

First Graders Learn Use Of Library

The Coquille Library was visited last Friday afternoon by Mrs. Inez Chase and her class of little first graders. On Monday Mrs. Alberta Tyrrell, with another group of first graders, also paid the library a call. The purpose of these visits was to acquaint the children with the proper use of the library. They have all been learning to read this year at school and in order not to forget how during vacation, their teachers wished to encourage their use of the library. With the little ones seated in the children's corner, they were asked to say their slogan in unison, "I am going to try to read a little every day all summer long so that I won't forget how to read."

Mrs. Ellingsen, librarian, had first a boy and then a girl demonstrate the proper library routine, which she followed with the telling of a couple of stories of her own composition. Each year Mrs. Chase follows the custom of a similar visit. The librarian states her appreciation for this guidance from the teacher and would welcome visits from other grades. Before the close of school Mrs. Ellingsen plans to announce a story hour for the vacation months.
