

OVER THE TOP IS THE WAY THAT PRICES OF MERCHANDISE ARE GOING

And We Wish to Make Some Special Emphasis of the Lines We Carry

A BIG STOCK OF MEN'S FURNISHINGS, CLOTHING AND SHOES

MEN'S SUITS
of Every Kind and Color
$12⁵⁰ to $25⁰⁰

A Large Assortment of Men's Corduroy Pants
$3⁰⁰ to $6⁷⁵

The price of many new goods bought after the first of the year will be higher. We want you to get your share of these goods before prices advance.

Men's & Boys' HATS
of all kinds

UNDERWEAR
SOX, HANDK'FS OVERALLS
and GLOVES

CURRIN'S LOGGER
and
RANCHER SHOES

We also have a nice assortment
Mens Bathrobes, Silk Handkerchiefs
Eancy Sleeve Holders, Combination Sets, Neckties, Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.
for Christmas Presents

MEN'S DRESS AND WORK SHOES
WOMEN'S & CHILDREN'S SHOES

MEN'S OVER-COATS,
RAIN
COATS,
MACK-INAWs,
and
LOGGER
SHIRTS

The HABERDASHERY F. C. PURSLEY, Prop.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

Corporal Louis Starr was last heard from in New York on his way to the American front in France. Louis was one of our Myrtle Point boys.

The new face at the Telephone office is that of Miss Goldie Child from Coquille.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brady are parents of a baby girl born Wednesday Nov. 28.

Dr. Pemberton says, born to H. W. Oddy and wife at Cooper Bridge a son on Saturday, Nov. 24.

Leander C. Belieu, son of Jesse Belieu, has enlisted in the navy as fireman, 3rd class.

273 by Rev. Thomas Barklow, Lloyd Lackey and Charlotte Rooks were united "cleaved" together in the bonds of matrimony. This was done Thanksgiving day. But they'll never forget. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the minister in Myrtle Point.

Harry Luttrell, son of Mrs. Jennie Luttrell of Broadbent, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy as fireman.

Mrs. Wesley Barklow is again removed to Salem as she is suffering from a third attack of insanity. Friends have done all they could for the unhappy woman. The officers of the institution came for her.

The Rev. Thomas Barklow reports another passed and placed away—the 12-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blalock, of upper Fishtrap. She died from an attack of appendicitis at the Grayce hospital at Coquille. Interment was made in the home cemetery.

Our Red Cross people have reorganized as a Branch of the Red Cross society, the same officers and committees being elected. They have 25 suits made and ready for shipment. We see big bundles of yarn in their window from which they will knit wristlets, sox and mufflers in sets. The children in the country schools want to help and they will be given an opportunity.

Hale and Peterson are farmers living in the Middle Fork valley. They have a nice cosy home but no wives or wife. Their address is Bridgn. They have had some samples of Sentinels and wish "you'd put them on the list so they never will be missed."

The ladies of the country are invited to look in and lend a few stitches for the young soldiers, by the ladies of the Red Cross in town—next door to the L. H. Pearce Garage.

Gravel has been laid from Maple to Spruce street on Hermann avenue and from that point to A street on Spruce, and if it don't rain too much, will be carried on down hill to Railroad avenue to meet the hard pavement. Halleluyah!

Jim Hobson shipped two cars of stock this week, one of cattle and one of hogs, among which were many fine animals. One hog weighed 500 pounds.

Mrs. Jennie Towne, aunt of Mrs. O. H. Clarke, after a summer's visit, returned to her home in Redwood City, Calif., leaving Monday morning.

His name is Smith. We are glad to see him. He comes from Portland and will make and give us our Enterprise, vice Mr. Schulz.

John Mumford and son, of Hall's creek, were in this week and took out their usual supply of winter's stock.

Gaither Harrison, brother of Mrs. Archie Taylor, met with a severe accident in the North Bend Mill & Lumber company's mill, in which his scalp was laid open. The wound was severe but not dangerous.

Allie Bartlett, who was married a short time ago, now lives with his wife under the old parental roof and Grandpa Bartlett will live in one of new lumber by himself—at least till he returns.

We are pleased to note that James Arrington is again on deck at the store which Z. T. Johnson kindly cared for during his several weeks' severe illness.

Messrs. Lee and Cal Ray, with their wives, attended on Thanksgiving a family reunion at Cooston. A sister was there from Kansas, and Miss Nona Ray, of Marshfield, was also present. The Tur? All gone, sir!

The force of habit is very strong in the majority of people as may be seen by the big loads of groceries the farmers are carrying home just as they used to before they had roads.

Mrs. J. O. Stummeler is this week visiting in Marshfield. She went over on Monday.

Miss Bertha Northup is the new young lady in the Club Cafe.

H. V. Whitney and family are here from Portland because they heard this is a good town to come to, and we will prove it to them. They will live in the house lately acquired by Joe Mast on B street.

Willie Weekly brought in a load of fine fat swine this week which were included in Hobson's shipment Tuesday.

Mrs. T. S. Zimmerman, of Powers, is another one here to see the Brady baby—Mary Elizabeth (Betty).

The new conductor on the passenger train is here with his family and they will live in the Albert Graham property. His name is E. W. Maddox.

Tom and Charlie are now engaged in building a large bungalow for Grant Bros., on the South Fork. Messrs. Dickson and McCracken have built more buildings in the vicinity of Myrtle Point than we can count. Jim and John Grant have always been good farmers and progressive citizens.

Alfred Long has returned with his family from the bay side and is living in the Al. Baker house. Mr. Long will resume his position with the Christenson creamery.

S. A. Hufford, of Bridge, who bought the Pruitt place one-half mile out on the North Fork road, has moved in and his first marketing is a basket of five-cent eggs.

Joe Mast is very well pleased with his lot and he and his partner have added another lot to his lot—a small boy Saturday, Dec. 1—and named in honor of the doctor, Oliver Clark Mast. The little fellow received a bank book in appreciation of the honor.

George Kribbs has now landed in the oil field with his brother-in-law, Grover Brown, and struck a good pay on the first day there. Mrs. Kribbs will follow in a few days.

Mr. Sigsby, of Stringtown, has traded his ground there for 80 acres on Catching creek, the homestead at one time owned by E. C. Roberts.

Ray Duncan, the jitney man and musician, has accepted a position with the Bandon theatre and laid his jitney on the shelf till spring.

Die North Fork is first uber alles. The waters covered the ground deep last week but the South Fork did not overflow.

Last Saturday the Brethren held their quarterly meeting at which time they elected new officers.

Your correspondent was made sorrier by having it rubbed into him that Myrtle Point was not in last week's Sentinel. It was started.

There is nothing positively known of the resuscitation of the Forks sawmill. Great expectations and no realization.

The latest message Lawrence Machado has of his father, who lies in the Hamilton hospital in Coquille, is that his recovery is doubtful. His daughter, Bessie, is with him.

Harvey Johnson starts for Grenada, Cal., going by carload.

The Brethren church is the first to pay their paving assessment.

Sam Landis, late station agent here, has a position as bookkeeper in the office of Cland H. Giles, our leading attorney and salesman for the Coos & Curry Cheese association.

The Red Cross has more members and many more workers. The knitters are waiting for needles.

Another potato buyer is here this week but like others looked and listened but did not buy. They all hate mixed varieties and small potatoes. Beans are not so much inquired for, though the country is full of them. A bean and spud market would be the proper method.

Of U. S. government thrift stamps, Postmaster Fensler was first to buy and Henry Ploger (Uncle Henry) the second. Great inducement to thrifty people!

The remains of Mrs. Martha Hainie were removed from Myrtle Point cemetery to Robinette, Ore., by the sons, where they will be interred with those of others of the family. Mr. Schroeder, of Berry & Schroeder, undertakers, superintended the removal.

This week Messrs. Dean and Brown completed the last piece of concrete sidewalk ordered to be laid on Spruce street.

Go to Berry & Schroeder for the Famous Pathophone. Best on Earth! No needles to change.

Mrs. Peter Coles returned Tuesday evening after a two weeks' visit with her daughters on the Bayside, taking Thanksgiving dinner with them.

Mrs. Frank Nelson, of Norway, was here Wednesday on business and visited with Mrs. Nancy Barker.

E. C. Powers went to Powers Wednesday and returned next morning.

The people of Catching creek held a road meeting last week and the part who thought they would not win moved for an adjournment which was carried. Afterward those who remained conducted another meeting, carrying their point. Many of the people pronounce Catching, Kitchin creek.

Mrs. Nancy Barker, the Bread woman, for a vacation, went over and took care of her mother's house for a week and her mother took care of the Bread store. Now they are both rested and ready for all business that may come.

David Lakey, of Marshfield, is the man who has leased the dairy ranch of Lee Weekley on North Fork.

Bill Abby writes us from Tennessee, saying that he is having a good time. He is at his old home in Nashville, where he was married Nov. 17, and he wants to be remembered to his friends and he will be home about Christmas as there is no place to him like good old Oregon.

Thomas Barklow married another willing couple—Edward Lackey and Miss Charlotte Helen Rooks on Thanksgiving day.

A stranger suggests that we might drop the hitching rail question long enough to remove about 40 old useless barns and it would much improve the appearance of our town.

John Lewellen and Henry Volkmer are each treating themselves to a cement walk before their properties on Fourth street.

David Overholzer, a brother of James Lewellen, and a minister in the Brethren church, is here from his home in Cavina, Cal., and will preach at 10 a. m. Sunday morning in the Brethren church here.

Logs are being cut on the North Fork for the Whitaker sawmill.

German is yet being taught in our H. S.

Miss Metta Hansen, teacher in the Grammar school, entertained the members of the select club, the Allah, Tuesday evening.

H. B. Steward, of the Pool Hall, Rest Place and news-stand, has been at home sick for the past 10 days.

Lewis Strong, the Agricultural implement man, is having built next to his store a repository for automobiles.

N. S. Phelps is the builder.

Mrs. A. Houge says her sister, Mrs. M. R. Charles, left San Francisco Nov. 20 with her husband, Dr. Charles, who goes to Foochow, China, as medical missionary. They have two small daughters, one of whom was born in China where they were stationed before.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Cribbins, of Middle Fork, called for Dr. Pemberton on the occasion of the birth of their "firstborn," who is a boy. This event occurred on Thanksgiving day.

Albert Panter was operated on at the Pemberton hospital for a minor trouble this week.

Paul Davis, a boy of about 12 years, fell off the woodshed last week, cutting his knee which had to be stitched and Dr. Pemberton was the doctor.

The Myrtle Point and Lundy cheese factories expect to continue all winter. Hitherto they have closed for a few months.

W. D. Webb, who has been absent for a few years over in the valley, returned this week to stay. Father, mother, children all glad to be here again—like coming home.

George Morehouse is here from his new home in Southern California, seeing friends and closing up business.

W. C. Cutler returned a few days ago from Fresno, where he had been on account of the death of his father. He had for many years lived on his fine ranch near Selma but for the last few years had been living with his daughter in Fresno, where he passed away.

George Massey, of Broadbent, is conducting a logging camp near there for the Johnson Lumber company. Twenty men are employed and the logs will be carried on the river.

Ira Cornelius and family will remove to Powers next week. Mr. Cornelius is now employed there.

Frank Henderson says the kiddies in his house are all sick. They have the cough that whoops. One said this a. m., "I lost my breakfast! Give me something to eat!"

Mrs. O. H. Clarke gave a musical at her home Friday of last week for the members of her music class and their friends, about forty being present. The evening passed quickly with music and games, after which refreshments of sandwiches and cider were served.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Diets, builder, is very sick this week. Dr. Pemberton is attending.

Chickens no more run on the Grammar school grounds, so that when the little ones fall down they will not get so muddy.

Owners of residence property in Myrtle Point must have the same connected with sewer by Jan. 1, 1918, or be subject to the penalty of the city ordinance.

Dr. Pemberton called to see Albert Schroeder at Norway and G. B. Longhead at Bridge Monday night. He also reports Mrs. Gus Hamilton as greatly improved.

Sylvia Davis, late chief in the Telephone office but for several weeks a very sick girl is now reported to be convalescent. Hello! Old.

Word comes from Myrtle Point that C. Milton Schultz, under whose management the Myrtle Point Enterprise has been so severely criticised for its pro-German leanings, has exchanged that paper for the plant and good will of the Pacific Motor Boat, a magazine published at Portland, and Seattle.