Grange Has Best Meeting Saturday

The Sixes Grange had one of its best meetings last Saturday evening, with a large attendance. During the meeting and under new business, the injunction forbidding Oregon Freight Lines to operate was discussed and action taken to protest this injunction, as it interfered with adequate freight transportation and thus the growth of Curry county. The grange is writing to George H. Flagg, public utilities commissioner, protesting such procedure. An officer and members planning meeting was held for the evening of Tuesday Feb. 24 at the home of C. H. Brooks, Langlois, master of the grange, for the purpose of outlining plans and objectives for the coming year.

A Triple A meeting was announced for March 2, with dinner to be served by the Home Economics club at noon.

There were four new members obligated in the third and fourth degrees. Curry county Pomona Master J. O. Phipps and wife were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Phipps recently lost their home by fire and the three granges of Curry county are sponsoring a household shower to be held at the Ophir school Thursday evening Feb. 26. All grangers are urged to attend and send gifts if unable to attend. They may be left at the home of C. H. Brooks in Langlois.

The rat control program was allowed to rest pending action by the Federal government. It seems there is to be a nation-wide extermination program financed by government funds.

The Langlois grade school, under the direction of Mrs. Wanda Volck, and Mrs. Leonard McDonald, presented a very fine program for the entertainment of the grange, families and friends of the children. The grange is most grateful to all concerned. The following is the program: Group of songs, glee club; reading, The Goat and the Swing, Katherine Dennis; "I Have to Go to School," Dick Helmkin; "Ride on a Street Car," Jeanette Thompson; "Soap," Caroline Norris; skit, "Seen in a Bus Depot," 7th and 8th grade. After the program the Langlois Tune Butchers furnished music for a very enjoyable hour of dancing. Thanks to the Tune Butchers.

At the next regular grange meeting Feb. 28 the agricultural committee, chairman Art Sweet, is in charge of the lecturer's hour, and plans on pictures and a talk by County Agent Knox.
