Townsend Club No. 1

The meeting of Townsend Club No. 1 Tuesday evening was opened by the members repeating the Lord's prayer and by saluting the flag. There was a large crowd and nearly all were dressed in old-fashioned costumes. The caravan meeting Sunday was also greeted by a large crowd who heard a fine program.

We hope our sick members will soon be able to be out to the meetings again.

There was a good program of readings, music and singing Tuesday evening. The door prize was won by Mrs. Dean. Next Tuesday there will be coffee and doughnuts for lunch and the men will do the serving.—Press. Cor.

WEALTH OF THE WEST

Lumber — Here in this West of varied riches, vast virgin stands of Douglas Fir, Cedar, Pine and Hemlock make up one of the great resources and industries of this region. Nor is this resource a diminishing one. Today far-sighted forest conservation programs are a reality. The lumber industry of the West plants ten trees for every one cut and 1,732,000 acres have been set aside as "tree farms" to insure a continual supply for future generations. In the re-building of tomorrow, the lumber industry in the West will play as vital a part as it is playing today in the war effort. Boundless is the wealth of the West where man and nature work hand in hand to build a richer world.
