

For Red Cross Workers.

The chairman of the local organization of the Red Cross has been notified by the Marshallfield chapter that several bolts of sewing material will be forwarded to us at once, and our work along that line will start next Wednesday, at our permanent headquarters in the rooms over the First National bank. This work must be done in the rooms—it cannot be taken home. There will be sewing machines, etc., furnished the ladies and all who can be urged to help with this work, which will be under the direct supervision of competent instructors.

A committee of four ladies will be in attendance to take charge of affairs, each afternoon. The names of said committees will be published each week. If it is impossible for any lady to be present on the day for which she is named, if she will kindly notify the chairman, Miss Sherwood, she will endeavor to supply some one else in her place. But there—it is important, and this is just plain sewing—no frills—we can all do it.

The yarn for knitting is also promised to us in the very near future, but until it arrives we will devote our time to the sewing.

There has been a great deal of interest aroused in the Red Cross work among the ladies in Coquille and vicinity, many offering their services, whenever the opportunity for actual work presents itself, but owing to our inability to secure materials, our Lanch is late in getting down to business, but next Wednesday we start the ball rolling—we expect great things from ourselves and know that we shall not be disappointed.

The practice work which has been going on for several weeks in the Laird rooms will be discontinued for the present.

Mines 4,000 Years Old.

Matt Kerrigan talks very interestingly about his lifelong experience as a miner all over the western sections of this country and his adventures might make an entertaining book. One story, though, he told us the other day is remarkable enough for a newspaper. Matt's partner for a long time was his twin brother, Thomas, but Tom was finally induced by a bunch of English capitalists to go to the Rand in South Africa. After his three years' contract with them expired the old wanderlust struck him and he made a 700 mile trip over the high veldt to the Matabele country. There he found great heaps of tailings such as are in evidence in valleys of California now. These had evidently been long abandoned, so he struck out along the course of the big ditch or aqueduct that had once furnished water for those mines. He followed this for nine days' journey and during that time was impelled by curiosity to try to learn how long it had been in existence. So he cut down a big oak, or rather the company with which he was travelling did, and they found that while it had evidently sprung from an acorn dropped in the ditch after it had become dry, the rings indicated that it was 3300 years old. After that Thomas was always ready to maintain in argument with all comers that the ditch and tailings in Matabeleland represented the workings where Solomon got his gold for the building of the temple, and that it was the veritable Ophir of the Old Testament.

Bootleggers on the Run.

Yesterday Hilmar Ingebrigtsen, Chief Engineer of the steam schooner, Lindauer, was on trial in Justice Shuster's court at North Bend for selling booze. That boat has for some time been the chief reliance of the thirsty over at the Bay and the state and county's detectives, L. Evans and R. M. Kyle testified to having purchased 12 bottles of Old Hermitage whiskey from Ingebrigtsen on the Lindauer on Tuesday night and paid $28 for it.

D. L. Foote was convicted of selling booze at Marshallfield last Saturday in Recorder Butler's court and sentenced to a fine of $100 and ten days' imprisonment in the city jail. Andy Erickson had posted a cash bond of $100 for Foote, but after the trial the latter was found to have disappeared. At the latest accounts he was still missing.

A Portland firm has offered to build a milk condensary at Bandon that will employ from 80 to 100 people, on condition that the people there will donate them a $7,500 site.

City School Notes.

School commenced Monday with a total enrollment of 389 of whom 89 are in the high school, 126 in the primary department; and 189 in the intermediate and grammar departments.

Visitors for the week were Mrs. Willey, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. Nosler, County Superintendent Baker, and Superintendent Turnbull, of the Bandon schools.

Eight new windows are being put in the high school assembly room this week by carpenter Gregg. With the additions of the new windows the standard amount of light will now be assured in the study hall.

A few changes have been made in the high school course of study this year. Mr. Douglas will give a half year's course both in Physiology and Biology, and Latin will be substituted for the first year German. A glee club both for boys and girls will be organized by Miss Bay later in the year.

The following students successfully passed the recent state examination in Physiology: Albert Oerding, Addie Dow, Faye Brenner, and Adraine Gardner.

There are twenty-one students in the senior class this year all of whom are candidates for graduation.

The prospects for a winning team in basketball are very bright. Many of the players in last year's team will be back in school again, and in addition there is some promising new material.

The teacher training class commenced work this week with an enrollment of ten, a large enrollment for a high school of the size of Coquille's. A change made in the law by the last legislature necessitates two years in teaching training instead of one as in the past.

The hour for opening high school has been set for 8 o'clock a. m. and for closing at 12:50 p. m., with an afternoon session for supervised studies and laboratory work.

The Grades will be opened at 9 a. m. and one o'clock p. m. For grade pupils the doors will be opened for admission to the building at 8:50 a. m. and 12:45 p. m. Parents are requested not to permit pupils to start for school so as to reach there sooner than the time set for the opening of the buildings.

Boys Playing Pirate.

Last Friday night a couple of boys who had started out to play pirate in a badly waterlogged row boat, were picked up across the bay from Marshallfield. When taken to Chief of Police Carter their leaky boat was freighted with the following very boy-like outfit:

A red engineer's flag which was taken from the dredge Michie some time ago. There were also two U. S. ensign flags, eight oars and a small pump which the lads were working when the rescue craft came to their succor.

There was also a box of apples which had been taken from the North Bend wharf, two bottles of milk, also taken from the North Bend wharf, an engine coil and batteries, a hammer, an auger, a tin bucket of nails, two bits, two life preservers, a bundle of shingles, 22 cartridge shells.

Backed Off the Slip.

J. W. Williams files a claim with the county court for $340 damages suffered by an accident at Bullard's ferry. He drove on to the scow there with his wagon and team, and while the ferryman was waiting for another team to drive on the guard chain was not put up. Meanwhile Williams' team backed off the boat and on to the slip and kept on backing until they went over the side of the slip into the river. One of the horses was drowned for which he asks $300. He also claims $25 for damage to the wagon and $15 on account of the harness. The claim was referred to District Attorney Hall.

New Cases in Circuit Court.

Only two new cases have been filed in the Circuit court during the past week, and those this morning, as follows:

Geo. H. Johnson vs. Bert Stevens. May Smith vs. Coos county. Transcript from Justice's court No. 2 on appeal.

The latter is a case where suit was brought for several months' back payment on a widow's pension.

Special Ordnance Course.

A special course preparing young men for service in the Ordnance Department of the United States Army will be given by the School of Commerce of the University beginning at the opening of college October first. Mr. C. C. Jeremiah has been detailed by the War department to take charge of this course. Complete details as to requirements for entrance and the contents of the course will be furnished on application to the University. "Men of college training or men of sufficient actual business experience to enable them to grasp the subject and be relied upon after completing the course" are wanted, according to a telegram just received from General Crosier, chief of the Department.

The work of the Ordnance department consists of buying, handling and accounting for the munitions and military equipment of the army. Enrollment is required at the end of the course. The men will be assigned at once to active duty in the Ordnance Department. Excellent chances of rapid promotion are held out to able young men.

The class to be given at the University is limited by the War Department to fifty. All young men fitted for such work, who are of draft age but not yet called, or who want to enter service of this nature, should apply at once for admission to the course. They will then be notified when to appear for examination. A fee of twenty dollars will be charged for the course, to defray a part of the heavy expense of giving it.

Women to Register Sept. 15.

All women of the United States, over sixteen years of age, are to register for war duty next Saturday, September 15, by request of the government. It is not compulsory, but is practically equivalent to a call for volunteers for military duty for men, and, in the same way, if there are not sufficient volunteers, there may be a war draft to determine the number of women capable of carrying on the world's work while men are absent, defending the flag.

The above is quoted from the Portland Journal of September 12. The women of Coquille will register at the city hall from ten a. m. to five p. m., exclusive of the noon intermission. Any woman who fears that if she registers she will be compelled to leave her home, will breathe easier after she sees the registration cards.

HOW To Apply Home Remedies For Nosebleed

BLEEDING from the nose is seldom anything to be alarmed about unless it comes from a blow on the head or is the result of a severe internal hemorrhage. In most cases it stops after awhile of its own accord, but even then it is extremely annoying and often most inconvenient and embarrassing as well. In most cases a vigorous motion of the jaws, as if in the act of chewing, will stop the trouble very shortly. A child should have a wad of paper inserted in the mouth and then chew it hard. It is the motion of the jaws that stops the flow of blood. With some people it is only necessary to place a small, hard wad of paper under the lower lip and the flow will stop. With others salt and water or vinegar and water stuffed up the nostril cures it in a few moments. In very severe cases it is sometimes necessary to plug the bleeding nostril with cotton and make a pressure on this by pinching the nose from the outside or to soak the hands and feet in water as hot as can be borne.

When the nosebleed is caused by a blow in the face it can be stopped by holding the head back and breathing through the nose and expectorating the blood that falls into the throat. This is the plan adopted by most prize fighters to stop such bleeding.

If the bleeding comes from any severe injury of the head, such as a fractured skull, the nose should be allowed to bleed until the doctor arrives.

An old-fashioned remedy for nose bleed to which many mothers pin their faith is to apply something cold to the back of the neck. This is often done by dropping a large key down the back, but it is much more efficacious to use a cold compress for this purpose, such as a cloth wrung out of very cold water or a bit of ice wrapped in a cloth and applied to the neck just under the hair.

The word khaki as applied to the cloth now so generally used for military uniforms is derived from the Persian "khak," meaning dust or ashes.

When whitening a hearth or step dip the cloth in a drop of milk and rub over after applying the hearthstone. This prevents the white from coming off.

The practice of planting seeds and performing similar farm operations according to superstitious "signs" or according to the moon is not based on facts.

Nearly one-fourth of the earth's land surface is comprised within the continent of Africa. It is as far around the coast of Africa as it is around the world.

 Following the rains last week, Governor Withycombe announced the opening of the deer hunting season again. The season must close, however, October 15th, which will allow just four weeks more for those who have not bagged the limit and as to have not bagged the limit; and as to is still a mooted question.
