Items From Arago.

There will be an entertainment and basket lunch at Arago school house Nov. 24, Saturday. They will use the proceeds for the building of a large play shed which is much needed.

There was great fun at the Corn Husking Bee at Schroeder Brothers last Tuesday night which was enjoyed by quite a number of young people.

Mr. and Mrs. George Halter are happy over the arrival of a third little daughter who came to their home Saturday, Nov. 17.

Fat Elk school with Miss Beatrice Porteous as the teacher gave a very pleasing entertainment at the close of their school term last week and quite a sum was realized from the lunches sold.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller Sr., and daughter, Miss Grace, moved to Coquille last Friday. Their son, Frank Miller, and family have moved into the old home on Fishtrap.

A branch of the Myrtle Point Food Administration was organized last Thursday at Arago school house. Mrs. Caley Robinson was elected president. They are talking of combining the work of the Red Cross to meet at the same time.

The Commercial Club meets every Wednesday evening at 7:30. Everyone invited.

Send the Sentinel to certain friends

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

Mr. Dunn, of the Dunn & Brown payment contractors, is on the job again and is putting in the concrete sidewalks. He is pleased with Myrtle Point and may make it his home.

Lee Ray has purchased the Dodge house on Fourth and Ash streets. He has renovated it throughout, altering somewhat the interior and using plenty of paint and paper. They have now moved in and are pleased with their new home.

D. W. Mitchell, a general merchandise man from Merlin, Ore., is here this week and would take a car of spuds if he could get them properly graded.

Another Ford is sold and Joe will make the thing pay for itself. He will make a truck of it. Joe Mast, of South Fork, will.

Dr. Hamilton, of Coquille, was up Sunday and Monday to see some of his many friends.

Jim Hobson sends to Portland two loads of hogs and cattle this week.

Miss Agnes Miller is down with typhoid fever. Dr. O. H. Clarke is physician.

Send the Sentinel to Mark Hardman. His son, Lyle, who suffered a severe cut in the face injuring his eye and was here for several weeks under treatment by Dr. Clarke, is now at school again. He is tending 15 traps for fur bearing small animals. Their postoffice is Bancroft.

A dairyman living in town for a few months had his stock dog, a valuable one, shot on the street opposite his house last week. The loss is felt keenly as besides a useful animal he was a pet of the family.

Noah Bonawitz, who makes his living on his ship knees, of which he has shipped many car loads the past year, has moved back to his home for the winter.

Young Mr. W. R. Endicott, owing to marks on his face which no other kid put there, can't shave—much to his annoyance—but his friends don't notice it.

And now Miss Bessie Mullen is sick and her mother is caring for her.

W. W. Endicott, the blacksmith, who was in the employ of the Southern Pacific until he had a leg broken and other injuries, is now so much improved that he can walk. When recovered he will return to his old itinerant job with the company.

The Coquille Valley Shingle company on Catching creek is now rapidly turning out shingles. D. D. Pierce is manager and our Percy Peel is packer. The first car load went out Monday.

Leander, not Clarence Barklow, has moved into the L. C. Barget place on Fourth street.

Roy Barkley, 8 years old and of the Club Cafe, says he will be a newspaper man and so commences by diligently reading every word of the Myrtle Point Items in the Coquille Valley Sentinel.

Mrs. Allie Dodge and son, Austin, have returned. Austin, 8 years, says California is fine but he is glad to be home. Orland is a lively and prosperous place but there are more of the necessities of life in a bunch here than are to be found in most places.

Judge Schliedre, referee in bankruptcy, is here this week for the state in the case of George Rackliff, jeweler.

The Flanagan and Bennett officers have decided to be called "Coos County Bank." Their stationery is so headed.

Milt R. Lee came down from Powers Saturday and returned Monday leaving George in charge of the store. How the boys do grow!

Jeff Wilson is down this week for treatment for dropsy. He saw Dr. Pemberton.

B. Simmons, of Portland, is our new station agent. We are sorry to lose Mr. Landis but are also pleased with his successor. His family will follow.

The big bridge was finished Wednesday. Dan Barklow was the first man to drive over. The contractor has yet to take down the old one.

Miss Clara Crawford is absent for a vacation. She has remained steadily at her post as assistant cashier of the Bank of Myrtle Point since its reorganization. She will visit Portland, Salem, Albany and other points in the north before her return. P. W. Laird fills the vacancy until her return. Myrtle Point.

George Wilson has finished his potato digging and has 950 sacks. He also got 274 lbs. of small white beans from four lbs. planted.

Lester and Ellis Dement, the stockmen, are in Portland buying a bull for one of their herds.

The season is again here when the little waiting room at the depot is much too small. When it rains and the patrons have to go inside and "breathe each others' insides" it is horrible but not healthy.

We were allowed to sit in a meeting of the Commercial Club of Myrtle Point Tuesday evening, and it is an "up-to-date cluster." They handle essential questions that the city council either does not have time for or "something else." They spend the club's money and will raise more. They are close up to the city's needs.

Gus Dietz, of the Farmers' store, is home again with his family from Portland where they had been visiting Mrs. Dietz' folks. He saw Ellis Hermann and his wife. Ellis is now with Meir and Frank but will soon go to the shipyard where big wages are paid.

Albert Carver is down from his homestead on Catching creek this week for supplies. He lost a horse Sunday morning by its falling backwards as it was being led around a tree that had fallen across the trail. The place was very steep and the horse which was led by Mr. Carver's small boy and had a pack on its back fell backwards, burst a blood vessel and expired soon.

Mrs. T. O. Bestal, of Catching, was in this week with a "basketful of eggs" and her husband.

Petty thieves, for the reason that they were afraid to be bigger ones, have been operating about town. The bridge builders have been among the losers.

Grover Cleveland Brown, son of our J. C. Brown, marshal, who is with his wife in Orcutt, Calif., writes his father that they are well pleased with their home and that he has not lost a day's work since he arrived.

If you will look in at the Red Cross meetings you will see more earnest workers each meeting and if you will examine their work you will find it as nice as a fresh box of goods from N. Bros. or any other in S. F. or Portland.

"Deafie," the mascot for many years of the Guerin hotel, has moved to Coquille. He has been a mining prospector for years in the South Fork gold mining district but latterly has enjoyed the hospitality of the hotel here. He is a man of some education and a great entertainer when he has an audience.

Do you remember "Rome" Black? Well his son, Albert, is here, a fine looking young man, arrived by Tuesday evening's train from his home in Pocatello, Idaho, and is the guest of his sister, Mrs. D. W. Giles. His father and brother, George, are living at the Dallas, Ore. His sister, Mrs. Ada White is in Gooding, Idaho.

There are too many students absenting themselves from high school and the teachers don't exactly know why, but it is a great handicap to success.

Grandpa Bigelow has returned to his daughter, Mrs. Harry Guerin's home, after several weeks with his son in the country.

E. B. Lane is offering the Nystrom property for sale, $1800 for 3 acres and house on Willow street in Myrtle Point.

The Oaks Pavilion is offered free to the Commercial Club of Myrtle Point for a basket ball game in which the contestants will be sold men of the town, with a dance afterward. The proceeds will be used for city improvement by the club.

S. S. Reed and two others with carloads of Dunkard friends, who were men, went over to Fairview Tuesday and Wednesday and gave their services to the building of the Union church. The Ladies' Aid put before them the best food they ever ate away from home.

Many of our people were pleased with their visit to the Potato and Corn show in Coquille—and the lectures—all who went. The spuds were particularly fine but don't equal the potatoes of the coast.

Mrs. Tom Guerin has returned after a three weeks' visit in Oakland and Santa Rosa, Calif., where she visited her relatives including her sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie Deyos.

It will be well for dairymen to keep accurate account of their affairs as many are receiving incomes that will be subject to taxation and any camouflage will be dealt with in the usual thorough federal manner. The special officers will be here in the near future.

A. Christensen now has a car.

J. W. Murry has a boil on the back of his neck—on the cords you know. Hurt? All he can stand, for it is a tough place and makes him very tender. If he could see the blamed thing he might do something to it but as it is he tries to grin and bear it and the young ladies ask, "How is Mr. Murry?"

Many were interested in the passing of Uncle Jerry Haines and we have the following data. He was born near Akron, Ohio, in 1880. His father was a charcoal burner and Jerry had little chance for education though in his life time he acquired enough to make him a competent business man and was well informed on public affairs. At nine years he was driving on the canal in summer and in winter chopped wood to make charcoal. At 23 years of age he started for the Pacific coast crossing the isthmus by way of the Chagres river then up the coast by the steamer New Orleans to San Francisco. From there he went to the mines at Hangtown, not far from the present town of Gridley, and from there to Klamath county mines and then to San Mateo county, where he engaged in the redwood lumber business becoming a contractor supplying logs to the mills. He came to Coos county in 1893 for the Simpson Lumber Company of San Francisco. In 1899 he conducted the North Bend sawmill which had a capacity of 150,000 feet per day. After that he logged on Coos Bay, then settled on Coos river where he conducted a dairy farm. Then he went to Bandon where he kept hotel one year. In 1896 he purchased a fine place of land near Myrtle Point and lived here to the time of his demise being 87 years old. He is said to have succeeded in every one of his undertakings. Mrs. Haines died in 1899. There remain three sons and three daughters. His remains were interred on the Bayside with members of the family who had gone before.

The old bridge will be taken down Friday and like any other useless old thing we're glad, for it has been like a death trap for two years or more.

G. G. Swan called Dr. Pemberton on account of illness in his family this week. The doctor also made a trip to Powers this week to see Mrs. Cochran who is very ill.

The families of P. W. Laird and Max Lawhorn are reported by Dr. Pemberton to be well again.

Dr. Pemberton announces the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Will Anderson, of Stringtown, Nov. 22.

J. N. Gearhard and wife are parents since some day this week of another baby.

Ben Tracy, the Arago brickman, shipped from here this week to Marshfield three cars of tiling and to Bandon 15,000 brick. He has just finished a kiln of brick and has another of tiling ready to burn.

L. H. Pearce, our automobile and harness man, has gone to the front for his country—Canada—and is now in Toronto. He is one of our most respected townsmen and shows his "blood" by promptly responding to his country's call. Mrs. Pearce is now doing her bit and no small one in taking care of their large business.

Ray Dement has gone north to buy a thoroughbred bull for his herd.
