Because we know what every junior prefers... whether it's a jaunty hat or the latest in shoes. And, of course, when it comes to dresses, we know all juniors prefer Doris Dodson Originals.

Between the Deadlines.

What people will collect always makes a story, or so Freddie Logsdon says, and he is in a position to see some of the various collectors at work when they come into his store and check over his salt and pepper shakers... of which he has many.

Some people, says Freddie, collect just any kind of a salt shaker, and to that the various operators of local beaneries will attest... while others are more particular.

So to operate a jewelry store nowadays you buy a certain selection and collection of salt and pepper shakers to give your local collectors a good amount to see.

And while talking about collector's items, Johnny Perkins of the stationery emporium has a group of fine china cups and saucers that some people collect. Some people take only bone china which is china into which a certain amount of bone has been placed with the clay, while others buy any cup and saucer that appeals to them.

Some go for Spode, Wedgwood, Hall, and other fine imported lines steering clear of anything made in America, while other people, go for American, French, Austrian, and even Mexican.

Cups vary in size, and a handsome collection item is the little demi tasse cups that give you one good size swallow of coffee.

In the old days churches and towns use to have sterling spoons advertising their cities made up which visitors bought for spoon collections, and many a home has spoons from all over the country.

Doc Rankin's son took the good doctor aback the other day during the Fourth of July celebration, when as so happened to many a parent, the young Rankin scion came up to his father and said, "Dad, how's about it for a little more money?"

"What," queried Doc, "what did you do with all the money you had to start out with?"

"Well," parried the lad, "I didn't waste it on food anyway. I tried to make more with it down at the Rotary paddle wheel." And Doc Rankin had no answer to that one.

Book reading is coming back and recent readership surveys around town indicate that many a person has had a delightful time running through William Allen White's Autobiography which was a Book of the Month club selection and a good seller at the local book store.

Mr. Springer, the OK man who caps and recaps and always has a wide grin on his face, really hit it close the other day when he was talking about the average amount of rainfall to a California customer. Mr. Springer missed the average rainfall by only one inch... do you know what it is for this locality?

Jess Beyers, who has been the dog-gonest hotdogger in many a Rotary moon, really took Ray Jeub by surprise the other day when Jess was working all alone getting up the Rotary hotdog stand... and the sweat was pouring down his neck and Ray came by with a big Lion grin and said, "How about some Lions helping you out," which they did and did right promptly. Jess thanked them and, scratching his head, murmured, "Gosh, guess I should have joined the Lions."

Grants Pass Man Gives July Court Free Plane Ride

Art Schneider, agent for the Taylorcraft airplane and friend of Ed Hughes, flew over from Grants Pass Saturday. Mr. Schneider has a private landing field and plans to put in the pumps and shop for servicing planes. His field is located six miles west of Grants Pass where the Apple-gate river joins the Rogue river.

While here Saturday Mr. Schneider took Margaret Hughes up for about a 45-minute flight and let her fly the plane part of the time. She also persuaded him to take the Queen and her court for short rides over town and countryside.

Those having rides were Jackie Hansen, Sally Gable, Iris Wolgamott, Phyllis Brady and Patty Dutch, Miss Gable's friend.

Phil Albom of Coquille Electric found gas for his plane so got to try out the plane. Mr. Schneider also took Ray Dettelsen for a short ride as he was using Ray's hay field for a landing strip.

Letter To The Editor

Bandon, Oregon, July 7, 1946.
Mr. Ralph Stuller, Editor
The Sentinel, Coquille, Oregon.

Dear Ralph: Having been associated with newspapers as long as I have, it is but natural that I should believe in the old slogan, "It Pays To Advertise."

Remember in the two issues of The Sentinel published before the 4th of July, each contained an advertisement for The Bear Creek Store and stated that it would remain open the 4th?

We attribute the fact that we enjoyed our biggest day of business to this advertising. As to far-reaching results, how about this! A big car pulled up to the gas pumps, was refueled and the driver made several purchases at the store. He stated that he had read our ad and kept the fact in mind and stopped here to patronize us on his way south. We inquired where he was from and were somewhat surprised to learn that he hailed from Seattle. Yep! It pays to advertise.

Sincerely yours, Lans.

Red Devil Hoop Coach In Town

Enoch Jungling, new Red Devil basketball coach, was a Coquille visitor Tuesday from McMinnville. He is looking for an apartment for next September and reports no luck so far. He will be married in late August. Jungling who was a U. S. army air force pilot in the war graduated from Linfield college in June.

Personal Mention

Mrs. A. A. Hall of Coos Bay, formerly of Coquille, has opened an attractive Antique Shop on South Broadway, Coos Bay. Callers were many from Coquille, North Bend and Coos Bay on the opening day, Wednesday, July 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson and three children returned Sunday night from a week's visit with Mrs. Wilson's mother at Seaside. While at Seaside, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson took a short trip to Seattle to visit other relatives.

Lynn Rietman, eight-year old son of Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Rietman of Eugene, spent the week-end with his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Rietman. The young man had a great time taking in the 4th of July celebration, especially riding in the amphibious jeep.

Other Past Noble Grands present at the home of Mrs. Florence Hallock Friday evening were Mrs. Hattie Shelley and Mrs. Beulah Neeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huntington and three children have been house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Amy Minton and other relatives for a week. Mrs. Huntington is the former Clara-belle Minton.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Brien and daughter, Patsy, of San Francisco, Calif., left Monday for home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Geaney and other relatives.

Misses Fanny and Gladys Lorenz, nurses in the Wesleyan Hospital, Chicago, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leland Peterson and other relatives for three weeks. The visitors are cousins of Mrs. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wimer, old time residents of Coquille, were holiday guests of Mrs. Z. C. Strang.
