MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

Three of our leading citizens abounded themselves at one time. J. O. Stearns, Joe Knight and Jim Brown went to the State Fair.

A Barklow will next week journey southward calling at such places as Shasta Valley and Orland. But he'll dig his spade and throw his beans before he leaves the bosom of his relatives far to a journey among strangers.

Myrtle Point people are not the only ones who fall off the grade with their autos. They report two on the way to Easden Sunday over, off and smashed up by the wayside.

We now take our little "lard" pail to the creamery and get 10 cents worth of sterilized milk every day.

The owner Mr. Black in the transferred bank has taken the Johnson house on Alder and Seventh streets.

"Watch," the farmer's dog, can't run under the automobile nor keep up to it so he has to stay home and anyway if he came Jim would get him.

Mrs. Albert Graham, who went several weeks ago to Orland, Cal., has bought a home there and will remain. Her son, Will, will follow.

Prof. Claude Noel, principal of our grammar schools, is going to it in his usual earnest manner. He always likes his schools and "vice versa." His work this term promises great success, and he is supported by a good corps of teachers. Mr. Noel uses the object lesson where possible.

Last week he took the Eighth grade to the Creamery and by the kindness of Mr. Christensen was shown the first process in cheese making. They will next week take their second lesson and so forth. The next practical (as far as possible) subject to be handled will be the Savings Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hurst, of North Bend, came over Monday to visit their mother, Mrs. N. E. Hurst, who is here from Kansas with her sister who is ill in the Pemberton Hospital, and enjoying a visit with her brothers, the several Ray brothers.

Geo. Shelley was over on the Bay-side for the week and says at North Bend everything in business looks very bright. All the mills are running full time and the dealers need more of our Coquille Valley productions.

You can't tell who will go to Shasta Valley, Siskiyou county, Cal. Sam Stout, of the North Fork, is now en route and Albert is the next and if it does not smelt on him he will proceed to Orland, Glenn county, where it is warm in summer time. They irrigate and raise so many crops of alfalfa in a season that the stories can't agree.

W. C. Cutler has been to Marshfield with his good machine. He is safe home now but the road was slippery about Sumner hill and his car skidded and ran into the bank and could not be persuaded to go farther nor to "backwater" so he called for Archie Taylor, of this place, who has picked many a one out of the soup. He promptly responded and now if anything else out of the ordinary comes up, we will be just as ready to meet it with or without Archie.

Adam John Guthardt and Esther Radabaugh after being married last week were charivari'd this week. Did you ever? Well, they made some noise with their giant powder tin pans, circular saws and cow bells. And then Mr. G. and his frau appeared and invited the noisy bunch in and treated them to cigars and lemonade, and nothing was too good for them. They have cached their implements awaiting the next victims.

W. W. Endicott is making final proof on his homestead with Abe Ward, Hon. Adams and Jack Fabry. Billy has established a nice home on his homestead for himself and family and has returned to his trade of blacksmith with the Southern Pacific. He is in the repair department and the service makes his residence somewhat itinerant.

George Hughes, the night clerk of the Guarin hotel, is convalescent after a severe operation for trouble of the ear. He has not returned yet. His sister, Helene, a trained nurse, is here for a few weeks, a guest of Mrs. Watkins.

W. F. Lehnerr and son came down from their mountain stock ranch Tuesday. The father will take his little grandson home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Treglone in Portland.

A Barklow sold one of his female swine this week receiving for it a $50 check "and not a hog either."

Ed Haines, of Eckley, was in last Saturday laying in the old-fashioned winter's supply of good things to eat when it will rain.

One of our citizens, who was at a farmer's sale down the river, says that a rather big old sow with some very small pigs brought eighty dollars.

It seems that those who are now idle are so from choice. Workers are wanted.

Our big bridge covering the Coquille river and railroad is now assuming proportions.

The rock crusher got something wrong with its interior and the men

Have You Thought About FALL SOWING?

You should secure your seeds early. We have a limited supply of Vetch Seed, just received, which we offer, while it lasts, at 5c per pound.

We can offer you another good buy in Alsike and White Clover, mixed, at 27 1-2 cents. It will pay you to investigate this, as grass seeds are exceptionally high this year.

Mr. A. H. Train takes the Wetmore ranch east of town for the coming year.

Many small thieves are out nights now but the marshal always gets them later if not sooner.

Forest Hermann brought in last week 150 boxes of Gravenstein apples. While they are not so plentiful this year the quality is fine.

C. C. C. was to the State Fair on his return from taking a load of stock to Portland and though he did not specify, he emphasized the fact that it was very great.

Ralph McCrary and wife are here from Portland and have taken a house on First street. Mr. Mc. is Mr. Duff's, the bridge builder's engine man, he will handle the iron.

One of the shipments of cheese reported by the salesman for the Coos and Curry County's Association is 600 cases. He is pleased with the outlook and customers are pleased with the cheese and they ask for a general brand. This cheese is acknowledged to be equal to any in this state and Mr. Ford is endeavoring to keep it up to its attained standard.

The auto stage man says he will keep it going to Coquille all winter if the road gets rocky and that if it is not rocky it will mire a goose after the rains come.

Charlie Barklow is the carpenter who will build an addition to Christian Miller's residence on the north side.

Oliver Corbis is another one of our boys who is in the Navy and writes his mother nice letters and last week sent his picture which shows that Uncle Sam is good to his boys. His cap reads S. S. New York.

Wm. Fabry, of Catching Creek, this week shipped 50 boxes of Gravenstein over to the Bay for which he got $150 per box.

Miss Florence, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Endicott at Wendling, has returned and will commence school in Big Creek district Monday next.

Mrs. J. L. Hurst, a sister of the Ray brothers, is here from Alton, Kansas, the northwestern part.

Mrs. Bird Tichenor, wife of Hon. Frank Tichenor, passed through here this week from Port Orford on her way to Portland. Several years of her girlhood were spent here and all the old time people are her friends.

Lester Dement, assistant cashier in the Flanagan & Bennett Bank for seven straight years, has withdrawn his presence and returned to cattle on the hills. He likes the outside as most of us would if we had the cattle and could ride.

You will be pleased to meet Willie Hendricks. You may see him in the garden these fine days with the same smile he wore in the bank though he uses two sticks when he hops. His general health is good.

Edna Parrish, daughter of Robert Parrish of North Fork, is very low with typhoid fever. Dr. Clarke is attending.

A 10-pound baby girl was presented to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Davenport on last Saturday morning by Dr. O. H. Clarke.

Henry Schroeder, who has returned after a long trip to the north, was continually reminded of our lack of "hospitality," no directions for strangers, nor camping places and water.

Mr. Black, president of the Flanagan & Bennett Bank, has taken the Johnson residence on Alder and Seventh streets. His family will be here next week.

H. C. Harrington, of Powers, called Dr. Pemberton Monday to set a broken girl for his infant daughter.

Mrs. Geo. Martin will come in town with her grand children this winter so that they may have advantage of our good schools.

Miss Daphne Harris fell from the Ray auto truck and the wheel passed over her leg tearing it open from knee to ankle. It is a serious case and very painful. She was taken to Dr. Pemberton's and this morning is resting quite easily. This occurred Wednesday evening.

Myrtle Point doesn't at present need more houses but it does need better ones.

Professor John Gary spoke in the M. E. church last Sunday evening in the subject of the "Evolution of Religion."

Joe Mast is back from the valley. He says it is too dry over there and has brought in everything with him and will remain right here.

Lois Bennett, daughter of J. D. Bennett, of Gravel Ford, now living at Roseburg, is reported past recovery from her illness.

Grandma Hoffman, of the Forks, who has been helpless for many years, last week enjoyed a ride in the family conveyance on her birthday going as far as the Garrett home—the first time in 15 years.

Mrs. Alta Abbott had a birthday party last Sunday. The cake had 30 candles and her cousin, Erwin Barklow, got the button. There were 12 plates and 12 happy people. Alta was Aunt Anne's baby and she was pleased to participate in the entertainment. Her grandson, Erwin Barklow left this week to join the U. S. Navy from Portland.

Mrs. Milton, who has been ill for several weeks, has so much recovered that she has been moved from the Pemberton Hospital to the home of her nephew, Maurice Ray.

K. H. Hansen, of the I. O. O. F., of Myrtle Point, with his wife were among those who went to the funeral of Judge Harlocker. Mr. Hansen has been intimately acquainted with him for over thirty years.

Mrs. Dan Barklow and daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Barklow, made Coquille a visit Monday this week.

The executor of the J. Sears' estate in Myrtle Point sold the house and four lots on Seventh and Spruce streets to J. H. Barton for $1000.

W. T. Dement has this week received a car load of grain stock food and a car of hay, both for his ranches on South Fork.

Isaac Clinton, the Roseburg stage man, says the road is fine now since the rain.

We were to Coquille one day this week and saw Mr. Young, the man who "makes" the Sentinel and also Vinnie Arrington, who is a typo in the Sentinel force.

A. J. Mays, of North Fork, who has been outside, returned in the 29th. He travelled through California, Arizona, Texas, Missouri and Kansas and is glad to be home on his good ranch in Coos county.

Notice!

All persons are hereby cautioned to drink no water from the river, unless it has been boiled for fifteen minutes. The North Fork at least, is known to contain Typhoid Fever germs.
