4-H Auction At State Fair To Be Fair To All

A new plan for the 4-H club state fair fat stock auction has been announced by L. J. Allen, state club leader, following completion of arrangements with Leo Spitzbart, manager of the state fair September 1 to 6.

Under the plan agreed upon, each exhibitor will be limited to one sale until all with stock in the auction have made one sale. After that the remaining animals will be sold singly or in groups. This plan was devised to give all exhibitors an equal opportunity to market to advantage their fat lambs, hogs and steers exhibited at the fair. The auction is scheduled to start at ten o'clock, September 5.

With at least 1500 boys and girls from every county scheduled to take part in the fair this year, as contestants and livestock exhibitors, arrangements have also been made to "stagger" reservations at the 4-H club dormitory so as to accommodate the largest number possible. Contests have been scheduled throughout the week, and each contestant, other than those with livestock exhibited also, will stay only two days in the dormitory.

Winning entries in local or community 4-H fairs go on to the state fair. With the program throughout the state expanded since the war, a record number of exhibits are expected this fall, says Allen.

Four booths have been constructed for junior and senior "dollar dinner" contests and for demonstrations. These will be in use constantly throughout the week, so large is the entry list. The top demonstration teams at the state fair—one in agriculture and one in home economics—will represent Oregon later at the Pacific International Livestock exposition in Portland October 3 to 11.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barrow and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Elliott left for Portland on business last Friday. They also attended the professional football game there Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Church are now the proud parents of a baby boy, Theodore Milo, born Wednesday morning, August 13, at the Leep Memorial hospital at Bandon. Dan Steinmetz left Monday morning for Portland to attend an automobile dealers' association meeting there on Tuesday. He is expected to return on Wednesday.
