

COQUILLE SUPPLY...

"Supplying" your needs for 54 years!

Coquille Supply began business in about 1948 as an Auction and Salvage house owned by Oliver Glazebrook. Gradually the business emerged into a builder's supply, and Glazebrook's son and daughter-in-law Skip and Diane Glazebrook took over the business in about 1962.

Eldred and Joyce Jack purchased the business in October 1971 and worked to enlarge both the building and the selection.

Their son Curtis Jack bought Coquille Supply in 1990 and completed a major 5,000 square foot retail area expansion in 2001. Curtis and his wife, Melissa, now run the store with a "little help" from daughter Ryann, 8, and son Griffin, 5.

In addition to a full range of hardware and building supplies, the store offers equipment and tool rentals and is a sales outlet for hunting and fishing licenses.
