Wildcats Tangle With Marshfield

Lincoln Junior high school's tumbling gridiron Wildcats will open their season September 29 with the Marshfield junior high school in a night game at the Coquille high school field, George Case, principal, announced this week.

The schedule was drawn Monday night at a meeting of the Coos county Schoolmasters club, Case said.

Coach Burt Burr, novice at the Lincoln institution, said yesterday that he was pleased with the boys that have turned out.

Burr says the 35 aspirants to the squad are generally light but display a great team spirit. They have been blocking and tackling well and should be a threat to the league, the mentor said.

Showing up well in earlier practices are Paul Clayton at left half-back, Bob Davis at end, Ken Trathen at the field general's position, Dwight Baker and Dave Rankin at the tackle spots.

The remainder of the schedule will see the Wildcats at North Bend October 4, Myrtle Point here October 12, Marshfield there October 21, North Bend here, October 28, and Myrtle Point there November 4.

The Indians are also rated to be a hard passing team and are reputed to gain much ground via the airways. Coquille may equal them in this field due to the efforts of Larry Schweinfurt and Gerard Jeub, the pass combination that clicked twice for touchdowns at Ashland last week.

The veteran Coquille mentor announced a tentative starting lineup of Bob Pingleton at center, Bob Groves at a guard spot; Len Scolari and Don Laird at tackle; Lynn Purvis plus Larry Schweinfurt at the wing births. The backfield will see the plunging Eddie Howe at fullback, Gerard Jeub at quarterback, Bill Willard and Keith Parry at the half back positions. The squad will leave early Friday afternoon.

Everyone we know is trying to get over to the big college Marshfield high stadium. It's a real treat for S. W. Oregon, this college ball, and the two teams are tops. Last year SOCE defeated Lewis and Clark to the tune of 29-6. Our salute to the Coos county Shriners for bringing some college football to us, and we hope it is an annual affair.

Coquille high school's victory-blooded Red Devils will be hampered with a few injuries when they meet the Roseburg Indians in the first league game of the young grid season at Roseburg Friday night.

The Coquille gridders have two wins and no defeats as they meet the highly touted Indians who thumped Springfield by one touchdown last week-end.

The Red Devils came out of their first encounter with the Myrtle Point Bobcats without an ailing ankle, but the wet Ashland playing surface plus one Jerry Langer, rated the hardest running back in southern Oregon, raised havoc with the Red Devil defense.

Coach Spike Leslie is nursing along his boys this week and hopes the bruises will be healed by whistle time Friday. If not Leslie wishes to withhold the names of the injured in order to let the Indians find the key to a perfect offense.

This week the Red Devils have been strengthening their defense to cope with the hard-running Cohn of the Indians' backfield. This boy is rated high on the list of District Three grid greats and to stop Roseburg it is necessary to stop Cohn.

The Indians are also rated to be a hard passing team and are reputed to gain much ground via the airways. Coquille may equal them in this field due to the efforts of Larry Schweinfurt and Gerard Jeub, the pass combination that clicked twice for touchdowns at Ashland last week.

Beavers Ready To Tackle Michigan

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis—Oregon State's Beavers, lacking-in depth but strong in spirit, will leave Thursday for the opening game of the season against Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday.

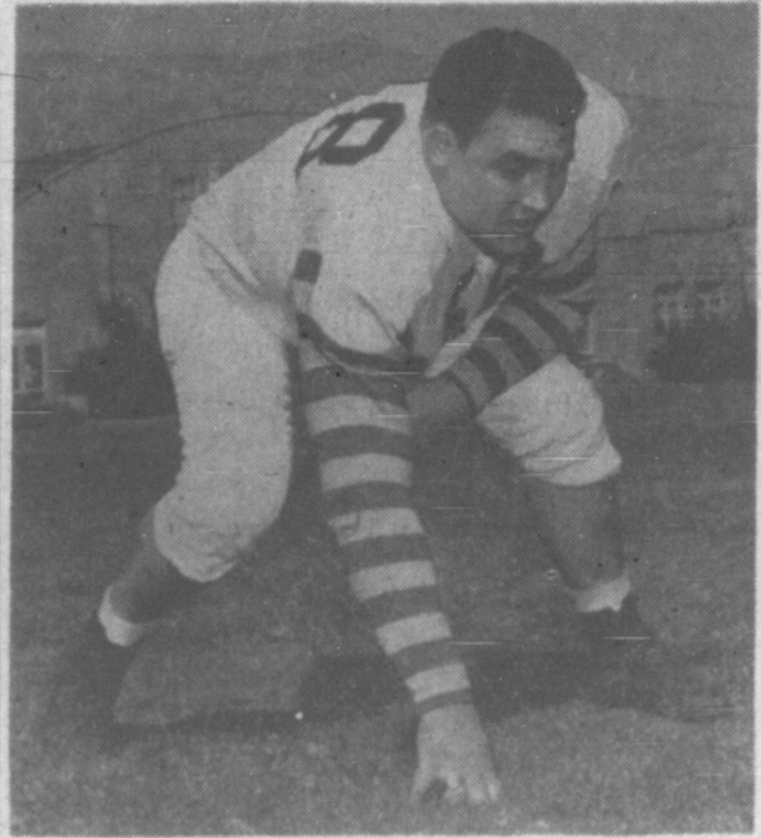

Coach Kip Taylor's gridders have been drilling lightly this week, after a rugged regular-game scrimmage session last Saturday. Although far from a polished outfit, the Orangemen have shown consistent improvement and are in good physical shape for the Spartan contest.

Divot Digging

Fall Championship qualifying started Sunday. It continues all week and next Sunday. Will be finished by Sunday night, Sept. 24th. And Fall Championship play begins Oct. 1.

Ladies' Day was Wednesday, Sept. 20th. A Ladies' Fall Handicap tournament is to be started soon at the Coquille Valley Country club.

LINE BOSS—Here's Harry Reiton, former Southern Oregon line great who gave up a pro career to return to continue his studies and serve as line coach for Al Simpson. He'll be in there directing as the big "Myrtle Bowl Game" gets underway Saturday evening in Coos Bay.

Sportsmen's Clubs Offered Farm Wildlife Project

Sportsmen's clubs sponsoring life conservation programs, a row of mature multiflora forms a live-stock-proof fence.

Delivery of rose plants, states the Game commission, will begin November 15, but requests should be made promptly in order to be assured of stock. Plantings may be made through the winter with the exception of freezing periods.

Club correspondents should mention the number of plants desired along with the place and date of delivery. If technical assistance or information is desired, a game agent will contact the group.

Coquille Archers Get Their Deer

Ten minutes after entering the Tillamook Burn deer archery preserve, Attorney Tallant Greenough had his deer. It was some sort of a record, too, for fast accurate shooting, and the deer, a large barren doe was in top shape.

With the Greenough hunting party were Harrison Greenough, Attorney John Pickett and Dave Smith of Coquille. Smith picked off a fine choice yearling doe.

The Coquille men were two of ten lucky archers of the weekend. Over 300 were admitted to the preserve, and only ten hunters came out with deer.

JOHNNY VEENER—155 lb. scab-back for Al Simpson's Red Raiders. Johnny plays any position in the Southern Oregon backfield with equal ability. Playing his 4th and final year for the Raiders, he is 22, and hails from Portland where he was all city star at Franklin high school.

Essey Contest Open To Students

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON—An essay contest, open to high school students of Oregon, has been announced by the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association and the Oregon Scholastic Press.

With the purpose of focusing attention on the value of newspapers within the communities of the state, the students will write on "What the Newspaper Does for My Community."

The contest is being sponsored within the separate communities by the local newspapers or under the supervision of the high school principal. Authorization of the project has been made by Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction.

Deadline for submission of the essays to the local newspapers or the high school principals will be September 30.

In Coquille the contest is being sponsored locally by The Coquille Valley Sentinel with a local prize of $10.00 in merchandise at any Coquille store.

SENATOR MORSE TO APPEAR

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, whose spills at last year's state fair put him in the hospital, will drive the same horse, Sir Laurel Guy at this year's Pacific International Livestock Exposition horse show Oct. 6-14. He has already entered the horse in the show and will come west from Washington to appear.

Jeub - Schweinfurt Pass Brings Merriwell Finish To Ashland-Coquille Game

Larry Schweinfurt, Coquille high school end, grabbed a pass from Gerard Jeub, Red Devil quarterback, to race into the end zone with the winning touchdown as the final gun sounded and Coquille edged the Ashland Grizzlies 27-20 at Ashland Friday night.

Coquille was forced to score twice in the final canto to win. At the end of the first period the Red Devils led 7-6, but at the half the Grizzlies led 13-7. Both squads scored again in the third frame making the tally 20-13 for Ashland.

Bob Groves broke the ice for the Red Devils as he pounced on a team mates fumble in the rain-soaked Ashland end zone early in the first period. The educated toe of Len Scolari accounted for the first of three conversions.

Gerry Langer, 195 pound triple threat and chief ground gainer for the Grizzlies, spurred off right end for a forty yard touchdown run later in the same period, but Ashland failed to convert.

Coquille remained scoreless in the second frame but Langer saw another opening when his squad was about forty yards from pay dirt and jaunted through the left side of the line for a tally.

The Red Devils tied the score in the third period when Jeub hurled his first touchdown pass of the game to Schweinfurt who raced 30 yards into the end zone. Scolari's conversion attempt failed.

A few plays later Langer broke loose for another counter as he raced twenty yards and his mates converted to put the host club out front 20-13.

Early in the fourth canto Eddie Howe swept around his left end for a twenty yard gain and a touchdown. Scolari converted to tie the score.

The Red Devil squad stopped a determined Ashland eleven on the Coquille 20 yard line late in the fourth period. After a series of first downs the Coquille squad marched back to the Ashland 40 where the winning touchdown play started.

The rain accounted for the seven Ashland fumbles and five Coquille miscues.
