Fishermen Risk Cars To Angle For Elusive Trout Catches

Brave people these fishermen—to risk bringing their cars out over these roads for a mere half dozen fish!

Dozens of cars lined the East Fork though, since all the tributaries are closed this year the East Fork is the fisherman's only hope—and for most fishermen that hope is almost in vain.

However, several strings of beauties were caught Sunday.

At McKinley

Jimmy Churchill has the mumps this week but still no new cases of chicken pox.

The McKinley Home Extension unit will hold its May meeting at the home of Mrs. Mildred King early Friday morning; then the members will go to Fairview to have their officers' installation and also to be there for the demonstration on Landscaping.

Mrs. Woodrow Koch, Mrs. S. A. Hutchinson and Mrs. Elroy Zeigler went to Powers Thursday and on Friday Mrs. Koch, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Bradley West went.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver West and family, Mammie West and son, Robert, and Albert West from Reedsport were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bralley West and family.

Well, folks, looking for a good time, come on out to McKinley, on May 14th and you'll have the time of your life. The McKinley Home Extension is putting on a play, "Scandal in the Neighborhood," then an hour of carnival and then a dance. The "Oregon Trail Blazers," will be the musicians. Supper will be served in the kitchen all evening. Remember a week from Saturday night at 8:00 at the McKinley Grange hall.

At Langlois High Graduation Set For May 19th

The commencement exercises will be held Wednesday, May 19, beginning at 8:00 p. m. at the Langlois high school gymnasium. The program will consist of speeches given by each of the students.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, May 16, at 8:15 p. m. at the Langlois Community church. Rev. Nelson J. Miller, pastor of the Port Orford Community church, will be in charge of the services.

The boys didn't do so well in their first two baseball games of the season, but they haven't been discouraged by these two defeats. We hope they will do better in the game to be played with Gold Beach Wednesday.

Riverton 4-H Club

The meeting was opened by our president, Dale Borgard. The 4-H pledge was said by the members. The club had a visitor, Dennis Sharp. Mrs. Molthu gave a talk on keeping up the record books.

Velma Roland, secretary, and assistant reporter, was absent. Recently we received our 4-H membership pens and achievement cards. Bq Don Gurney, Reporter

Bissett's Study Modern Methods

By ELLEN NESBITT

For eight years Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bissett have operated the No-D-Lay cleaning establishment in Coquille as a fifty-fifty proposition. We find them young and ambitious and enthusiastic about the latest in modern cleaning methods. They are keeping up with the times by constant studying and are at present taking a course available through the Silver Springs National Institute. Recently, too, they attended a national cleaners' convention in San Francisco, at which time they learned the handling of various fabrics.

In the time they have been in business they have installed new and up-to-date equipment in their shop on Front street, and have expanded their business considerably.

Mr. Bissett came to Oregon from Idaho, while Mrs. Bissett is a native daughter of Portland. Before going into the cleaning business Cliff owned and operated a dairy and Mrs. Bissett was a receptionist in a dentist's office.

The Bissetts have an eight-year-old son who promises to follow in his father's footsteps. He can already press a pair of pants like an expert and is handy man about the shop.

returned to school after being out two weeks with chicken pox. Their sister, Ellen, is now down with it.

Rev. Mr. Barnett held church Sunday following Sunday school at the Sitkum gymnasium. These services were held a week early this month so people who wished to go to town for services on Mother's Day could do so.

"Widow Maker" Nearly Does It

One of the worst wind and rain storms of the year struck the valley Monday. Brummett creek and the East Fork rose about two and one half feet in six hours. The woodsmen for Coos Bay Lumber company returned to camp—but not soon enough to avoid a minor accident which could have been a major one. On the way down to camp a "widow maker" struck the red reconnaissance jeep in which Oren Keeler and Harry Mast were riding. The blow broke the windshield and bent the cab and fender. Had the jeep not been of very sturdy construction, the result of this accident might have been disastrous.

Twin Calves Born On Kirk Farm

Twin calves were born on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. John Kirk last week. This is quite a rare event. The mother was a Jersey dairy cow. As both calves were little bulls Mr. Kirk did not keep them.

DEWEY

URGES RAPID DEVELOPMENT OF POWER AND IRRIGATION IN COLUMBIA RIVER BASIN

GOVERNOR THOMAS E. DEWEY believes earnestly in rapid development of hydro-electric power and irrigation in Oregon. He believes in harnessing the great productive potential of the Pacific Northwest.

Governor Dewey's record of building business and job opportunities in New York State is one of his outstanding achievements. He knows how to work with management and labor because both management and labor trust and admire him.

The country needs his experience and competence in achieving for Oregon and the entire Northwest the benefits of greater industrial production that he has accomplished so successfully in New York State.

Development Must Continue Full Blast

Here is what he says: "Here in the Columbia River drainage basin you have the nation's greatest reserves of hydro power, together with the navigation facilities and the growing population which have already made the Pacific Northwest an expanding center of industry. Both for the Nation's defense and for the greatest advancement of our people's well-being, this is a development which must be continued full blast.

"It is our country's good fortune that the Columbia River system has ready for development the nation's greatest new source of electric energy. The great river systems of this country are among the most precious assets of our people, but as long as they are undeveloped they are going to waste. Their rapid development for complete use is one of the most urgent tasks before us.

"Hydro-electric power and irrigation are clearly essential for the healthy growth of the Pacific Northwest and I urge that they go forward to the full extent that they can be honestly self-sustaining and self-liquidating. On this basis, public appropriations are to be regarded as investments in America's productive future. The same is true of needed flood control and navigation projects.

Aggressive Program, Federal Help Proposed

"River development should be on a regional basis. Such large scale multiple-purpose projects as those for the drainage basins of the Columbia, the Missouri and the Willamette are a natural responsibility for the Federal Government. I propose an aggressive and a continued orderly program of developing all such major resources for the benefit of the nation. And by that I mean to include McNary Dam, and Foster Creek and Hungry Horse and such others as may be feasible, all together or in their logical succession.

"In these resources some sections are more richly endowed than others, but this is not a sectional matter. Anything that builds a bigger West, builds a greater and stronger America for all our people."
