HOW TO ROAST TURKEYS

Half a turkey is not only better than none, but you may even consider it better than a whole one after these simple ways of roasting it are followed!

BUYING HINTS: Allow one pound for each person. Have head and feet removed.

PREPARING FOR ROASTING: Remove pinfeathers and coarse feathers from wing tips with strawberry hullers, tweezers or paring knife. Slice off any remaining hair. Remove oil sac by making a deep wedge-shaped cut in tail. Thoroughly clean body cavity, saving giblets for gravy. Cut off neck inside skin close to body. Scrub outside skin with brush and warm water. Rinse inside and out with cold water, pat dry with paper towel or clean absorbent cloth. Rub salt (1/4 teaspoon per pound) into body cavity. Skewer leg and wing to body and skin to the meat on the edge of breast bone to prevent shrinking of skin and to protect breast meat. Simmer neck with giblets for gravy.

STUFFING: Place well-greased double thickness of waxed paper on rack in shallow roasting pan. Allowing 6 cups favorite dressing for 10-pound half, place mound of dressing on paper; place turkey half over it, cut side down.

ROASTING: Brush turkey with melted turkey fat or shortening and roast in a slow oven (325° F.) 20 to 25 minutes for 6 to 9-pound half and 10 to 20 minutes for 10 to 12-pound half. (Add 30 minutes to roasting time if turkey is taken directly from refrigerator.) Baste occasionally with 1/4 cup melted turkey fat or shortening in 1 cup hot water, gently spooning it over top of turkey.

GREASED CLOTH METHOD: Cover turkey with a cloth dipped in melted turkey fat or shortening. Use 3 or 4 thicknesses of cheesecloth or 1 of muslin. If cloth becomes dry, moisten with drippings from roasting pan.

Length of roasting time actually depends on individual turkey. Smaller turkeys take longer per pound. Be careful not to overcook.
