

Tuesday Parade Most Spectacular

The intricate star patterns of flowers on a background of green which covered the entire army truck. Mounted on the float were soldiers in uniform standing among the rocks to hold "Old Glory" in position (a replica of the two Jims flag-raising).

The Eagles had a float drawn by a beautiful four-horse team. The blacks belonged to Scott Haddix, the grays to Earl Cross. The Soroptimists urged bond buying. The Rotary Club had a beautiful garden, with a tiny miss swinging happily to remind folks about bonds. The car was driven by Alan Chaney.

The splendid new First Aid Car, which was donated to the Fire Department by the Eagles, preceded the three fire trucks. Very noticeable were the snow white shirts and snappy black ties of the volunteer firemen. The Coos County Marketing Association truck was driven by Jack Seeber of the County Agent's office. One could vision it full of "woolies."

Lee Peterson superintended the building of the truck. Coos Bay Lumber Co. had two trucks filled with enormous logs. Smith Wood-Products had two carriers of plywood suitably decorated and urging the buying bonds. E. L. Perrott and Sons had a comic affair with a motor-driven wheelbarrow, carrying a man and guided by another on roller skates. Farr and Elwood displayed a rider mounted on a beautiful saddle without any horse. Don Farr was pushing the contraption and appropriately using his shovel.

Especially noticeable among the horsemen was seventy-three year old Mrs. Buckner gracefully riding a side-saddle, and blonde Charlotte Smith with her three blonde daughters on their ponies. Little Katy is just about four years. The horses and riders have their just praise elsewhere in the Sentinel.

Judges of the parade were: Wm. Hunt, Coos Bay Times; J. N. Carver; Walter Garvin, of KOOS station.

Gene Bonniksen Graduated From N. Pacific Dental College

Gene Bonniksen, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. George Howe of Coquille and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bonniksen of Broadbent, received his degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine from North Pacific Dental College on Tuesday, June 26. He was awarded membership in Omicron Kappa Upsilon, National Dental Honorary Fraternity, to which only the outstanding twelve per cent of each graduating class are eligible.

Mrs. Howe accompanied the Bonniksens to Portland for the commencement exercises. They drove up Sunday and returned Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Bonniksen and son, Rickie, plan to visit Coquille and Broadbent during the coming week.

17-Year Old Boys May Again Enlist in Marines

The marine corps headquarters in Portland announces that the Marine Corps is once again enlisting seventeen-year-old men into its ranks. All physically fit men in that age group may apply at 208 New U. S. Court-house Bldg., in Portland.

According to Major Norris E. Lineweaver, Portland district recruiting officer, "The men who want the marine corps are the men we want."

Seventeen-year-old men may enlist in the marine corps reserve for the duration of the national emergency or in the regular marine corps for a period of four years. Following enlistment, they will be sent to San Diego for "boot" training.

Mrs. Julius Ruble and Laura Emily Return From Idaho

Mrs. Julius Ruble and daughter, Laura Emily, returned on Monday of this week from a three weeks' visit with the former's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hartley and Danny, at Murtaugh, Idaho. It was sheep time and Mr. Hartley had to go on business to Ogden and Salt Lake. He took the ladies with him and Mrs. Ruble states she never before saw so many beautiful antiques as were in Salt Lake City. As an experiment, Mr. Hartley had planted an acreage to flower seed. The ten acres are now a most beautiful sight.

Hundreds Bid Edgar McDaniel Farewell As Coos Co. Publisher

There were several hundred people who signed the book at Edgar McDaniel's "open house" at the Coos Bay Harbor office in North Bend last Saturday afternoon, just prior to his turning the Harbor over to the new proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Forrester. Everyone wished Mr. McDaniel for his successful operation of the Harbor for the past 38 years. He established the Harbor in 1907.

Traffic Volume Up Fifteen Per Cent Over 1944

An upward trend in rural traffic volume in Oregon is matched by an upward trend in fatal accidents reported in the state during the first four months of 1945, Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell states.

The traffic volume for the first four months of the year showed an increase of 13 per cent over the volume on rural highways for the same period of 1944. These figures are from the automatic traffic counters maintained by the traffic engineering division of the state highway department.

Traffic deaths for the same period this year totaled 89, as compared to a toll of 77 for the same period a year ago, or an increase of 15 per cent.

"The increase in deaths, however, is chiefly accounted for by increases in urban areas," Farrell said. "Rural deaths for the four months of 1945 totaled 42, compared to 41 a year ago. Thus, the greater number of fatalities in urban areas accounts for the death increase for the state as a whole."

While the traffic volume counts are taken only on state highways in rural areas, they do indicate a trend for the use of vehicles in the state as a whole, and Farrell pointed to the increase as evidence of need for greater care in driving to avoid the same upward trend in traffic fatalities.

Total Soldier Students Through O.S.C. Passes 3000

Opening of the new ASTU term of O.S.C. at Corvallis July 9 will find 335 students in uniform, bringing to 3028 the number of different army men assigned here for training since the start of the program in March, 1943. Numbers here continuously since that time have ranged from 188 to 1350.

Of the 301 here last term, 143 have completed the work in advanced engineering or have finished the allotted two terms in the 17-year-old program. Coming for the first time are 99 for the advanced engineering work and 178 in the beginning reserve group.

The combined civilian and soldier enrollment for the summer term is approximately 800.

Will Continue To Cut Hair, But Must Stop Shaving

Ralph E. Nozler, who has been barbering in Coquille for the past 46 years, makes the announcement to the public that because of arthritis in both hands he must, from this date until further announcement, stop attempting to use the razor for shaving. He can, however, continue to cut hair and invites a continuance of that patronage.
