A Correspondence Card

For acknowledging the Christmas Gift

It is the one final touch that shows appreciation. It is the "Thank You" which you cannot say in person. Acknowledging gifts does not require a long letter—just a short note will carry the message of appreciation full as well. For this purpose nothing is more appropriate than a correspondence card, because:

- First—It is neat and convenient
- Second—It carries your note of thankfulness simply and directly.

We have a fine line of correspondence Cards

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS

Myrtle Point
Warren Hammond, adopted son of Mrs. Joe Williams, is the latest one to go to war from Myrtle Point. He enters the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Volmar and children visit Mrs. Volmar's parents this week. Mr. and Mrs. Schunke, who live on the Bay side.

Another one of our boys, a nephew of Frank Davis, by name Harry F. Davis, leaves this week as a volunteer to join the army.

Our new newspaper man will shake the "Enterprise" smell off by moving into another building. Since last issue he has been to and returned from Portland.

Mr. Barton, who purchased the Sears property, is now improving it. He has cut down a myrtle tree and taken down the picket fence on Spruce street.

Mrs. Grover Wyant is in the Pemberton Hospital after a major operation. Mrs. Albro is nurse.

Mrs. W. B. Mayberry starts for Portland this week where she will visit friends.

O. B. Allender, an old friend of Roy Duncan, but recently of Modesto, Cal., is here to locate.

Frank Pearson reports the sale of the Davis and Knight meat market to Fred Summers, a young man from Eugene. He will be on hand to conduct the business Jan. 1, 1918.

W. M. Weekly at the sale of registered Jersey stock at the Fair grounds Monday secured two cows at $500 and $550 respectively and could you have seen them you would have respect for his judgment.

Mr. Dickerson, of the City market, is on one foot owing to his having stepped on a rusty nail point up.

Volkmur Hardware man is the first this fall to clean out the old shack lumber back of his business property.

It is thought by some that Mrs. Kemp's talk here on the subject of less wastefulness, in the kitchens especially, in these war times will make quite as much impression on the children as on the elders.

Miss Hooton, of Middle Fork, who has been unable to walk for several years as a result of scarlet fever and rheumatism, was taken by Dr. K. A. Leep last week to Portland to be treated by a specialist in the hopes that she may be cured. She is a bright, cheerful and kind young lady and has always been busy making some articles with her hands. We'll all be glad to see her walk.

Mr. Jason Machado, whose demise occurred last Friday, was born 71 years ago in the Azores Islands and of Portuguese parents and was one of a family of 21 children. The name Machado has been prominent in several Latin countries and the mother of this man was of gentle blood. When a boy he came to America and engaged in the codfish business with a vessel running to Georges Bank off Newfoundland. At about the age of 20 he made his way to New Orleans where he engaged in business with good success. He married there and came to this valley in early times where he joined his brother, Alfred, in the fishing business on the lower river. Afterward he conducted a hotel in Coquille. In 1890 he came to Myrtle Point and started a meat market which he conducted, adding to his stock till he was handling a stock of general merchandise and dropped the meat business—always successful and accumulated much property. In 1906 Mrs. Machado died and since that time his health has not been good and he has been unable to drive his business with his usual vigor. On Nov. 30 he underwent a major operation at the hands of competent physicians but had not the vitality to survive and passed away in the Hamilton Hospital in Coquille. The body was brought to Myrtle Point and buried beside his wife who preceded him. Being a Roman Catholic he was buried according to the ritual of that church. Priest Schneiderhorn conducted the funeral services. There remain the four children—Jason Jr., who is in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; Lawrence, who is here; Glenn, who came to be at the bedside of her father and is named executor in the father's will.

Miss Agnes McCracken was married to Mr. Furrows, who was principal of our Grammar school last school year, and in which Miss Agnes was one of the teachers. She is or was one of our grammar teachers this term till last week, when she began to follow the Furrows. She is not the kind to look back and is just as likely to be turned into a big cube of sugar as a pillar of salt.

Mrs. D. A. Huling fell at the threshold of her own door from striking her foot and her wrist was cut in the fall and required doctoring. She is again out and about her usual daily duties.

George Griffin expects to winter at Grants Pass where the climate is more suitable to his condition.

Harvey Barklow, son of J. D. Barklow, will return with Mr. Overholzer to Cavina, Calif., for his health and if the climate is beneficial, will send for his family.

Jesse Clinton says a Ford machine is like a young baby. Ask him.

W. H. Carille is making good money on his knees. He, with his men, got out 42 ship knees in 8 days.

Joe Laird, of Bridge, came down last Saturday with potatoes, butter and 5 cent eggs.

Fred Camper, a German about 50 years old, living alone about a mile and a half out by the Roseburg road while plowing near the river, had the misfortune to lose his team. While plowing close to the bank of the river the overhanging bank sloughed off carrying the team into the river and having the harness on and plow attached could not extricate themselves. This occurred Monday morning. He is a poor man and no doubt will be helped as is customary in this precinct.

Dr. Pemberton reports a major operation for Mrs. Wyant, from Coquille, Saturday—that his patient, Mrs. J. T. Sperry, is much improved—that he assisted Dr. Richmond in a major operation Tuesday and made a professional trip to the Wm. Cribbins' home at Bridge Wednesday evening.

Albert Schroeder has been quite ill with muscular rheumatism at his home near Norway. Dr. Pemberton was called.

A new man in town is James Mitchell, Bay City, Oregon, and he wants to stay.

Mrs. Joe Mast is very sick this week, so that the family will not soon move to the ranch.

F. A. Dickerson, a meat man of the City Meat Market, is walking yet on one foot owing to his having abused the other one.

The Machado store is again open for business.

The fourth grade in the grammar school presented itself with an "Old Glory" flag this week. They bought it with the money they received as prizes at the Coos and Curry county fair in September. Miss Metta Hansen is teacher.

This week a picture was shown at the show in which a woman appeared to be falling into a steaming caldron of boiling water which caused several women and children to ejaculate, "Oh! Oh! Oh!"

We have two weddings to announce for "about" Christmas, but the news is given with a string to it, but we'll let you know early, who?

George Houghton, one of the Norway bachelors, was in town Thursday having calks added to his horses' feet. Whenever there's any work on the road to be done George is there with his big, active, strong, willing, sharp, calked team. If he's one of those to be married Christmas, we don't know it. He could be.

Jim Hobson shipped a car of stock Thursday. As often happens a hog got away but after running under a few barns and houses was rounded up by a few men and shipped with the rest of the "breakfast bacon."

We are informed that the S. P. must put another agent here as there is another place for Mr. B. Simmons, the present popular incumbent, in the near future.

Grand Master Trefen, of the order of the I. O. O. F., visited here on official business Wednesday leaving for Bandon next morning. He is a lawyer of Ashland, his office adjoining that of Louis A. Roberts, whom he all know, who he says is having a fine patronage.

Chas. Hall, president of the Coos and Curry Telephone Co., was here this week on business.

And now it is said the "across the river people" want the bridge extended to the foot hills. We think and we're sure it would be, that is, if they can get or will build it, well, better than wading in the mud.

The grammar school has already begun to make flower garden. Did you see their fine garden last year—and previous years?

Uncle Sam Johnson, whom we all know, will leave next week for Shasta Valley, his final home. He will continue to live with his son, Harvey, who is already there preparing the home.

Mr. Johnson in very early times took up a donation claim on the South Fork of the Coquille seven miles above Myrtle Point and received the government title for it Joe Mast, one of our best dairymen, has leased it and will make good as he always does.

Dr. O. H. Clarke, assisted by Dr. Hamilton, performed a major operation for Mrs. Volney Huntley last week.

I. W. W.'s, at least two suspects, were on exhibition in our city hall Wednesday. On the information of Chas. Zimmerman, a deputy U. S. marshal, the Assistant U. S. District Attorney C. F. Knight, of Marshfield, sent U. S. Marshal Frank Berry for them and their examination was conducted by Attorney McKnight in our city hall, Attorney S. D. Fulford appearing for the defendants. G. Erdtman, born in Germany, and not naturalized, and C. Falls, born in Pennsylvania, U. S. A. E. A. Dodge, J. P., administered the oaths and Miss Goldie Michaels was court stenographer. More than the usual amount of cigarette, cigar and pipe smoke was present. The hall was full of men and part of the time the doors were closed. Mr. McKnight in his usual vigorous manner examined several witnesses and allowed counsel of prisoners to do the same. The defendants were then given a chance to tell in detail of themselves, leading up to the present, which they did in detail fluently. They spoke as men of education. Their ages were 39 and 42 years respectively. They were very well mannered.

It seemed obvious from the testimony that the Germany was guilty as charged and that the other was a "poor dog Tray," that he could not have been an associate without knowledge of his business; therefore Mr. McKnight asked Judge Dodge to make the bond for him $2500, and that of the German and I. W. W. $5,000. While the prosecuting attorney was seemingly severe, he granted the prisoners all the latitude possible. He endeavored to refresh Mr. E.'s mind by referring to a time they met in a certain place in San Francisco but the Boche could not remember the occasion. He allowed them to sleep in the hotel as the "cooler tank" and the U. S. marshal took them yesterday to Portland where they will be placed in the Multnomah county jail to await the action of the federal court.

County Will Help With Dredge.

Harry Wilkins, of Lakeside, representing a committee of Ten Mile people, appeared before the County court here last week requesting the investment of part of the $2100 available under the recent road levy in a small dredge for exclusive use on the lakes and on Ten Mile creek. The people want the creek dredged out so the mean water level will be about three feet lower than under present conditions. The dredge will also be used on the channel between the two lakes. The County court thought favorably of the plan and agreed to visit the section desired to be improved and make an inspection before ordering.
