

Bishop Dagwell's Splendid Address

out a church was followed by another truism, that the church has a responsibility to its community, not only to its religious needs but to its physical needs as well; and he declared churches are growing in friendliness toward one another.

In this rapidly changing world, with the news hourly expected of a collapse of the conflict in Europe; with no crops, no sowing or reaping done over there, it behooves all of us to give our support with a Christian-like attitude, to any program which could mean that this is the last world conflict.

Peace, lasting and durable peace, is more than a stay of arms and fighting. The peace must be based on principles of justice; we must learn to live as brethren, and that means a change of heart in nearly all nations as well as of political groups in those nations.

Hatred will not bring enduring peace, was the Bishop's statement, and to harp on the horrible Japs, or Nazis, will postpone the mending of the world which we all so greatly desire.

There is very little hope for world peace unless we turn to Christ and follow his teachings, he declared, and added that he was thinking more of a Christian life for nations than of that of individuals. He declared that no platform yet presented for peace at the end of this war can insure lasting peace and predicted that there would be more than the one conference, scheduled to be started in San Francisco next month, which must be held before the world can start its peace program.

We must overcome our racial prejudices; we must have charity and unselfishness in our hearts, and change our own minds and attitude from that of hatred before we can even hope for a lasting peace.

It is not necessary to wipe out all those who do not agree with us, those we are at war with. The only sure way to preserve any peace plan adopted is to win our adversaries to Christ. And we must all give unstinted support to the churches that have a sense of service to all mankind.

The Bishop in closing his remarks said that our boys, coming home from this world war, with the devastation they have seen over there, indelibly impressed on their minds, will know and tell us what this country needs.

Mr. Parrish thanked Bishop Dagwell for his very timely and interesting discourse and the second Church Fellowship program came to an end.

Jack Kegg, arrested last week for taking furniture from his aunt's home at Bullards and selling it in Myrtle Point, pleaded guilty before Judge King in Circuit court on Tuesday and was sentenced to four months in the pen.

The same day Judge King revoked the parole granted Ralph E. Fox on March 21, 1944, when the judge had sentenced him to one year in the pen upon conviction of the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The parole was for three years, conditioned on the defendant's conducting himself as a law-abiding citizen and refraining from the use of intoxicating liquor.

He was arrested on a bad check charge again on Monday this week and was taken to Salem by Sheriff Howell on Wednesday to serve a year in the pen.

Judge King Hears Divorce Cases On Tuesday

Judge Dal M. King granted divorces in Circuit court here on Tuesday to the plaintiffs in the following cases:

Geo. C. Hammond vs. Marguerite M. Hammond.

Edna McLain vs. Edw. J. McLain.

Jennie B. Cameron vs. Don G. Cameron.

In the divorce case of O. K. Coster vs. Alberta May Coster, testimony was taken on behalf of both plaintiff and defendant in regard to the custody of their child and a restraining order was granted leaving the children, temporarily, in the custody of the plaintiff.

C. of C. Meeting Tuesday Noon

Last year many former residents were able to attend the party after reading of the announcement in their former home paper.

After announcing that County Agent Geo. H. Jenkins and E. L. Dettlens had been added to the committee, of which Dr. J. D. Rankin had previously been named as chairman, to consider the possibility of getting a processing plant located in the Coquille area and in getting ranchers signed up to an agreement to raise peas and other vegetables which would make the operation of such a plant possible, Pres. Alborn called upon Dr. Rankin for a report.

The latter stated that two plant corporations are definitely interested in the location of a plant here, but neither would be able to do any such building before 1946. The doctor also stated that the Chicago representative of one of the plants would be here in the near future to confer on the possibility of getting one started next year. Such a vegetable-processing plant would mean an investment of over $40,000 and, for berries alone, the investment would be from three to four thousand dollars.

Carl E. Morrison, publicity committee chairman, stated that only two pictures have thus far been turned in for use in the 1945 Coquille publicity brochure, and the committee was authorized to have pictures taken of the Community Building and other structures and scenes which should appear in such a pamphlet.

Pres. Alborn, in announcing that Chairman Don Farr and the other members of the membership committee were ready to begin soliciting 1945 memberships, stated that it was hoped most business houses and individuals could increase their previous subscriptions this year in order that a financial back log could be built up by the Chamber for the development needs which are certain to follow the war's end.

Dr. Rankin was again called upon by the president to talk on the campaign being conducted by the Oregon Tuberculosis Association, the Public Health Service co-operating against T. B. He said that the mobile unit conveying the group around the state would be in Coquille before long. The men in the unit take chest pictures of everyone in a community that they can reach and, he added, that pictures taken in the past have shown an average of 10 in 1,000 which had T. B. in some stage of development and were not aware of it.

Geo. E. Oerding reported on a meeting he, J. A. Berg and R. A. Jeub recently had with three Army engineers who were here to discuss with Coquille river communities the federal plan for drainage and flood control in the valley. The present government appropriation of more than $140,000 would require the contribution of $25,000 locally and as at present set up the work contemplated would not extend more than nine miles up from the river's mouth.

The Coquille committee told the engineers that this city's participation in financing the project could be secured only by extending the program to such an extent that the improvements would extend all the way from Bandon to Myrtle Point.

Four Fined In Justice Fred Bull's Court

Four cases were brought before Justice Fred Bull here the past week, by the state police.

Jesse Chesley Franklin, last Friday, for driving while intoxicated, was found guilty and was fined $100 with $4.50 costs added. He paid the full amount and the judge recommended that his driver's license be suspended for one year.

Dwight Everett Culver, for having no vehicle license, paid $9.00, fine and costs, last Saturday.

The same day Vera Carmen Shutt, for permitting an unlicensed minor to drive her car, paid $9 fine and costs and was given a 30-day jail sentence. The sentence was suspended providing the boy does not again drive the car.

On Monday Manfried Earl Clawson, for angling without a license, paid $4 costs. His $10 fine was suspended.

George E. Oerding Sells Bandon Building

The Safeway building at Bandon, which has been vacant for several months and was owned by Mrs. E. A. Hartman, was sold by the George E. Oerding organization through his Bandon office. Mr. Franklin, the buyer, has not as yet made known just what he intends to do with his new investment.

Riverton News

Cpl. N. C. Goodwin, stationed in the fire department of the Transportation Army Corps in Portland, came in on the bus Monday to get his Dodge car, which has been stored since he and his two sons enlisted in the army over two years ago. Mrs. Goodwin did not accompany him on this trip down, as she is working. The Goodwins lived here for over a year before the war took the men into the service. Cpl. Goodwin reports his son, Arthur, is home on furlough from his over thirty-five missions over Germany and that his youngest son, Bill, was expected home next week from Florida. Both boys will be together at home in Portland for the first time since they joined the army.

Mrs. Robert Smith and Miss Charlotte Bogard and Don Aasen, of Coquille, arrived home safely by bus Thursday evening, after having spent the past week visiting and traveling in California. Mrs. Smith visited her father in Oakland. Charlotte and Don were met at Palm Springs by Don's sister, Mrs. Jack Smith, and the three went on to San Diego to see Cpl. Edward L. "Bud" Aasen. Bud was waiting to be shipped out on April 9, when the young folks arrived Friday. Therefore he was restricted to camp activities only, necessitating his brother and sister and Charlotte to visit him at the Red Cross depot at Camp Miramar the three evenings in which they were fortunate enough to see him at all. Don and Charlotte left San Diego Sunday evening, accompanied by Cpl. and Mrs. Jack Smith, who came as far as Palm Springs with them, where Cpl. Smith is stationed. They were joined in San Francisco by Mrs. Robert Smith on Wednesday evening and the three returned home by bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rogers, from Coquille, and daughter, Rachael, and little grandson were visiting old friends here Sunday. The Rogers lived here for many years before moving to Coquille, where Mr. Rogers assumed duties in the highway machine shop. Dan looked well and said he thought he would soon be able to go back to work at the shop. He was very seriously injured last fall when the fuselage of the plane which crashed in Coquille hurtled through his home, nearly killing him and injuring the little grandson whom he was holding on his lap at the time. For several days following the tragedy the doctors did not believe Dan could live. He is very thankful because of his almost complete recovery.

Mrs. Ancl Light and Mrs. George Shelton drove out to Roseburg Thursday morning. On their return trip in the afternoon, they were turned back because of a slide on the highway in the canyon above Bridge. This necessitated their return to Roseburg, where they continued on the Elkton road west to the coast and on home through Coos Bay, arriving pretty late.

Warren Smith, Sr., is in receipt of a letter from his son, Warren, Jr., who states he is now stationed in Germany. He writes he is well and very busy! He is a technician in the Army. He was sent overseas before the holidays and was stationed in England for quite a while for some advanced schooling.

Mrs. George Steward, who recently moved to Coquille from their home on the North Bank road, has taken over some of the duties in the Coquille Hotel Coffee Shop under the new management.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Alpine have just received a letter from their son, M/Sgt. Karl Aline, telling that he had just arrived by ship and was domiciled on a tropical island. En route there, they experienced a severe storm and heavy seas. Karl said he became seasick for the very first time in his life and was unable to be up for three whole days. "The Coquille Valley Sentinel" has been following Karl wherever he has been stationed these past several years. If this issue gets through to him we want him to know his many friends here send greetings and best wishes to him and hope he won't be away too long this time.

Mrs. Nina Morgan is visiting her sister, Mrs. Winnie Hultin, near Randolph, this week.

Mrs. H. A. Hatfield is still unable to go back to work at the Coquille plant this week. She has been suffering from pleurisy and, while she is much improved from that, her physician will not let her resume her duties this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sell have heard from their son, Pfc. Verlin Sell, U.S.M.C., Co. B, 1st Armored Amph. Br., that he is on Okinawa Island. He says there are fir trees growing there on the island. Their harvesting there is being done now and Verlin writes it makes him a little homesick to be back on the farm. His parents live just below Riverton. Verlin sustained an eye injury early in the U.S. campaign but evidently has recovered sufficiently to be sent back into action against the Japs again.

Small Olson, of Fat Elk, brother of Mrs. George Shelton, entered the McAuley Hospital Tuesday for treatment on his hand.

Sgt. Orvan Smith, who has had a thirty-day furlough, was given an extended fifteen-day furlough in addition. Sgt. Smith has been gone about three years, returning this time from the Italian theatre of war. He first saw action in the African campaign, then Sicily, and later all through the Italian campaign until now. He is visiting his two sisters here—Mrs. Fred Sell and Mrs. Rudy Kaino.

Pvt. Phillip Clausen was shipped out from Fort Ord last Friday into the South Pacific. He is a rifleman in the Army Infantry. He was home recently on a ten-day furlough and was able to see his little brother, Joel. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Clausen.

Mrs. Roy Detillion, of Fat Elk, entertained at luncheon Monday in honor of the birthdays of her daughter, Mrs. George Shelton, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Basil Olsen. The table was lovely with its rich old linen and silver service and with bright and colorful spring flowers. The delicious luncheon was served to the following: Mrs. Geo. Shelton and Mrs. Basil Olsen, the honored guests; Mrs. Alton Clausen, another daughter, and her small son, Joel, and daughter, Linda; Mrs. Rose Morrison; Mrs. Chas. Detillion and daughter, Carrol; the two small children of Mrs. Basil Olsen, little Bert and Audree, and the hostess, Mrs. Roy Detillion.

Pvt. Warren Hathaway is spending his furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Hathaway, who lives on the highway near the end of the dyke. This is his second visit home since his return from Iceland, where he spent many long, cold months. It is expected that Warren may be sent overseas again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Davidson and little sons, Clifton, Donald and Billy, from Albany, were dinner guests at the George Shelton home Saturday evening. A sister of Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Lance Rhodes, and little son, Lance, from Coquille were also guests. Both ladies are daughters of the late Oscar Ferris, who lost his life recently by drowning below the Coos river bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bart Gasner and family from here and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cusic and family, of Randolph, attended a family reunion at Norway Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gasner, in honor of S/Sgt. Glen Cusic, who is home on furlough from his lengthy internment in Switzerland. Glen is in the air corps and his plane was shot down over the Switzerland-German border months ago. The nose of his plane rested on Swiss soil and the tail was in Germany. Since the fliers were in the front end of the plane, the Swiss officials refused to let the Germans take the men captives. The interned men received good treatment at the hands of the Swiss but soon learned that food was very scarce there. These men were released recently, when other internees were allowed to leave by the Swiss government.

Glen looked pretty thin when he first returned, but he has gained thirty pounds since he landed in the good old U.S.A. Members of the family present at the reunion Sunday, in addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cusic, and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Gasner, and family, were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dusey and family and Glen's grandmother, Mrs. Cusic, from Coquille; Mrs. Harry Pendarvis, from Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Schroeder and family, from Ophir; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gasner, of Arago; Mr. and Mrs. Casper Gasner, of Myrtle Point, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gasner, and family.

This Paper Trooper Has Collected 60,000 Lbs. Paper

On the Army Hour radio program of Sunday, April 22, an Army general will interview 15-year-old Chic Orth of Frankford, Pennsylvania, a Paper Trooper who has collected over 60,000 pounds of waste paper in the current campaign, and will award him the first Paper Trooper "service medallion."

On the same Army Hour, tribute will be paid to school Paper Troopers generally and a strong appeal will be made to them to redouble their paper salvaging efforts.

Card of Thanks

For the kindness and sympathy of friends and neighbors, and for the floral offerings at the services held for Oscar Ferris, we wish to express our sincere appreciation.
