KNOW YOUR TEACHER

Fred Adams Is A Swell Guy, You Bet!

This column is supposed to be written differently than it has been in the past. Anyway, that's what they told me.

Mr. Adams is our subject for the week. He is the man who so diligently helped the yell leaders in the pep assembly a while back to get a little "holier" instead of "hollow" out of the boys.

When asked the old question of his favorite food, he replied that he likes any and everything, but he has been trying to teach his classes the kinds of correct foods and he didn't think that was a very good answer.

He wouldn't give his age, but his birthday is on the 27th of June in case anyone wants to bake him a cake. Or else if you were really interested in his age, you could go back to Milwaukee, Wisconsin, (where he was born) and look in the records. Or maybe LaCrosse State Teachers college, in LaCrosse, Wisconsin, would have this information. That is where he went to learn what to do with the mighty minds and muscles of Coquille High. But if you were still in the dark, the next resort would be to go to the United States Marines. He was in the Marine Corps for four years. If they won't give, ask him.

Mr. Adams has done a wonderful job here in Coquille with the Intramural sports. But besides all the work he does here at school, he still has time for sports and recreation outside of school hours. He likes photography and fishing for his favorite recreation, and of course, basketball and football best of all sports.

As if coaching the "B" squad wasn't enough, Mr. Adams works on Saturdays with some of the grade and Junior High boys. He has done a fine job with all of them.

We sometimes think that Mr. Adams and others like him should be twins, but when he accomplishes so much, it may be that he is!

Senior Boy

As I was walking down the hall I chanced upon Joe Berg, but to my dismay he was talking, as usual, to Barbara Slater. Undaunted I went ahead with my questioning and here are some of the things I learned from him.

He was born on a cold March morning in '32. The 25th to be exact. He has red hair, blue eyes, and is six feet tall.

He says his favorite pastime is eating and his favorite food is steak. He likes Al Jolson singing "Toot-toot Toofsie."

Joe, as editor of the Laurel, is kept busy but still has time to turn out for basketball and is on the A squad.

Joe Berg makes an ideal senior boy of the week.

Senior Girl

On the night of January 29, 1932, in Eugene, Oregon, Mrs. Idyle Godard brought forth her first born child and wrapped her in a bassinet.

Now in the year 1950 that child, Nancy Godard by name, is a senior in Coquille H. Being a very energetic person, Miss Godard participated in almost all of the school activities. She was secretary of the Junior class last year and she was also on the Junior Play staff. She helped on the prom, too. This year she had one of the leading parts in the Senior play.

Like almost every girl in school Nancy belongs to the Job's Daughters and is the Junior Past Honored Queen.

At the age of almost eighteen, Nancy has blue eyes, light brown hair and weighs, shall I say one hundred and something. Her favorite food is steak, smothered in mushrooms—naturally—and if you want to call dancing and traveling hobbies, you've got it. Football is her favorite sport.

If she can pass chemistry this year, she hopes to be nurse. Good Luck, future Nurse Godard.

Career Girls Write Their Life Stories

Before the Christmas holidays, you may have observed the senior girls trying to recall the facts of their past, present, and future.

All of the senior girls of Coquille high school wrote autobiographies for the Business and Professional Women's club. These autobiographies are for the purpose of giving the senior girls publicity.

Every month until the end of the school year, two girls will be interviewed by one of the club members over KWRO.

Martha Banta was the first senior girl to appear on the program, and Lorna Willard was the second career girl chosen by the Business and Professional Women's club.

Listen to these programs, and find out about the senior girls in your high school. You will find that most of them lead very interesting lives.

Lincoln Schoolers Busy With Projects

BY JIMMIE MEADOWS

Jack Jacobsen, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Lafferty, our instructor, is making an unusual raised surface map of North America which is painted realistically in water color.

Social studies activities for sixth graders have made the student familiar with statesmen and heroes. Mrs. Ruth Neil, instructor, is leading the group in weekly discussions of current events while seventh graders are beginning large maps of early explorations with the help of Mrs. Marie Stuart, teacher.

Straips of the "H.M.S. Pinafore" fill the lower hall these days as music students study this Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. Hubert Bonde, Irma Littleton, Darryl Alkinson, Larry Frease, Charles Clinton, Bruce Bowman, Benjamin Gasner are part of the publicity crew who have drawn pictures of operetta characters, according to Miss Gale Haaglund, music instructor.

On the lighter side of the grapevine tells us that the homeroom of 6Y, under the supervision of Mrs. Vera Moomaw, held a party Wednesday, Jan. 18. A cake was made by Mrs. Mintonye for the group when pop, gum, and candy were served to the class. Darlee Epps was in charge of games.

New Consumer Course Scheduled

Practical Consumer Economics, a course in the problems of the modern consumer, will be offered at Coquille high school this semester, E. R. James, principal, announced this week. Approximately ten students have signified their intention of taking the course. It will be taught by Mr. James L. McMahon, instructor of social studies.

NEW TYPE

Alan Ladd plays a new type reporter in Paramount's "Chicago Deadline." He doesn't take a drink, doesn't wear his hat on the back of his head, and doesn't tell his managing editor where to get off. Ladd was once a reporter, himself, and knows they're as human as the people they write about.
