Coquille Soldier Boy Tells About Life at the North Carolina Station.

Clare Mintonye was so recently a Coquille school boy and has so many friends here that we are sure most of our readers will be interested in the following letter just received by Frank Burkholder from Sergeant C. J. Mintonye, Co. D.—U. S. Infantry, now at Camp Greene:

Dear Mr. Burkholder—You might be surprised to hear from me at least across the United States.

Two weeks ago we thought we would winter on the Pacific coast but after a four-day journey on a troop train, or rather seven trains as it requires seven to move a regiment, we landed in Camp Greene, North Carolina, which is only one hundred and fifty miles south of the Pacific latitude we would have been at Palo Alto, California.

One of the Oerding boys is here in camp I believe but I have not had time to look him up. You may think it strange a soldier not having time but from five forty-five in the morning to six fifteen in the evening on all days except Wednesday afternoon, Saturday afternoon and Sunday, we are on duty and have to be in our tents from ten in the evening to first call in the morning. You see by that, that four hours a day is all of our visiting hours.

We came here for sixteen weeks' intensive training; then we will see service some place.

There are some twenty thousand soldiers in camp and more to come. We have our own amusements, confectionery stores, "canteens" or "post exchanges" as they are called in the army. The Y. M. C. A. has three buildings in camp and on Tuesday evening (tonight) they have a "movie" show, then on Saturday evening either a "movie" or a vaudeville, on other nights the boys entertain themselves, but Sunday evening we have church. Each regiment has a chaplain, who ranks as a commissioned officer, and his chief duty, outside of holding services on Sunday, is to look after the mail for the regiment. We have a government postoffice in camp so we are a city of our own and three miles from any other. We even have one of those baseball score boards and have watched nearly every game of the world's series. Saturday afternoon twelve thousand men watched the first of the series.

The camp is seven miles square making forty-nine square miles to drill and live on. Electric lights throughout camp, it makes some slight at night, a light in each tent, the tents all brown making a colored light. Every company street lined from the mess hall back to the bath house. The mess houses are on the brigade street, fifteen mess halls to the regiment, or one block. There are ten such blocks in the brigade street. Across the street from the mess hall of each company are the company officers' tents and beyond them are the battalion officers' tents then the colonel's tent is beyond that. In order to speak to the colonel a man must have permission from his first sergeant to speak to his captain and the captain's permission to speak to the colonel, so the arrangement is very handy.

If it is possible you might hand out my address to some of the people I know in Coquille. I never hear from there any more since the folks left there. This country and climate remind me of old Coos, mud and water. Some different from North Dakota where it is five below now, but at that I like North Dakota climate the best of the two.

Call to quarters has just blown that means every body in the "kipp" before next call and last call of the day, "taps."

Some people on the outside wonder how an enlisted man likes to be in service. Well with me I like it fine and if I make a commission during this war I expect to stay with the army after the war is over. It is natural for me to soldier any way.

Give my regards to Mrs. B. and the rest of the folks around and I'll "fall in" for "bunk fatigue" until five forty-five a. m. "Bunk fatigue" is the most enjoyed duty of the "Sammie's duty." Respectfully, Clare.

Showing the Oregon Boys.

Harry Oerding sends to the Sentinel a copy of "Trench and Camp," the edition of the Charlotte, N. C. Observer for Camp Greene, where the Oregon boys are in training. Here is an extract from its columns under the head, "Viewing the Southland Through Oregon Eyes:"

"The Oregon boys sure have a warm spot in their hearts for the way they were welcomed by the First Associate Reformed Presbyterian church of Charlotte. The people there sent out touring cars to Y. M. C. A. building 106, where Secretary Winchell had a church party ready. The boys were taken down to church and after service the pastor saw personally that every man was invited out to dinner and then if that was not enough auto called at the various homes where the boys were visiting and brought them back to camp again. "Talk about your hospitality," said one group, "why, they didn't treat us better than this even in California." Thirty-one men were included in the party. If they can possibly get to town tomorrow it's a safe bet where 31 boys will be found.

"The men were at first astonished and then amused at the hazy ideas some people in the South have of the West and Westerners. "I reckon you all never saw a trolley car before," said one carpenter to a Portland, Ore. man. "It sure must seem strange for you to see a real city as big as Charlotte," said another native. The soldier he was talking to hailed from a city of 350,000 and had been around the world."

It is also noted that Donald G. Morse and Fred G. Morse, father and son, are both members of Co. A., O. N. G. Engineers.

Great Britain Wants Them.

There is a report in circulation among the several British subjects in Eugene that all of them who are under the age of 45 years will soon be taken to England to serve in the army. Such is the information said to have been given out by Lieutenant Simpson and Sergeant Mason, of the British army, who were in Eugene for a few days recently on a recruiting mission, says the Register. James Wilkinson, (Jim, the shoe doctor), said yesterday that he was informed by these officers that such action will soon be taken in all parts of the United States and that British subjects who have taken out their first citizenship papers will not be exempted. They are not citizens of the United States until they have been granted the full citizenship papers. Mr. Wilkinson is a British subject and has taken out his first papers, but has not had time to complete his citizenship. He has a wife and family in this city and is under 45 years of age.

If this action is taken by the British government it will mean that several hundred thousand men will be added to the army across the sea.

Deer Harvested His Crop.

The high cost of living will hit Fred Holden rather hard this winter, thanks to the strict laws against killing deer out of season. He lives out on Hunters creek and this year put in a big garden to help out this winter's supplies. He calculated on a ton of potatoes, a couple of sacks of beans, several sacks of onions and other things in proportion. But the deer found his garden. The law said he couldn't kill them, and he couldn't herd them off nights. Last week he thought he would dig what was left of his garden, to save it. He got a sack and a half of potatoes and 15 pounds of beans. Everything else was gone, the deer even eating up his patch of onions.—Gold Beach Globe.

Cranberries Plenty at Bandon.

Cranberry time is here and next week will find between 50 and 60 people gathering in the little red berries at the L. Nordstrom marshes, south of town. Mr. Nordstrom will start out a force of pickers Monday morning. He expects the job to last about a week as he estimates the crop this year will run up to 3500 gallons, making about 450 boxes. Last year's crop was 2500 gallons. Mr. Nordstrom expects to sell about half his crop in Coos county's markets, and the rest will be shipped to outside points. The quality of the local berries is A-1, always bringing the top prices on the market anywhere.—Bandon World.

Mrs. Smith Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets.

"I have had more or less stomach trouble for eight or ten years," writes Mrs. H. G. Smith, Brewerton, N. Y. "When suffering from attacks of indigestion and heaviness after eating, one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets have always relieved me. I have also found them a pleasant laxative." These tablets tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you are troubled with indigestion give them a trial, get well and stay well.

Bonds at $1 Down.

Ben Selling, the Portland dealer, has announced that he will sell Liberty Bonds at one dollar down and one dollar a week for each Liberty Bond of $50.

Applications, enclosing one dollar for each $50 bond desired, should be mailed to Ben Selling, Fourth and Morrison streets, Portland.

Mr. Selling will charge no interest for the use of the money. When the payments are completed, the purchaser will have the bond with all coupons intact. Mr. Selling is doing this simply for patriotism, as it is estimated it will cost him several thousand dollars in interest charges just to carry these bonds.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Most Reliable.

After many years' experience in the use of it and other cough medicines, there are many who prefer Chamberlain's to any other. Mrs. A. C. Kirshstein, Greenville, Ill., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in my mother's home and mine for years and we have always found it a quick cure for colds and bronchial troubles. We find it to be the most reliable cough medicine we have ever used."
