Pretty Wedding at Sanford Residence Here Saturday—Walstrom-Laughlin.

A pretty wedding took place Saturday, September 15, at high noon, when Miss Lena Leavelle Laughlin was united in marriage to Almer Eugene Walstrom at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. O. C. Sanford, of this city.

Rev. F. G. Jennings officiated, using the impressive Episcopal ring ceremony. The wedding march from Lohegrin, was played by Miss Ella Walstrom.

The bride was attired in a traveling costume of Pekin blue and wore a beautiful corsage bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses.

The living room was tastefully decorated with apragus ferns and large white dahlias. The color scheme carried out in the dining room was pink and green; high bouquets of pink lilies and trailing sprays of English ivy were hung about the room. A large center piece of Carolina Teston roses and Maiden hair fern adorned the table while a shower bouquet of tiny pink rose buds and pink tulle was suspended from the chandelier.

Only the immediate members of the family were present.

The young couple left at once for Bandon where they expect to make their future home. They are among Bandon's popular young people and are well known in this vicinity. Their many friends unite in wishing them a happy and prosperous future.

Justice Stanley Has Two Pairs.

Married at Coquille, September 13, 1917, by J. J. Stanley, Justice of the Peace, at his residence, Erwin Virgil Hamlin and Laura Ethel Sargent, both of Bandon.

Married at Coquille, September 17, 1917, by J. J. Stanley, Justice of the Peace, at his office, Clark E. Cory and Ella Thomas. Mr. Cory is a farmer living near Salem, and the bride is a well known former resident of this place, who has been cooking in the McDonald & Vaughn logging camp for about two years.

Two More Couples at Bandon.

(From the Bandon World.)
Thomas Feiger, of this city, and Miss Grace Lindebeck, for the past year a resident of Coos Bay, were married at Coquille Wednesday of this week. The newlyweds came to Bandon shortly afterwards and will make this city their future home. Mr. Feiger is an employe of the Woolen Mill and is also a member of the local band and orchestra. His bride was formerly a Bandon girl.

On of cupid's surprises of the week was the marriage of Miss Ebba Wren and Dr. Fred Covell on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed at the Rev. Wm. Horsfall residence, Rev. Horsfall officiating. The newlyweds left immediately for the north on a short honeymoon, and will be at home to their friends in Bandon after September 17th. Only relatives of the contracting parties were present. The marriage came as a surprise to the many friends of bride and groom, as the participants had taken but few into their confidence. The bride is the daughter of Capt. O. Wren, of the local Light station, and an instructor in the local schools. The groom is owner and manager of the Bandon Sanitarium.

Farewell Banquet to Dr. Low.

The Coosonians and the Coosonian Band gave Dr. G. Earl Low a very enjoyable farewell banquet at W. O. W. hall Wednesday evening to which the wives and sweethearts of the members were invited as well as a few outside guests.

Dr. Low was one of the prime factors in organizing the Coosonian Marching Club and was their drill instructor.

After the splendid banquet had been enjoyed to the full the band rendered a few selections, after which dancing was indulged in.

Dr. and Mrs. Low left on the early morning train yesterday to spend a short time in Idaho visiting his parents until he is called to the colors.

Coquille Woman's Council.

At the meeting of women held in the City Hall on Monday afternoon, a local division of the Woman's Committee of the Council of National Defense was organized. After a short address by the temporary chairman, Mrs. S. V. Epperson, an election was held, at which Mrs. Epperson was chosen chairman, Mrs. Bernice Smith, vice chairman, and Mrs. W. G. Brandon secretary-treasurer. The date of the next meeting will be announced later, and details regarding the work will be given soon.

To Red Cross Workers

The work our chapter started in Wednesday of this week, with the vim and enthusiasm characteristic of Coquille people when there's something to be done. The ladies are responding promptly and willingly, many laying aside home duties to assist in this great need of our country.

The sewing, at present, consists of making pajamas for our soldier boys. Not a hard task but a most particular one, it seems, for like all other Red Cross work they must be made according to specifications sent out from headquarters. It is most important that all persons helping with sewing follow instructions exactly as given. There is positively no other way than the way prescribed, and any work sent in made contrary to directions is most promptly returned to be made over. San Francisco, for instance, has had two carloads of garments rejected and returned. We do not want to experience such a humiliation, and need not, if everyone will do exactly as told and not confuse themselves and others by "talking back." Watch the details carefully, such as pinning seams to prevent stretching goods, basting edges exactly even, stitching straight, etc. These may seem matters of small consequence to us, but they most decidedly are not so considered by the higher authorities, and for every instruction given out, there is a good and sufficient reason, so we are informed.

Let us remember that one garment correctly made, is better than a hundred hit-and-miss affairs, and too, that everybody hates a "rip!" We must impress upon ourselves the old adage, "Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well." We all know how infinitely worth while is this Red Cross work, and we surely want to do it exactly right.

Every lady is requested to provide herself with needles, pins, scissors and thimble.

Want Railroad Up the Valley.

Two of the Bandon Mills, those of Geo. W. Moore and Snedden & Christensen, have been trying to get the Southern Pacific officials to build a spur down the river from Beaver Hill to connect with Bandon by a ferry. They say they have to ship their products to San Francisco by steamer at very high rates, and then send them as far by rail as to ship all the way if they could reach the S. P. lines. The railroad folks told them that the line down the river would be a very difficult one to build and that wages were too high and laborers too hard to get to think of doing anything of the sort now.

The next plan suggested was to operate a ferry line, loading the cars at Bandon and taking them up the river by boat to Cedar Point. This was found impractical owing to the river channel being too shallow and narrow to operate a six-car boat. The last proposition is that the Southern Pacific build a spur to the water's edge at Cedar Point, so that the lumber can be easily transferred from river barges to the cars. Bandon certainly needs a railroad, and we hope to see her get one in the near future.

Eventually we expect to see a branch from the Hill lines built from Roseburg down the entire length of the Coquille valley.

Powers Is Visited.

The editor of the Port Orford Tribune, who visited Powers last week, says it is "one of the real live towns of Coos county." He adds:

Approximately 600 men are employed in about Powers, and there is room at this time for 200 additional men in the logging camps. The pay roll, exclusive of the amount traded at the company stores by the employees, is over $50,000 per month. The town itself is being substantially built, and although but a few years old can boast of paved streets and business buildings that would be a credit to any place of its size. Its school house, where some 300 children are receiving instruction, is modern in every respect and one of the best arranged in this part of the state. The bank of Powers has deposits of over $80,000 and is doing a very satisfactory business. In all Powers is a lively town, and there is lot of work at good wages for all who are there and more.

Sept. 19—Coos Co. Business Men's Association vs. W. A. Horn.
Sept. 20—F. A. Barton vs. Frank Burkholder.
Sept. 20—F. A. Barton vs. Edward B. Perrin.

THE COURT HOUSE ANNEX.

on the east side comes the juvenile department, also with one cell and four bunks. The padded cell in the southwest corner is supposed to be large enough for two inmates, though one cannot help wondering what sort of Kilkenny cat affair would result if two maniacs were loosed in there together.

Access to the jail is through the southwest corner of the sheriff's office on the second floor of the new building, and it is that ante room too that leads to the bridge of signs by which direct connection is had with the waiting room at the west end of the Circuit court room in the old building.

East of this, in the southeast corner of the second floor, is the legal department of the Sheriff's office which is not yet in ship shape order, but where all matters relating to the administration of the criminal law will be looked after.

About two-thirds of the second floor at the north end is given over to the tax collection department of the sheriff's office, or of whatever officer may be charged with taking in the taxes. Here is a finely equipped and splendidly lighted room with ample facilities in the way of desk room and roller shelves for the records. On the east side of this room is a small room at the northeast corner especially for the bookkeeper and then a private office for the deputy sheriff who has the tax business in charge.

Going down another story, we find the first floor completely equipped for the work of the county clerk and treasurer. The major portion of this floor is devoted to the work of the clerks in that office. The license counter, where people who want to get married or go a-fishing, are served directly fronts the main entrance in about the center of the building.

All the deed and mortgage records are to find place off the roller shelving under the counters and desks in this room so as to be most readily accessible to the public at all times, and it was astonishing to find how nearly these will come to filling the space allotted to them. The deed records of Coos county already fill 76 volumes and the mortgage records 36 volumes.

Besides the treasurer's office on the southeast corner of this floor there is a long and narrow room next to it, in the middle of the south end of that floor, which was planned as a private office for the county clerk himself, but the mass of records to be cared for here has led to utilizing it as a vault room with shelving for books lining the full length of each side. Above these come filing cases for the papers in cases in the Circuit court away back to the beginning of things here. Those farthest back will be placed nearest the ceiling there but all the records in the room will be made readily accessible by a travelling ladder yet to be installed.

The southeast corner room of the first floor contains a smaller room for the recording clerks from the basement of the old building, where the work can be done without anything to abstract the attention.

On the middle of the east side, as on the floors above, are the lavatories and toilets for men and women flanking on either side a big vault which will give hardly any better protection for the most valuable papers and books there deposited than if they were out in the main office. For the whole building is an absolutely fire-proof concrete box, even the windows being made of wire glass with meshes all through it so that it can only melt slowly, in case intense heat is applied on the outside, and gradually run down.

The basement contains the furnaces which heat the building and room for the storage of a large quantity of fuel.

Although all the records in the county clerk's office have not been put in order since moving as they soon will be and we are unable to get the exact figures for the cost of furnishing the Hall of Records, the following is a close approximation to its total cost from the foundation to the last furniture installed.

Cost of building	$23,650
Cost of plumbing and heating	2,707
Fitting up jail	3,000
Furniture etc.	10,000
Sidewalks	500
Total	$39,857

So it appears that to say the cost of the structure complete and furnished is $40,000 will be about as near as it is possible to come in even money.

Have a High Opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I have a high opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets for biliousness and as a laxative," writes Mrs. C. A. Burned, Charleston, Ill. "I have never found anything so mild and pleasant to use. My brother has also used these tablets with satisfactory results."

More Myrtle Point Items.

The concrete walk is also being laid before the Dr. K. A. Loop property on Spruce street.

Byron Warren, of Bandon, is here and will be another member of the shingle mill force on Catching creek, which is expected to make shingles next week.

Walter Pohl and family have come in from the homestead to be near his work and for comfort during the coming rain season. They will occupy one of Charlie Butler's houses on lower Spruce street.

The citizens of Catching creek are seeing to it that they will have a road to come in on this winter. They are using plenty of gravel which is conveniently near—on Joe Knight's place.

Mrs. Clarence Zumwalt was visiting W. L. Pemberton Monday. Mrs. Zumwalt with her husband, brother and two friends are on their way to the Pendleton Round-up.

We saw Calvin Mace, the young man of the big auto accident, and found him "fine." His mother and brother are with him and were not the only visitors and he has a telephone put at his bed head" so he may talk to the girls. A fellow who has never boosed nor tobaccoed has a better chance.

We also saw Uncle Jerry Haines, who, while apparently ebbing away, when he hears voices he recognizes is quite alert and can laugh and remember dates as well as ever. Then we saw Mr. Machado, who manifests much of his old time acumen, though without the old time vigor and elasticity.

East Fork Items.

G. G. Swan and Mrs. Swan visited relatives and friends in Douglas county recently. They brought back with them a load of oats for which he paid 90c a bushel on the ranch.

Mr. Fern and Mr. Smedburg, of Sumner, came in over the Coos Bay road with a load of peaches which they bought in Looking Glass valley. Charlie Culbertson took in the Fair at Myrtle Point.

Walter Laird sold his old Ford auto and bought a new one.

Ivan Laird made a trip to Marshfield to sell his 7-passenger Cadillac.

William Miller is at Forget Grove attending high school.

Billie's offer of 400 marks for the first United States of America, American, captured dead or alive, was a liberal offer with the "mark" at such a low price that he can hardly give them away. It took a United States of America man to call that bluff for he hung up 10,000 plunks that are worth 100 cents on the dollar, to the American, who captured the first German taken by the United States troops; no finding some dead man and dragging him across the line in that offer. The devil must be a Billie 2 German, for it is written, "he is the father of liars."

These are the best and biggest days the world ever saw. Never before in the history of mankind has a nation poured out billions of money and millions of men without compensation or reward, only that the divine right of man shall not perish from the face of the earth.

These are great days, the days of billions for the defense of the divine right of man and not one cent for tribute to perpetuating of the brutal instincts of the German barbarian.

Billie 2, you and the whole Hohennollern tribe, are like Ahab and Jezebel, cursed by Jehovah and man.

R. A. Easton.

The check forger who found the Marshfield business men such easy marks and secured $400 of their money in one afternoon has never been apprehended and probably made a clean getaway.

Almost Three Tons of Black Cod
A fishing boat from Newport came in to Coos Bay Wednesday with a catch of 5,900 pounds of black cod which was shipped from Marshfield to Portland. The Times says this is one of the largest recent shipments from there. Still three tons of black cod ought to be speedily absorbed in Portland.
