Fire Danger Grows As Woods Get Dry

Fire danger increased to the forests of Coos county as dry weather and north winds made the forest increasingly critical spots.

Ivan Young, assistant district warden of the Coos Forest Protective association, said violators of burning regulations would be severely dealt with, and anyone burning without a permit would be cited at once.

First lookout assignment handed out was to Herman Shelly for the Trail Butte station.

Honor Given Coos In Greene Selection

A high honor was paid Coos county this week by the selection of the Rev. Robert L. Greene, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church, Coos Bay, to be chairman of a fund raising session of the American Red Cross national convention at Detroit, Mich., from June 25 to 27.

Father Greene, who is a former rector of St. James' Episcopal church, Coquille, was chosen by the Pacific Coast area Red Cross group to represent the Pacific area at the national convention. He was chosen on the basis of individual ability and personal leadership. He served as Coos chairman of the 1950 drive, and has been active in the past years in such work.

BASEBALL FIELD CLEANED

Following the Douglas Carnival on Fortier Field, a big crew of Coquille firemen were out to clean up the field, and it was in perfect shape, Bill Fortier said this week. The firemen were to be complimented, Fortier said, for the fine job they did.

Coos Has Perfect Holiday Record

In spite of the high holiday death toll throughout the nation, no serious accidents were reported in the vicinity of Coquille over Memorial day, according to state police.

Two Coos County Students Receive Scholarships

Oregon State College (Special) — Donna Lee Holliday of Myrtle Point, a student at Union high school, and John K. Watzling of Coquille high school are among students awarded tuition scholarships to attend Oregon State college during the school year 1950-51.

Fifty-three men and 53 women high school students, and 56 persons with previous high school training, are on the awards list, which was approved by the high school relations committee of the state system of higher education. The scholarships cover the $66 cost of tuition for the year.

Miss Holliday, who is in the upper third of her class scholastically, has been active in numerous school functions. She is the daughter of Mrs. Madge Holliday of Myrtle Point. Watzling is also an honor student and has participated in school activities. His mother is Mrs. Ann M. Watson of Coquille.

Legion Poppy Sale Sets Record Mark

Appreciation to all the people who helped make possible the record sale of American Legion Poppies last Friday and Saturday was extended today by Mrs. Mabel Kunz who said the Legion Auxiliary's sale of the Legion poppies was extremely successful with all of them being sold.

She voiced appreciation to The Sentinel and KWRO for publicity given the sale, and to all workers and other people who aided, as well as the generous response of the people who gladly purchased the poppies.
