Mrs. J. A. Jackson returned Tuesday evening from Monroe. She left her father improved, though still in a serious condition.

John W. Clinton, of Norway, called on the Sentinel yesterday morning and chatted very pleasantly about old times in this county.

W. B. Phelps left Tuesday morning for Bandon where he took the Elsiebeth for San Francisco. He will visit a brother there for some time.

The report we not long ago referred to in relation to E. A. Beckett does not appear to have been well founded. He is now at Klamath Falls working in a hotel there.

Have you seen the new Dort car? F. C. Pursley, Agent.

The time is up for the payment of Red Cross subscriptions. Those who are still in arrears are requested to be as prompt as possible in making their payments.

Since the Adeline Smith was sold to the Robert Dollar company she has gone to Portland to load steel and iron for China and will be seen no more in Coos Bay.

The Roosters Club, of Beaver Hill are advertising a dance at that place Saturday, Oct. 20, with a supper at midnight. It's a safe bet there will be some chickens there.

Miss Vera Clink has been over from Marshfield this week taking care of her aunt, Mrs. T. F. Woodruff, who has been confined to her bed since Saturday with a severe attack of grip.

J. L. Mintle went to Coquille Monday morning looking for a farm on which to locate. With his family, he recently came from Spokane. They remain in the city at present.—Times.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Siler are planning to spend the winter in California, hoping the climate there will benefit their eldest daughter's health. They start next Monday and will stop in Southern Oregon for a visit while en route.

F. B. and Foster Phillips returned last Saturday evening from a week's outing down into Curry county where they saw lots of deer tracks and two does but were unable to get a shot at a buck.

Geo. W. Marshall, of Tacoma, representing the Weyerhaeuser interests, paid $2,500 at the sheriff's office here the first of the week as the second half of that company's taxes in Coos county for 1916.

Mrs. A. B. Campbell, wife of the manager of the new Standard Oil depot here, was house hunting in Coquille Monday. They plan to move here soon from Bandon where he has been in charge of the local plant for some time.

The Coquille Orchestra will give another of their popular dances at Bessie Hall tomorrow evening, Oct. 6. Fine music and the excellent floor make these dances a favorite all over this end of the county.

C. A. Machon returned Wednesday afternoon from his trip to Los Angeles. He found the best there to rise and one night paid $3 extra for the privilege of sleeping on the roof of the hotel where he was stopping.

There will be a meeting next Thursday evening of the Red Cross organization, at the Laird rooms opposite the postoffice at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of re-organizing the local auxiliary. Everyone interested is invited to be present.

J. C. Savage has been over here from the Bay for the past two days checking up the month's work on the Glasgow-Hauser project, on which he is timekeeper; he goes out tonight and will distribute the pay checks on that work tomorrow.

Mrs. L. P. Maury suffered a very painful injury the first of the week which will keep her laid up for at least six weeks. She slipped in the bath tub and in trying to save herself twisted her foot in such a way as to tear the ligaments loose.

Word received by V. R. Wilson from his son, Paul, who is in the navy, is to the effect that the latter has been commissioned Ensign and assigned to the Annapolis Training School for 16 weeks intensive preparation. He leaves San Pedro for the east at once.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Williams who live a couple of miles up the river, returned Monday evening from a trip to Portland and Salem, where they visited the State Fair. They report a very fine time. They made the 248 miles from Salem home in their Ford in one day.

F. C. Pursley returned from Portland Tuesday in a new Dort car for which he has just secured the agency for Coos county. He was accompanied by E. E. Baker, who was returning from Portland where he attended the meeting of the Federal Food Commission.

Talking about early settlers, Mrs. J. T. Noser says that she and her mother, Mrs. M. W. Miller, who came here in 1872, cooked for the men who were laying out the townsite of Coquille not long afterward on what had been before that the farm of Titus Willard.

Have you seen the new Dort car? F. C. Pursley, Agent.

O. C. Sanford, treasurer of the local Red Cross organization, says that of the $5,000 subscribed in June for the Red Cross, $4,000 has been paid in. As the final payments on these subscriptions are now past due he asks all who have not yet remitted to do so as soon as possible.

The Coos Bay Times says that Roy Avery, formerly connected with the Coquille Herald, and more recently with the Times, is expected here from San Diego, where he is now in service in the U. S. army. His arrival is scheduled for this week, and he will remain several days.

Frank Burkholder attracted considerable attention Tuesday morning when he came up Front street with a four hours' catch of a dozen or fifteen fine large trout which he had caught in the river here. He was frequently accused by the envious of using a silver hook, but he said salmon eggs was the only bait.

On Sunday last the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Robison was baptized in St. James' Episcopal church by the Rev. Frederick G. Jennings, Vicar. The mother with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sinclair were the sponsors. John Oregon was the name given to the child.

Last they discovered it, he proceeded to cache it beyond "recall" with the result that he landed in the city jail. He will probably be assessed $10 for over indulgence.—Coos Bay Times.

Rev. T. H. Downs, whose new assignment for the coming conference year is at Drain, is very much pleased with the two-acre garden and orchard which goes with the M. E. parsonage there, but says he will not be able to move out there until next week, an addition to the family of his predecessor retarding his departure to a new field.

Word was received here yesterday from C. A. Howard, our former school superintendent, that he had just learned by wire of the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Howard, at her home in Wichita, Kansas. Mrs. Howard spent the summer here with her son and made many friends among our people who will regret to hear of her passing.

Mrs. B. W. Lingo, of Junction City, Kansas, came in Tuesday night for a visit with her sister, Mrs. D. F.

Strang, and other friends. Both the sisters used to live in Iola, Kansas, but Mrs. Lingo says that this is the first visit she has made to Mrs. Strang in 28 years. These ladies would be very glad to see a Kansas picnic held in Coos county this fall. How about it?

Lloyd W. Coleman, assistant county agent, has resigned his position and intends leaving Sunday morning for Corvallis where he will resume his studies at O. A. C. He will graduate next year. Mr. Coleman has manifested considerable ability in the county agent work and should he continue that line after completing his school work we predict for him a splendid success.

On the train yesterday among the incoming passengers was Joseph Mast. He used to live at Broadbent but began to hanker after wider fields to conquer and moved out into the Willamette Valley a year or so ago. He has concluded, however, that there is no better place than old Coos and was coming back "bag and baggage" with a carload of stock, implements and household goods.

Geo. W. Halter, of Arago, who was in town yesterday says he has cleared 45 acres of willow bottom this year and is now burning it, the man who had the contract having omitted that part of the work. Very steadily these willow swamps are being cleared and reclaimed all up and down the river now, and as soon as they are drained and placed in cultivation the products of this valley will grow by leaps and bounds.

J. D. Myers brought into this office yesterday afternoon a sample hill of the potatoes he is digging in P. E. Drane's half acre patch in the bottom this side of Spurgeon Hill. There were eight of them weighing seven pounds—all fine, smooth Burbanks. At present prices that means 21 cents a hill. He says there will be a hundred sacks of them—$300 worth on the half acre. The wonder is why more people didn't plant potatoes last spring.

Dan Wilson came in Monday morning with his left hand swathed in bandages. The day before he had been burning a lot of logs at his place a couple of miles east of town and when his peavie suddenly slipped he fell and his outstretched hand went in among the ashes and cinders. When he jumped up and brushed it off quite a bit of skin came with the ashes. Although very painful, however, the burns were not deep and he will have a good hand again soon.

"Food Will Win the War."

Raymond E. Baker, our county superintendent, was summoned to Portland last Saturday to meet W. B. Ayer, the member of the Federal Food Commission for Oregon. So also was Mrs. S. V. Epperson as a representative of the Woman's Clubs of the county. Mr. Baker went as a representative of the schools. They both went out by Sunday morning's train. Another representative from Coos county was Thomas James from the Bay who is the county chairman.

The federal food commissioner is starting a new campaign of education along the lines of husbanding our food resources and saving all the wheat flour, sugar, meats and fats possible to help our allies and feed our soldiers in Europe. The motto of the commission is "Food will win the war," and on Sunday, October 21, the plan is to begin a big drive something like the Red Cross Drive last June—only it is not money that will be asked for this time but the pledges to save all that is possible along the lines mentioned and to observe two meatless days a week and one wheatless meal each day.

In this way it is possible to enlist every family in the national service in a way in which they will directly help in winning the war by what they do in their kitchens.

It is estimated that if each person in the United States saves one pound of wheat flour a week, we will be able in that way to make up the shortage of supplies for millions of our defenders in Europe.

Talk this matter over, housewives and providers, and plan how you can substitute corn bread, rice and other cereals and eat more vegetables to make the one wheatless meal a day that is asked. The two meatless days a week ought to be an easy matter—or so it seems to the writer with whom every day is a meatless day now.

Grand Jury Made Invalid.

The death of Judge Harbacher renders it impossible to hold a session of the grand jury, of which he was a member, next Monday at the usual period, a week before the regular term of the Circuit court begins. So it will be necessary to wait until the regular panel comes together on the 15th to draw a new grand jury. This still further postpones the time for the men who have been detained here in jail since last spring to get a hearing.
