Playground Activities Include Sports Fish Rodeo Slated Friday, July 14th

If you are a fisherman and one of Coquille's younger set you'd best hurry over to the Washington Grade School playground and register for the Fish Rodeo coming up next Friday, the 14th of July, at 11:00 a. m. The kids are now in the process of constructing fish for the rodeo out of plywood and paints. The enthusiasm is high and a large turnout is expected.

Last Friday over at Washington a doll contest was staged and prizes were awarded for the following: largest doll, Suzie Summer; smallest doll, Merleen Bowman; the most different, Richard Walker; the most beautiful, Nancy Hunsaker; the smilingest, Janet Creager; best costumed, Linda Lessing; the noisiest doll, Diane Hunsaker; oldest doll, Suzie Peterson; softest doll, Ileen Petersen; cleanest doll, Carolyn Barnett; most resemblance to owner, Ann Creager.

A croquet tournament for both A and B class ages was held for the boys with Gary Rhule winning the A event and Tommy Engen taking the B class in a close played contest.

Over at the high school playground interest is very high in a badminton single elimination tournament and a horseshoe tournament now being played, with a croquet tournament and a checker tournament coming up next week. Some of the boys worked on shuffleboard disks, pushers, and court and the interest has been extremely high in this sport. A tournament is coming up in the future.

All boys interested in playing in a summer touch-football league of six-man teams come on over to the playground and sign up now for action commencing next week. If enough boys register a six team league playing on the football field will be worked out.

Registration at both playgrounds has been very successful to date, according to word from Fabian Nelson, the playground director. A total of 155 boys and girls have registered with an average daily attendance at both playgrounds of approximately seventy boys and girls.

Marchand Top Slugger With .572; Don White Paces League Pitchers

It's "Rutabaga" Joe Marchand at the top of the heap in batting circles around the southwestern Oregon baseball league as the first half of the season ended this week. Joe boasts a .572 average with four hits in seven official trips to the plate. One of these hits was a home run over the right-field fence of Fortier Field.

Bishop, catcher, and Gambit, third-baseman, both of Reedsport are crowding Marchand for top honors with an even .500. Then comes Baird of Bandon with .467 and Goodman of Coquille with .444 to complete the top five.

The Loggers left-handed mound genius, Don White, sets the pace for the rest of the league tossers. Don has won four games without a loss. Closest competition for White comes from Mel Krause of Bandon.

Krause, to date, has three victories and one defeat.

Following is the complete roster of batters hitting better than .300 during this first half of the season:

Deer In Both Oregon And California Special Season To Be Considered For

A special season for the Interstate deer herd which summers on the Fremont National Forest in Lake and Klamath Counties and winters entirely within the Modoc National Forest of Northern California will be considered by the Oregon State Game Commission at its July 14 hunting regulation hearing.

The California Game Commission meeting, at Shasta Springs on June 27, tentatively approved the Interstate Deer Herd Committee's recommendation that 3000 antlerless deer be harvested from the Interstate deer herd. The Committee's recommendation further provided that 1500 of these deer be taken by Oregon sportsmen.

A cooperative study of the Interstate deer herd was undertaken by the U. S. Forest Service, the Oregon State Game Commission, and the California Game Commission in 1945. The committee's management plan is designed to hold deer and livestock numbers in balance with the available food supply on the Modoc winter range. There is ample food on the summer range in Oregon. In the last three years, this deer herd has increased steadily, the 1950 census showing 15,000 mule deer in the herd. Studies by the three agencies also indicate that the use of bitterbrush, the key deer winter food, has decreased 70 per cent during the past three years and browse forage is declining with the present use.

The proposed action is designed to harvest the 1950 increase in the herd and to prevent further damage of forage resources upon which future deer populations will be dependent.

MEMO TO HOMEMAKERS

BY MARY AGNES AINLEY
Acting County Extension Agent, Home Economics

Your camp registration blanks are to be returned to your county extension office by July 15. That is this Saturday. Dates for Home-maker's Camp again are August 2-6.

During the summer months with more hours being spent in the garden, mending and other hand sewing must be accomplished after dark. A suggestion from Miss Lucy Lane, Oregon State college extension clothing specialist, is that Oregon homemakers may well consider good lighting for their work.

Sewing is a difficult eye task because the homemaker must concentrate on small details with little or no contrast between color of thread and fabric. Sewing requires the best and most carefully applied lighting of any work done at home.

Light with some directional quality seems preferable for most kinds of sewing. This is because in the absence of color contrast between thread and fabric, the chief factors enabling the eye to distinguish a stitch against its background are minute shadows cast by threads, slight ridges caused by tension of stitches, and highlights on the thread or fabric.

On the basis of test results and observations the following foot-candle levels are recommended: For occasional sewing on light-colored fabrics, 40 footcandles; prolonged sewing on light to medium fabrics, 80 footcandles; sewing on dark fabrics with fine detail, 150 or more footcandles.

A senior floor lamp with a 100-200-300 watt incandescent lamp or a 32-watt circular fluorescent lamp provides the highest illumination level of portable lamps with an average of 100 foot candles.

To provide illumination levels beyond the 100 footcandle range, reflector and projector spot and flood lamps of 150 watts recessed in the ceiling may be used. A 75-watt flood lamp attached to a floor lamp approximately 15 inches from the sewing task will supply at least 100 footcandles on the sewing task.

For an exotic and most delicious salad combine shredded Chinese cabbage, thinly sliced celery, chopped salted almonds and pitted Bing cherries. Toss lightly with a cream dressing.

Shredded tender carrots, crisp celery and plump raisins mixed with mayonnaise make a delicious filling for summer sandwiches. Put them together just before time to eat so the filling will stay crisp.

4-H News Notes From All Over

By WALTER G. SCHROEDER
County Extension Agent, (4-H)

Bridge community will hold their first achievement day this Sunday, July 16. For the past few weeks the Bridge 4-H club members have been working steadily to get their projects completed for this achievement day.

Some questions have arisen from time to time about judging teams. In agricultural judging contests a team is made up of three members. These include crops, vegetable, livestock, poultry and rabbit judging contests and the forestry identification contest. A home economics judging team consists of two members.

At the South Coast Judging tour all of the 4-H club members present will judge as individuals but only the three highest from the same club will be selected as the first and second place teams to go to the State Fair and Pacific International.

During July is when we can appreciate the organic matter in our garden soils. It stays loose and springy as you walk over it and it holds moisture much better. If you haven't incorporated organic matter, such as peat moss, humus, or manure into your garden soil this year, remember it is a good practice for next year.

A garden tip that you may be able to use is a liquid manure tank. Put a shovel full or two of manure in a cloth sack and suspend in a barrel of water. The resulting liquid will help your garden as a side dressing.

This Is America!

Where foresighted and enterprising individuals can plan for the future and extend the boundaries of life and pleasure.

Where courage and initiative brings not only success to those who possess it, but added service, enjoyment, and fullness to the lives of those they serve.

Where freedom is a wondrous thing that says, "A Man's A Man for a' of that" and limits are only those you wish to put on yourself.

No better example exists in this community than the manner in which Orville Wood and Lloyd Claver bring their new Myrtle Lane Drive-In theatre to us this week, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. U. E. McClary bring their new store and store building and new electrical appliance store to serve and build the Coquille Valley.

Yes, we congratulate these enterprising Americans for what they have done to serve us all.
