

Bare Facts From Bear Creek

"The Column That's Different" (By Lans Leneve)

Ed Rose, constable for this district, was really "the big splash" last week. While engaged in his task of flooding his cranberry bog he took a backward step and plunged into some twelve feet of icy water. And what we mean it was a big splash, for big, jovial Ed weighs somewhere 'round the 300 mark.

A Japanese and his son three times drove a truck load of vegetables into Portland, seeking to sell the produce, and three times they returned home with practically all their vegetables. And scarcely had the fumes from their exhaust on the truck been blown away before one of those righteous souls with an inborn love for the Japs, began expressing his views through the column of a Portland daily regarding merchants who refused to buy the produce. He berated the merchants soundly for their stand in the matter. And here this is printed we predict that there will appear in the editorial columns of the Portland dailies some more of their sob stuff regarding the Japs, owing to the fact that in the past they have lauded Japanese-Americans of our armed forces far more than they have any white boy.

The funny part of it is the fact that a true, white son of this soil could cart in a hundred loads of produce from his farm and if unable to sell it the chances are great that not one single individual, or one newspaper, would take up the cudgels in his defense. He could starve to death on his farm without sympathy from the press or individuals. But a yellow-skinned offspring of parents from the land of the rising sun, one who cheapens labor, undersells real American farmers in an entirely different proposition. Sides are taken with him against the merchant who exercise their rights as citizens by refusing to trade with him. More power to such merchants; they evidently have not forgotten Pearl Harbor and will never be converted to Jap lovers.

Frank Culver last week made a trip to Portland by truck with a large load of tallow. When converted into munitions this means more trouble for the Japs.

"Pee Wee" Williams, employed at the Harrington-Ray Logging Company's camp here on Bear Creek, last week drove a huge logging truck to a point only 80 miles from the Canadian border, loaded on a donkey (not a long-eared one) which he brought back here to the camp. A drive like that with a logging truck is nobody's picnic.

Fallers are busy at the above mentioned company's camp and preparations are in progress for a busy summer of logging and hauling. It is anticipated that more logs will be hauled this coming spring and summer than in any past season.

Old Man Winter has dug deep into his bag of tricks the past month and his given us showers, hail, high winds, frost, and practically everything in the book with the exception of sunshine. That was put out in Scottish quantity.

It is very unkind to call the ground hog an unfortunate creature. We think he is lucky indeed, though he may not possess all the qualities of a human being. He emerges from his hole, sees his shadow and beats it back for several weeks. Sometimes we think it would be nice to be a ground hog; just think of all the disagreeable weather a fellow would miss.

When you recall the depression you no doubt think immediately of who was the president of the U. S. at that time. But just how many of you can recall who was vice-president under Hoover's administration? That is no $64,000 question, but we are wagering that a lot of you do not know the answer to that one. "Fess up now, did you?"

It does not take the birds long to learn just who is their friend. We started feeding a pair of brush wrens and a couple of white crowned sparrows here about three weeks ago, during the frosty weather. Day by day the numbers increased upon the two feed racks. Yesterday we counted 68 birds upon the racks or sitting upon the ground awaiting their turn at the food. Juncos, brush wrens, three species of sparrows, a towhee, a hermit thrush made up the crew today, while on the outskirts, the red breasts and the viros skip and hop about in search of worms and the larks flaunt their song from the nearby fields. Occasionally a couple of blue-jays, scolding and clowning about, dart in for a bite now and then.

Fairview News

Visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Sophia Toeten, is little Billy Kohrner, of Eugene. The length of his stay is indefinite.

Lindy Lou Holverstott left Saturday for Roseburg, where she is spending part of her spring vacation at the Glenn Richardson home.

Mrs. H. M. Hall recently received a letter from her son, Clifford, who is a chef in Hodges First Army now in Germany. Clifford cooks for the officers and is a member of the "Trailblazers."

Last Friday night a carload of folks from the Assembly of God church in Coquille held services at the church. Miss Helen Newton was in charge of the music. Special numbers enjoyed were by Rev. and Mrs. Mungler and also a number by Mrs. Chas. Byrd and Miss Joyce Mungler. A goodly number from the valley were present.

Res. Liston Parrish, of Coquille, delivered the morning's sermon Sunday. An especially timely sermon was heard by an average congregation. More from the valley are urged to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krantz and family were dinner guests at the L. L. Buoy home Sunday. They are from Middle Creek.

Last Friday the grades of the upper room treated the lower grade room at lunch. Names were drawn and that pupil brought lunch for the one whose name he received. The motifs were of St. Patrick's Day. The 4-H club held their meetings after-wards.

Mrs. Earl Adams, Jr., returned to her home last Thursday, after spending several days at the Earl Adams, Sr., home in Myrtle Point.

Visiting at the C. A. Holverstott home Friday night and at the T. H. Benham home Saturday afternoon were George Brownson, Sr., and son, George, of Grants Pass. The elder Brownson is uncle of Mrs. Holverstott and Tom Benham, and a brother of Mrs. Carrie Benham of Coquille, a former resident of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blohm and family moved to Washington Tuesday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bryant have moved into the Blahm house.

The George Hurst family moved out of the King Wilson home last Saturday. They have gone to Paulina, Ore., a small place near Prineville and will work on a cattle ranch.

Mrs. Fay Holverstott sent word she was unable to return home last Friday because of illness of her little daughter, Loreen.

Fairview Extension Unit will meet Tuesday, March 27, at the home of Mrs. Russell Stillwell. The meeting will be on "Bread Making" and will start promptly at 10:30 a. m. All home-makers in the valley are urged to attend.

Relatives of Alpha Saylor have heard that he is much improved and again overseeing a logging job near Nehalem. His father was reported Sunday night as having suffered another stroke and was in a critical condition. He lives at the Timmons home in Coquille.

Howdy Folks:

It seems we are about to be confronted with another brake testing ordeal. 'Tis true good brakes, lights and steering are essential to safety, so why not have inspections often enough that there will not be dozens of frantic motorists trying to get their brakes repaired at once.

Just in case they make it warm for you during this drive, perhaps you can spare a few good garments for the Allied clothing drive. Leave bundles at the Community Building from April 1st to 30th.

Allied Clothing Drive starts April 1st. Support it! M & W Auto Service AMZY ERNIE

Most versatile vehicle of the war helps in Philippines invasion

Studebaker Weasel

THIS new "Champion" in invasion warfare is the amazing Studebaker Weasel—powered by the same brilliant 6-cylinder engine that gives such outstanding operating economy to the Studebaker Champion motor car.

Swiftly, stealthily, the Weasel moves forward over sand, snow, mud, swamp or solid ground. When necessary, it takes to deep water like a boat.

Designed by Studebaker engineers, the Weasel is coming off the Studebaker production lines in increasing quantities. It supplements more than 55,000 Cyclone engines that Studebaker has already built for the Flying Fortress, more than 165,000 heavy-duty Studebaker military trucks.
