A Guaranteed Liver Treatment

THE function of the liver is to filter the waste products-poisons from the blood and to produce bile, the fluid which aids digestion in the small intestine, and which is also a natural purgative.

If the liver slows down in its work, the entire system suffers—we have sour or sick stomach, headache, indigestion and constipation.

Rexall Liver Salts

Contain certain salts commonly found in the celebrated mineral water at Carlsbad—the famous spring visited by people from all over the world suffering from chronic liver trouble.

A tablespoonful of REXALL LIVER SALTS every morning for a week or ten days is similar to the CARLSBAD TREATMENT.

COQUILLE GARAGE, A. A. PAUL, Prop.

MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

Louis Lett, father of Joseph and William, and living on the North side, was afflicted by a paralytic stroke last week.

The senior Mr. Mullen, a G. A. R. man, is very ill. He is in the lower hotel and being nursed by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Geo. Mullen.

Miss Goldie Michaels for sometime stenographer for Attorney Giles, giving fine service, has accepted a like situation with a shipbuilding company at the Bay and will begin in her new position this week. She leaves many friends and admirers here.

Burr, the big carpenter, is this week building big cattle sheds at the feeding yards of Lester and Ellis Dement on the south side of town.

Wm. P. Rodenbaugh, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Campbell of Myrtle Point, was married to Miss Leata D. McCracken last week. Their home was Springfield but they were married in Eugene. The young man worked here with his father in the L. H. Pearce garage last summer and was very popular with our young folks. He was very young but he swore that he was old enough and the clerk started him. He said he had no guardian.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Dement are home from Portland where they went to see their brother Harry, who is in the U. S. Military service. They also saw their sister, Mrs. White in Marshfield on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Long are the happy parents of a first son, since Sunday, Dr. Clarke reports.

Young man, whose initials are C. A. R., has returned to Coos county and is a choke-setter in a logging camp. He took a few days off to celebrate with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spire came down from Powers for the holidays and met their two sons here on their vacation from the state university.

Jim Hobson says his animals were fat which he shipped last Saturday.

Bob Clinton is this week at his brother John's down the river, baling hay.

Ben Tracy, of Arago, is now hauling wood for his kiln burning next season.

A. D. Hall, a new man here from Idaho, has bought the Gus Bender property and has moved into it and likes it.

277. The figures referring to Rev. Thos. Barklow's clerical work in last week's items were for the current year for matrimony committed 19 and for funeral sermons preached 38—total number of marriages solemnized 277.

Red Cross interest is growing as may be seen by the number engaged in their room. Mrs. Coles has 41 knitters knitting and the sewers are sewing on pajamas.

N. S. Phelps is building a garage for Verne Lundy for his Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller went over to the Bay last week and Mr. Miller suffered the removal of tonsils and adenoids. Dr. F. M. White was the operator.

Ben is here from Powers whiling away the hours. The boys are always glad to see him, the same with the girls—at least 'twould seem so.

Katherine Smith is another teacher in town for the holiday season—teachers on upper Catching creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Anderson, of Bandon, were here over Sunday to see their grandfather Mullen, who is very ill. Miss Belmore, a niece of Mr. Anderson, also accompanied them.

Miss Opal Whobrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Whobrey, is in the hospital of Dr. Pemberton this week, now recovering from a major operation.

W. H. Carlile, one of those who can enjoy himself best when he shares his good things with his neighbors so he had 22 in all at his table Christmas. There were on his table pig, turkey and chicken, with fruits and pastry in proportion, and all went home full and consequently happy.

Chester Adams, son of Charlie Adams, is home from the U. of O. for holidays with his parents.

Charles Barklow is the carpenter adding the improvements to the George Steward Sr. residence on Cedar street.

Uncle Charlie Schroeder comes in now and then and we older ones know him and are glad to see him. He goes this week to Baker county to see his first grandson whose advent he has just heard of.

Henry Knight has thrown off on his bull dog because he would fight everything in sight and the brute did not know when his feet were muddy nor where not to step.

Mrs. A. N. Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Culberison of North Fork, has returned from Hawaiian Islands and is now in Portland and will soon visit her relatives here. Her husband is an expert machinist and they follow where such service is required.

Dr. F. M. White and family are

Here for the holidays with their relatives, the several Dement families and the Dr. Fearnly family.

The 12-year-old son of Mrs. Roby Shull had tonsils and adenoids removed by Dr. White while he was here on his visit.

Ben Shull's boy, Jack, returned last week from some place in Montana and is now enjoying putting his brogans under the old man's table—a good place for any of our feet.

Lieut. Ross, of the 12th Infantry, U. S. A., arrived last week and with the permission of the young lady, her parents and all interested, carried her away to San Francisco, to army headquarters at the Presidio, but first they were married at the home of the bride's parents on Ash street. Miss Eugenie Black, daughter of J. A. Black, of the Coos County Bank, and Lieut. Ross, a drillmaster serving at the Presidio, were the happy contracting parties. They were married Dec. 29 at 8 p. m. by Rev. F. S. Drake.

They took train the following morning for their California home. Miss Black made friends of all whom she met the short time she has been here and the U. S. officer is the kind of looking man that appeals.

Mrs. Ida Hansen this week is visiting her daughter, Florence, in California, having left here Sunday, Dec. 30, by rail—but California hasn't us skinned for weather this season, up-to-date.

The Bert Allen bootlegging case came up yesterday. Bert was on hand as we all knew he would be—also his lawyer, E. C. Roberts, the mild prosecuting attorney and His Honor, the Judge, and the usual "loose ones" who like this sort of entertainment, in different attitudes about the room. Mr. Allen had changed his mind and pleaded guilty, both of the attorneys talking for him. The judge said, "I fine you $50" and he was given 10 days in which to raise the money. He has friends and will probably not have to suffer the alternative. The booze sympathizers were conspicuous by their absence.

L. M. Supiee, for ten years the manager of the Flanagan bank here, leaves the first of this month and will go to Roseburg to take a much needed rest, which he has not had since his connection with the bank. Very many will miss him as he was ever ready to minister to the needs of his customers and his promptings were always right.

Miss Helen Whitaker is one of those who are home from the state university for the holidays with her father and mother.

One of the most noticeable changes recently is the loss by the Hub of its mustache. The place looks bare.

Sam Dietz is the carpenter employed on the Guerin hotel improvement.

There are many new pupils at the grammar school this year.

H. B. Steward has sold his billiard hall reading room and rest place to S. S. Darnell.

There is a big mining deal on right now which makes interesting talk at least for several of our citizens.

The Red Cross ladies at work in the Shine building have shipped 45 suits and have now increased the knitting force to 61.

The gramma of the numerous Miller family with her grand-daughter, Agnes, have moved into the Page house on Maple street.

Mrs. Joe Maat is much better and they will soon be settled on the Broadbent ranch.

Bright Bros. are now making regular trips every other day with their boat to Granvel Ford.

N. P. Peterson has now one of those sanitary, sensible show counters. They look good to the customers.

A new electrician has appeared in town. You may see his demonstrations at the Club Cafe—Master Roy Barklow is he.

Miss Zelia Barklow, after serving well for several years the patrons of the Al Houge store, has now undertaken what appears to be a more congenial servitude, inasmuch as the party of the other part agrees to be governed by the same promises made by the aforesaid. Miss Zelia was united by marriage to Earl E. Williams, of Marshfield, Sunday, Dec. 30. The minister was the Rev. Ernest Root, lately ordained to the Brethren ministry and this is his first wedding. Mr. Williams has a nice furnished home and a fine position with the C. A. Smith Lumber company in Marshfield, where they have already gone. We are sorry to lose Zelia but are sure we are right in congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Williams.

W. H. Carlile announces the arrival of his sister and husband from Cottage Grove, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. A. Young. They had not seen this country for 25 years and William had not seen his sister for 14 years. They drove over by way of Roseburg and report the road through the canyons as not good. They are here for a visit with Bill and he knows how to entertain.

Ben James and wife have a little James. Dr. Pemberton says, "it is a bory" and weighs 8 pounds, and the doctors are wise guys.

"Germany" of the Percy Peel Chop House bought unnoticed and unseen the entire crop of potatoes raised on the vacant lots in town. That is he got the weight but didn't see the spuds before buying.

C. E. Deakin is our once again new railroad agent. We like him well enough to keep him—but the S. P. has ways past finding out.

B Bartlett, of Catching creek, attempted to run down a 30 pound gobbler but stepped on the point of a 10 penny nail and some one else got the turkey. He came to town somewhat one-sided.

Ray Devault, son of Joe Devault, who is now in Anaconda, Montana, was married Dec. 12 to Miss Zelia Evans, of that place.

The six-year old daughter of O. A. Karvey is very ill with pneumonia, Dr. Pemberton reports.

Joe Devault, who lately moved from here to Orland, Calif., submitted to a severe surgical operation on his neck recently. A few years ago he fell from a mower and got a splinter in his neck and though he had good service at the time it never properly healed. We have not heard of the results of the operation.

Bennett Swanton, of Marshfield, was here for a day this week looking after business of the Machado estate for the Bennett Trust company to whom it was assigned by Mrs. Broulette, trustee in the will.

School teachers are home from many directions and the schools have resumed their even tenored way.

P. L. Phelan, a Powers Logging camp scaler, was here for a visit and good dinner with his family one day last week.

L. A. Perrone, a Myrtle wood lumberman from Gaylord, was in town this week. He gets out timber for wedges in the dry docks. Hard wood is required.

Laura and Alta, neither of them went where they were going. One, however, went but didn't return from the direction she went. The other one did not return from where she said she went, but she's here.
