

B. F. W. Held A Postponed Meeting Monday Evening

A postponed meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club was held Monday night at the home of the president, Florence Barton. General business was conducted and new committees and chairmen were named. The auditing committee gave a report. Committees in charge of the club's part in the 4th of July celebration made reports. There was group singing led by Ruth Beyers and accompanied on the piano by Inez Rover. Miss Rover read an article from the Etude Magazine, which showed a picture of the streamlined Steinway piano in the White House library, which President Truman will use. The article states that he is the first president musically inclined since Thomas Jefferson and he is fond of Chopin.

Karen Mauney Has Party On Her Seventh Birthday

Mrs. Guy Mauney celebrated her daughter, Karen's seventh birthday with a party last Thursday afternoon. Decorations were all carried out in red, white and blue. The children played games and bubble pipes were given the children as favors so they were tried out and prizes awarded for the largest and the longest traveling bubbles. Prizes went to Eddie Stark, Dianne and Sylvia Glick. Invited were Janet Swinney, Judy Larson, Linda Clausen, Barbara Swindall, Florence Peterson, Karen Slate, Denise and Gayla Wynne, Dianne and Sylvia Glick, of Palo Alto, and Marcia and Anne Mauney.

Open House At W. E. Klens Home Celebrating His Birthday

Open house was held through the afternoon and evening of Sunday, when friends of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Klens called at their home at 125 E. Third street to congratulate Mr. Klens on his birthday. After signing the guest register birthday cake and coffee were served to each guest. Miss Elynor Oerding poured and Mr. Warren Troutman, of the United States Coast Guard, served. The rooms were beautifully decorated with Canterbury bells, petunias and ivy.

People Are Nice

This week I am puzzled about a social error I seem to have committed. Here is a chance for you to be a pal and tell me what was wrong. You see, oftentimes I like to take a sandwich and a coke to my car at noon and read while I eat. If I am especially tired it relaxes me to be by myself.

I entered a conveniently located restaurant where I have lunched more or less regularly for more than half a year, and asked for a hamburger to take out. The look on the waitress' faces warned me I had made an unforgivable mistake even before the woman to whom I had spoken snatched, "I don't know whether we can put up one or not, but I can tell you that you'll have to wait for it if we do." I was so surprised I was momentarily speechless. By the time I had gained the use of my voice, the order had been given. I looked about self-consciously as I waited and my glance fell on a box of Hersey bars in a glass case. When the woman finally brought my sandwich, I asked for a Hersey, too. She fairly snorted as she took the money and said she didn't know whether they had any or not, and I would have to take what was there. Just as I decided enough was enough of that talk, she said, "You will have to overlook my being cross today. I have other things on my mind." Yes, many people have things on their minds, but not many of them force the unpleasantness on others. The thought came to me that someday present shortages will be filled, and it will be fine when we can take time to employ a little common courtesy.

Actually, now, what is wrong about buying a sandwich to take out? Since it was something so important it outweighed all the days and weeks and months I have bought meals there, I would appreciate your relieving my ignorance. Please write at your earliest convenience.

This week I saw the most gorgeous, huge elk lying in the early morning sun. He had a veritable rocking chair on his head. I was so terrifically thrilled I couldn't decide whether to stop the car or drive on. The picture he made was so beautiful I couldn't bear to disturb him, so I drove on very reluctantly.

It is good to live in the Coquille valley where you have a fine climate, wild life in abundance, fertile farms and friendly people wherever you go. As ever, Pat.

Mrs. Cora Mackey Sees Her Niece In "Hollywood Canteen"

No one in the audiences viewing the excellent entertainment of "Hollywood Canteen," shown last weekend at the Roxy Theatre, could have been so interested as was Mrs. Cora Mackey of Coquille. Second lead in the picture, Janice Paige taking the lead of the Studio's guide in pig tails, is Mrs. Mackey's niece, daughter of her sister. The young girl is new in pictures and is getting to the top fast. She went to Hollywood three years ago with no thought of pictures but to study for grand opera. She was singing at the Hollywood Canteen and was "discovered" by a talent scout. She has the second lead opposite Paul Henry in "Human Bondage" and also in "Time, Place and the Girl," played opposite Jack Carson. She has the lead in a new picture, "Dancing With Tears," opposite Zachary Scott.

Miss Paige visited at Mrs. Mackey's home here three years ago. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paige, of Los Angeles and formerly of Tacoma, are spending a few days at the Mackeys this week on their way to Tacoma for the rest of the summer. With them is a cousin of Janice, Dick Paige.

Leadership Training School At The Christian Church July 18-20

The second annual Leadership Training School, sponsored by the Christian Church, will be held the week of July 18-20. Two outstanding teachers of children are being brought in to conduct classes in children's work. Mrs. Goldia Ferguson, who is the week-day Bible Teacher in the Albany schools, will give a course on "Teaching Primaries and Juniors." On Wednesday and Friday nights, Mrs. Ferguson will give demonstration teachings.

Mrs. A. C. Bates, who spent eleven years at Klamath Falls in the church, will conduct a course on "Teaching Pre-School Children." Mrs. Alda Nosler will teach a course on "Old Testament History" and Mr. Parrish will teach "Worship."

The sessions of the school will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock each evening; at 8:15 there will be a devotional service under the leadership of the Worship class. At 8:30 the second class period will convene, with dismissal at 9:15.

Anyone interested in developing their skills as Christian leaders or increasing their knowledge in the religious field is invited to attend.

Mrs. P. O. Lund Returns From Sad Trip East

Mrs. P. O. Lund returned last Saturday night from a trip to the middle west where she was called because of the illness of her father. He passed away on June 23. When Mrs. Lund arrived, his mind was clear and they had a good visit before the end came. Mrs. Lund was just a week getting home. She left here June 12.

Her father had many friends and relatives in Coos Bay. The following is from the Fordland, Mo., local paper: "Chas. Henry Smith, 88, well known retired farmer of Fordland, Mo., died at 8:30 a. m. June 23, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. A. Stoll, following a short illness. Mr. Smith had lived in Fordland community for the last thirty years, going there from Illinois, where he was born May 9, 1857. Surviving Mr. Smith is another daughter, Mrs. P. O. Lund, of Coquille, Ore. There are several grandchildren and six great grandchildren. Funeral services were held at ten o'clock the following Saturday morning at the Mount Gilliam Church of which he was a member, with Rev. Mr. Cox officiating. Burial was in Easter Cemetery."
