THE MEADOW LARK
The meadow lark stands on the fence post,

Singing his song of glee,
Giving joy to the human hosts,
Such as you and me.

He's up before sun in the morning,
His song you may hear,
His song you may hear,
E'en tho' it be storming.

The notes are clear and clear,
He greets the early milk man.

And cheers him on his way,
He hears the rattle of milk can,
And smells the new mown hay.

The farmer knows him as a friend,
Cheerful, happy and gay,
Singing his songs to the sons of men,
Be they at work or play.

He's beautiful as a Persian rug,
A jolly good fellow and fair,
He scorns to eat the earth-bound bugs
But takes those in the air.

His song cheers all earth-bound hosts,
He's happy to go lucky and free,
He always sits on fence or post, and
Not in bush or tree.

Return From Trip

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Greene and family returned from Knight's Ferry, California in central California where they have been spending their vacation at the home of relatives. While there Mr. Greene visited many historic points of interest. The area was at one time a large Spanish Grant and the stone walls of the original hidalgo's land boundaries still exists. The weather has been warm in that area, Rev. Greene said.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Snyder and son and daughter of McMinnville were overnight guests on their way to Mexico at the R. P. Stuller home Monday.
