Finest Concert Was Presented Sunday Featuring George London, Baritone

Finest concert ever presented in Coos County was the final concert of the 1954-55 Coos County Concert Association Sunday when George London, bass-baritone, and first bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, appeared in the Coos Bay high school auditorium. From the opening numbers which featured Othello, through three different numbers from Faust, and ending with delightful light ballad type selections, London showed a thrilling superb artistry that put him at the top of all artists ever appearing in Coos Bay.

His voice was exquisitely handled to suit each number that he put himself into with a great depth of feeling. His command of register, his acting with the music and the words, his wonderful kinness with the music he sang and the audience he was delighting left sheer delight and pleasure.

His accompanist, Warner Singer was also a master at the piano and his two solo selections were fine.

The Coos County Concert Association board is to be highly praised for the selection of George London for appearance in their series. The only tragedy is that this great singer will not be here again and again.

Hunsaker Speaks To Woman's Club

Superintendent of Schools Ray Hunsaker spoke on "Educational Problems of Coquille Schools" at the April 12 meeting of the Coquille Woman's club. The members met in the junior auditorium of the Community building.

Mrs. W. W. Gauntlett was chairman of the program.

Hostesses for the social hour that followed the meeting were Mesdames Annie Fennell, chairman, James H. Anderson, Guy Mauney, F. R. Fortner, Ray Hunsaker, Floyd Robb, Mary Randleman, George Jenkins, Harry Slack, Dal King and C. L. Tuttle.
