If you know of an item of news, either personal or otherwise, and feel to mention it to the editor, don't blame him because it does not appear in the Sentinel. Others who know it may have all likewise failed.

Mrs. Mamie Collier went out by Tuesday's train bound for Fendleton to attend the Round-up. She went in company with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Collier and daughter, of Marshfield. They may extend their trip to Salt Lake City.

Those present were Mesdames Mast, Neilman, Hartson, Curry, Tuttle, Hamilton, Pierce, Walker and Misses Allie Phillips, Clara Sherwood, Kathleen Mulvihill and Marian Young.

The first of the week Miss Vera M. Kelley sold her confectionery on Taylor street to I. C. Fredricks, who comes up here from the lower river, where he owns a ranch seven miles above Bandon. Mr. Fredricks' family consists of a wife and two daughters, who will move up here in a couple of weeks. His announcement appears in another column.

The Coquille Honor Guard organization have presented Dr. G. Earl Low with a sash and leather case and belt, stamped with his name. This was in recognition of the doctor's active interest in the Honor Guard affairs. He conducted a class in first aid work for some time and delivered many lectures instructing them in work along those lines.

The Coos Bay Times says: Frank Harlocker, who has been with the First National Bank here for several years, intends leaving next month for Honolulu, where he intends to make his home. His uncle, Judge Jas. L. Cope, who was visiting here, influenced him in his decision to move to the islands. Frank Harlocker is the eldest son of Judge Harlocker.

The first carload of watermelons ever shipped direct to the Coquille valley was unloaded Wednesday by the Coquille Valley Mercantile Co. They came through from Turlock, Cal., in about three days and were in much better condition than those which come by boat with a week or so wait in San Francisco. There were 15 tons in the car or about 1500 melons. Three carloads were also received at Marshfield.

Myrtle Wood at State Fair.

J. H. Oerding and his son, William, started yesterday morning for the state fair at Salem where they will make an extensive display of Myrtle Wood novelties from their factory here. They will not only have their products on exhibition in the Coos county display, but have also secured a concession and will have a booth where they will sell them. The Sentinel supplied them with a number of large placards and a couple of thousand high grade circulars telling all about Myrtle wood in the forest and in the shop. Their business in this line is steadily growing.

Prisoners at Work at Norway.

On Wednesday the first batch of men confined and under sentence in the county jail was sent out to work in the county quarry at Norway. They are in charge of Lee Goodman as special roadmaster with the authority of deputy sheriff. Roadmaster Murdoch says they are doing fine work and he only wishes he had a hundred more men like them to put to work on the roads. It looks as if we were only just beginning to learn how to treat men who violate the laws.

Kentucky Colelaw.

Soak a head of white cabbage for several hours in cold water. Cut in half and dry on a cloth. Shave very fine and put in a cold place.

Dressing: One large tablespoonful of butter, a third of a tablespoonful of celery seed, a pinch of mustard, a teaspoonful of salt, four tablespoonfuls of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of water, a teaspoonful of sugar, one egg.

Cover over a very slow fire until thick. When cold mix with the shaved cabbage. If a very tart salad is preferred add the juice of half a lemon. Two tablespoonfuls of olive oil will improve the dressing. This should be added just before mixing with the cabbage.

H. M. Shaw, M. D., Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat specialist, will be at the Baxter Hotel on Wednesday, Sep. 29th. Glasses fitted.

CITY COUNCIL MET LAST MONDAY NIGHT

Councilman W. H. Mansell was the only absentee at the regular mid-monthly meeting of the city fathers last Monday evening.

City Attorney Bunsley reported to the council that the Coos and Curry Telephone company in their application for permission to raise telephone rates at Marshfield last week, had not asked to raise rates in Coquille, but only on some of the rural lines of Bandon, North Bend and Marshfield.

He also reported an interview with Judge Cope in which the latter admitted that the council was powerless to adjust the first street assessment under the existing decree in the case and as Attorneys Liljeqvist and Graves were absent from the city it was impossible to get a stipulation permitting a modification of the decree.

This modification of the decree, if made, will affect only those property owners whose lots have been sold for improvement taxes or those who failed to take advantage of the bonding act and made no provision for paying the cost of the improvement.

Mr. McIntosh, of the local cheese factory was present to request that the creamery be put on a flat rate for water of about $8 per month. He said other creameries in the state were paying $6 and $7 and he was sure they were not using enough water to run their bill up to $21 a month. He also said their milk receipts were less than in May and June when the water bill was about $17 a month.

Some of the councilmen suggested that there was probably more or less wasting of water, but it was agreed that a second meter should be installed for a couple of weeks as a check on the one now in operation. Mayor Johnson, as well as the councilmen, expressed themselves as in favor of using meters for large consumers, but suggested that if the rate was found too high it should be adjusted. The Coquille Laundry & Ice company pays $15 per month for water and it was the councilman's opinion that the creamery would use at least as much as the laundry.

An ordinance authorizing the sale of the 4.14 acres of city property adjoining the Masonic cemetery was passed unanimously and Wm. Daly has since paid the $414 for the tract and received a deed for it.

The Sitka Spruce company was given permission to connect a four-inch pipe at the end of the city line between Collier's Warehouse and the creamery to run down to their mill for fire protection. They also will purchase and install a meter and pay for all water used, aside from that which may be used for fighting fire.

Several complaints have been made to various councilmen regarding the condition of the old county sewer which was built from the court house to the lower dock before the city's present system was installed. The county has since abandoned that sewer and connected with the city's system but there are several properties on First street which cannot connect with the Taylor or Willard street sewer and are still using the old county sewer. This original affair appears to have broken off and become clogged near the water front and the sewage is escaping on the bank, creating an atmosphere which is not conducive to health or comfort.

When First street is paved a sewer will be laid with which all property can be connected, but for the present the owners wish to use the old sewer. The marshal was instructed to notify all users that this must be repaired so that it will properly empty into the river or it will be declared a nuisance and condemned.

Recorder Lawrence requested a week's leave of absence while he attends the State Fair at Salem next week. The leave was granted and H. A. Young was appointed acting recorder during his absence.

Fred Slagle Goes to Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slagle left yesterday afternoon for their new home at Marshfield. Their many friends here are glad to know that they do not consider this move a permanent one but expect some time to return to Coquille. Mr. Slagle has not disposed of his business interests here, but has engaged Chas. W. Lefler, who came here recently from St. Joseph, Mo., to manage the business for him. Mr. Lefler will be assisted in the tailoring business by E. E. Townsend, who is also from St. Joseph.

Delinquent Daughter.

Hark Dunham, county probation officer, went over to the Bay Tuesday to serve papers upon Mrs. Mary Ferral of South Inlet summoning her to appear today before Judge Watson. It is proposed to take from her the care of her daughter, Mary Ferral. The daughter is now at Mr. Dunham's home here. She is sixteen years old and in a delicate condition and will be sent to one of the Portland homes where girls like her are cared for.

Credit to Whom Credit is Due.

The Sentinel regrets that through unintentional misinformation it was led last week to give credit where it was not due and withhold it where it was due in reporting the operation on Judge Harlocker. The fact is that the operation was performed by Dr. Richmond, of this city, who ranks second to no surgeon in southwestern Oregon. Dr. Horsfall, who was credited with performing the operation assisted and Dr. Hamilton administered the anesthetic. The Judge has been steadily recovering ever since the operation at Gray's Hospital and says that although in his seventieth year he expects to be a citizen of Coquille for twenty years to come.

Charles Myers Married.

J. D. Myers has recently received another letter from his son, Charles, who is with company D of the Third regiment at Clackamas. This company had been expecting for some time to start for the front and has probably done so by this time, though Charley says some of the boys cried when other companies got away before them. He also says that Frank Norris, son of Mrs. Julia Nichols, of this city, is making a fine soldier. Charley himself is a sergeant and is drilling 24 men regularly, taking the second prize in that line. And he was recently a party to a war wedding, having been united in marriage to Miss Anna Kelley.

Coquille a Better Resort.

We note in a paper the statement that a North Bend lady is going to Oregon City to spend the winter in hopes of finding a drier climate for the benefit of her health. Going from Coos Bay we do not question that she will be able to do so; but having lived two years in the lower end of the Willamette Valley we are sure that Oregon City has nothing on Coquille in the matter of dryness. While our rainfall is greater here, we have on the average much more winter sunshine and much less harsh, raw and inclement weather. The point is that people at the Bay can better their climatic environment more easily and more decidedly by coming to Coquille than by going to any point in the Willamette valley.

The Briefs in the Case.

Former District Attorney Liljeqvist was over attending to legal business at the court house today. He says that Coos county is joining Douglas in the Southern Oregon tax case that comes up before the Supreme court at Salem next week. Attorney General George Brown has written a brief for the state in this case, District Attorney Neuner files one for Douglas county and Mr. Liljeqvist has just furnished one for Coos county which makes 100 pages.

Safe in the New Office.

The safe movers who went to work last Friday getting out that 7000 pound iron box that has stood in the southwest corner of the sheriff's office for, these many years, finally accomplished their task and put it in place in the treasurer's office in the new building though it was necessary to strip off a door frame to do it and the concrete entrance to the new building got the worst of it in the encounter with the safe.

The Transfer Station.

Officer Jackson says when he was taken down the river and shown the cache where the Greeks, whose story we told last week, found the booze hidden, he also saw a raft moored at the bank, indicating that here was an "underground railroad" route by which liquor is reaching Coquille from Bandon without the inspection at the ferry which has begun to be dreaded.

Begins to Sell Bonds.

Douglas county voted $550,000 of bonds for road improvement last May, but has found selling them very slow business. On Wednesday Morris Bros., of Portland, took $110,000 worth of them, however, at par less a discount, called an attorney's fee, of $3,900.

Announcement.

I have purchased the Kelley Confectionery from Vera M. Kelley and will retain the name, "Kelley Confectionery." I will assume all stock bills for goods purchased prior to Sept. 18, 1917. I earnestly solicit a continuance of the loyal patronage accorded the former owner and hope to merit the visit of new patrons.

County Clerk Has Moved.

Yesterday the County clerk's office and records were so far moved from the old building into absolutely fire-proof quarters in the Hall of Records that business began to be transacted there. When the treasurer's office is in operation, as it will be in a few days, the new building will be fully occupied "from cellar to garret."

OREGON POWER CO.

Went Out Yesterday.

County Agent J. L. Smith got the Coquille Valley carload of exhibits for the Salem fair loaded and started Wednesday and himself and assistants took the train out yesterday morning. At North Bend they were joined by Commissioner Archie Philip, who will put in his time at the booth on the fair grounds during the fair next week, the same as he did last year.

A big display went forward from the Bay, and we believe Coos county will do herself proud there again; hoping also that she will win the prize for the Coast district.
