

Personal Mention

Ralph E. Nosler and Wm. H. Menwell returned last Friday from Richardson Springs, Calif., eleven miles from Chico up in the hills, feeling that they had been benefitted by the baths and from drinking the water. They found the return trip most nerve-racking, having to lay over three or four hours at so many places.

Morris Ray, of the John Day country, arrived here the first of the week, accompanied by his son, Corporal Jim Ray, who is on furlough after nearly two years in the South Pacific. Jim, expected to do a little fishing while here. They are returning to eastern Oregon next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil McGilvery received word last Friday that a grandson was born to them that day at Corbin, Ky., a nine-pound youngster. His father is Tech. Sgt. Neil B. McGilvery, who is stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J. The mother is with her parents at Corbin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lasswell, long-time residents of Coquille and vicinity, left Tuesday for Sweet Home, Ore., where he will be employed in the logging industry as he was around here. Harry says that Sweet Home is about as lively a logging town as Powers used to be.

Mrs. F. L. Ovesnough returned Monday from her three weeks' visit with her son, Harrison, and wife and the new grandson in Seattle.

Joe Cool and Geo. Royer, of the Portland office of Smith Wood-Products, Inc., are in town this week on business in connection with the local plant.

Rev. Charles G. Brown went to Cottage Grove for an over Sunday trip. He is caring for the pulpit of the Methodist church there, while his son, Rev. Frank Brown, was here for Sunday. Services at Pioneer church continue all this week and for Sunday.

Ray Hickam returned last Saturday to Portland after a few days' visit here with relatives and old friends.

Mrs. Addie Grush, of Camas Valley, returned to her home Sunday after spending three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Wheat, and family.

Mrs. Orvin T. Gent accompanied Mrs. E. A. Walker to San Francisco last Friday when they went by bus to be present at the funeral of Mrs. Walker's mother.

Mrs. Jane Croff left Wednesday morning for Ventura, California, for a short visit with her husband, Leslie E. Croff, A. R. M., second class, of the Navy, who is stationed there.

Mrs. Flora E. Dunne returned Monday from Eureka, Calif., after a ten days' visit with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Levine, and family. Her cousin, Mrs. Grace Hughes, of Yelm, Wash., accompanied her on the trip and extended her trip to Santa Rosa, Calif. She says it didn't rain, it just poured down there.

Jim Agostino Is Now Home On Furlough From South Pacific

Jim Agostino, Coquille young man who has spent upwards of two years in the South Pacific and has seen a lot of fighting on the Solomons, came home on a month's leave last week-end. The Sentinel had hoped to have a story, as much as he could tell, on his experiences but Jim failed to heed our request to come in and we hope for better luck next week.
