O. & C. Forests Return $96,059 To Coos Co. Coos county's share of the total receipts from the O. & C. Revested Lands for the past fiscal year which ended June 30, 1944, will be $96,217.14, according to Ross A. Youngblood, District Forester in charge of the Marshfield district. This sum was certified by the General Land Office of the Department of the Interior on August 21 for payment to Coos county in lieu of taxes under the Act of August 28, 1937. Last year the amount received by Coos county in lieu of taxes on the O. & C. lands was $41,842.35. On the 2,500,000 acres of O. & C. lands the counties suffer no loss of tax income because of federal ownership. Under the above 50 per cent of the income from the O. & C. forest lands during each fiscal year must be returned to the eighteen Oregon counties in which the lands are located. Each county participates in direct proportion to its share of the total assessed valuation of all O. & C. lands and receives its prorata share regardless of whether any timber is sold within its borders in any given year or not. This plan of distribution helps to stabilize revenues for all eighteen counties. Revenues received by each county from O. & C. lands in lieu of taxes may be used for roads, schools, or for any other purpose for which county funds may be spent. County revenue from this source has risen steadily year by year since 1938, when the O. & C. lands were placed under sustained yield management by the Central Land office. Timber cutting on these lands proceeds at a rate of approximately 500 million board feet annually, which is their estimated capacity to grow new timber to replace the old timber as fast as it is used up. Under this plan of management the O. & C. lands provide a permanent source of income and therefore they are a part of the county tax base which is insured against being lost.

16 Billion Pounds Waste Paper Needed The Waste Paper Salvage drive is still on and will be until after the war ends. The women can't do everything. They admit it. The girls have replaced men in many a job and industry but when it comes to cutting pulp-wood, in the frozen northern forests, in the dead of winter, they just can't take it. In Russia, maybe so, but not in the U. S. A. And another thing, the girls can make more money welding and riveting. One reason for the acute paper shortage is lack of loggers to log the pulp-wood. Another is the tremendous demands made on the paper supply in packing the 700,000 different manufactured articles that are shipped to our fighting forces overseas. So our Government turns to a vast source of material, waste paper in homes and shops. We must salvage eight million tons of waste paper in 1944. Anyone can see at a glance that is 16 billion pounds, or more than one hundred pounds for every man, woman and child in the country. Have you contributed your one hundred pounds? The time is getting short. Get a carton from the Salvage Corner or any merchant, if you have none, and throw into it every scrap of clean paper you have: envelopes, circulars, booklets, flattened boxes, bills, duns, sponenax, tax sheets, and even letters. Fill it full, then in you go and tramp it all flat. Keep this up indefinitely and soon you will have your one hundred pounds. When the carton is filled, tie it securely and cart it over to the Salvage depot, if you are driving to town anyway, and save Mr. Burr's tires and gas. If you can't deliver your own waste paper, lacking even a wheelbarrow or perambulator, call 109 and your paper will be collected. Don't forget to bundle your newspapers and magazines separately. The tin can, waste fat and clean rags salvage is also to continue for the duration of the war. "Remember, you and I are in this war," says Mrs. George Chaney, one of the waste paper salvage committee in Coquille.
