herds at a meeting held in the court house recently and veterinarians will be available to do this testing for those who request it at an early date by listing their name, address, and number of cows at the County Agent's office in Coquille, according to Dr. Pierre Souillard, who is supervising the testing work for the bureau veterinarians.

WAVE Enlistment a No. 1 Project Of Two Coquille Clubs

Helping the U. S. Navy enlist WAVES has been adopted as a No. 1 war project by the Coquille Woman's club and the Coquille Junior Woman's club as two of the 150 women's groups in the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs which have formally pledged support to this vital and urgent program.

The WAVES project was outlined here recently by Ensign Elizabeth Hill of the WAVES enlistment headquarters for Oregon at 735 S. W. Alder street, Portland.

"The United States Navy has asked the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs for help in the vital and urgent program for the enlistment of WAVES who replace trained navy men for duty at sea," said Mrs. Geo. Moorhead, Salem, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, in announcing the state-wide program which will bring 150 clubs and 5000 women into the project.

"The Navy desperately needs men. Thousands are required for the warships now coming off the ways and for the naval shore establishments which maintain the fleet at its full fighting strength. The numbers of trained men available from all sources are far short of the requirements of our seven ocean navy.

"Therefore, more women are urgently needed in the WAVES to replace the trained men at shore stations for this service at sea."

J. W. Corbett General Manager of S. P.

Starting as a telegrapher 29 years ago, J. W. Corbett today is the new general manager of the Southern Pacific Company.

Corbett's appointment to succeed the late C. F. Donnan has just been announced by L. B. McDonald, vice president in charge of operations for the railroad. With headquarters in San Francisco, he will have jurisdiction over the company's operations west of Ogden, Utah, and El Paso, Texas.

As in the case of many high executives of Southern Pacific, Corbett rose from the ranks. After joining SP at Portland in 1915 as a telegrapher, he took time out to serve with the Army in World War I and then returned to railroading. He was train dispatcher, trainmaster, assistant to the general manager and division superintendent before being named assistant general manager in 1942.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

You hear a lot of talk about morale these days... but have you found many people who knew exactly what "morale" was?

Well, I was thumbing through my scrap book the other day, and I came on this verse I'd like to pass on to you...

It's the lift you get from a friendly smile...
A brand new hat in a jaunty style...
A letter from home that the post-man brings...
Morale is a lot of little things.

Isn't it so? Morale is just a lot of little things. A flower in your button hole, a word of greeting, an occasional refreshing glass of beer with friends.

From where I sit, if we take care to preserve these little friendly things that boost morale, we'll be doing a lot to help our country in its time of crisis.

And we'll boost morale among our soldiers at the front, too. Because it's these "important little things" that they look forward to returning to.

Joe Marsh
