MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

Mrs. Adell Herrick was a Coquille passenger last Saturday.

A. A. Scriber and son, Jay Robert, left Sunday morning for Illinois. Mr. Scriber expects to be gone about one month. He will visit his parents; his father is quite poorly.

Isaac Jones, of Cottage Grove, arrived here Saturday for a short visit with his sister, Mrs. W. E. Lundy. He returned home Tuesday.

Mrs. Arthur Brown was in town Saturday and Sunday attending Chautauqua. She visited with Mrs. Percy Peel while in town.

Max Dement is the proud owner of a Buick car.

Henry Hase is having a monument erected at his mother's grave at the Norway cemetery.

Rev. L. M. Anderson went to Portland Tuesday morning to attend a committee meeting. He will also attend the synod of the Presbyterian church in Eugene before returning.

Wesley Barklow's house up the South Fork burned Saturday afternoon while the family were all away, except the oldest girl. Practically everything was lost, the loss being about $2,000. Only about $25 worth of furniture was saved. Mr. Barklow works at a shop at Broadbent and Mrs. Barklow is in the state hospital at Salem. The friends and neighbors are raising money to help the family.

C. C. Carter shipped a load of hogs and cattle to Portland Saturday. He returned home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Annin took Mr. Lowell Paget around Friday through Arago and Coquille to advertise the Chautauqua.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry left Saturday morning for California for a short visit with Mrs. Berry's mother, who has been ill for some time.

Miss Blanche Lee, who has been visiting friends in Bandon, returned home last Friday morning.

A baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hammond Saturday morning. The little one only lived three days.

Mrs. A. McDonald, of Broadbent, is spending this week in town with her daughter, Mrs. George Rackleff, and attending Chautauqua.

Rachis Brown, of McKinley, spent several days in town attending the Chautauqua.

Miss Clara McDonald, of Broadbent, has been attending the Chautauqua this week.

Lowell, Paget, the advance agent of the Ellison-White Chautauqua, left Sunday morning for Tillamook, having completed the arrangements at this place.

Mrs. P. D. Parish and baby are quite sick with the measles.

E. C. Walker and Cora E. Hand, both of Powers, were united in marriage by E. A. Dodge, Justice of the Peace, Monday afternoon.

Miss Beryl Woodruff was in town Tuesday visiting friends and also to attend Chautauqua.

Myrtle Point

Mrs. Emma O. Conner, of Fortuna, Calif., is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Masson.

Mrs. Worley, of Albany, is visiting with old friends here this week.

William Mast, May King, Lyman Mast and Mildred Mast, of McKinley, were in town Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Wilcox and Mrs. Anna Wilcox and daughter, Margaret, attended Chautauqua Tuesday evening.

Carleton and Katie Brown, Ernest Forbs and Mabel Wilcox were in town Tuesday evening.

Evelyn and Bernice Mirraoul, of Marshfield, are visiting at the Tom Johnson home.

Jake Stemmler received word that his sister, Mrs. Ben Knight, died Tuesday morning of pneumonia.

James T. Jenkins, of Parkersburg, was in town on business Wednesday.

Mrs. Art Baird, of Bandon, has been attending Chautauqua in Myrtle Point this week.

Miss Kate Chatburn, of Badnon, is visiting friends here this week and also attending Chautauqua.

Lela and Hattie Wyland and Mary Pierson started on an outing Wednesday.

The government cruisers, who have been cruising the Oregon-California railroad line, state that inside of 30 days cruising will be completed, though it will probably be next spring before it is opened for settlement.

Mrs. John Gary and son, John Everett, Mrs. Davidson, Mabel and Audrey Lundy, left for Bandon Friday morning for a short outing.

Robert Jones, of Cottage Grove, who is working at Reedsport, arrived here Wednesday evening for a short visit at the W. E. Lundy home.

Myrtle Point went over the top in her sale of season tickets and the single admissions were as good here as anywhere. The people are very enthusiastic for next year and when the call was given for signs for the contract Tuesday evening 71 came forward. The contract is now full, having 105 signers, most the Ellison-White Chautauqua people have ever had on a contract. The Chautauqua used to bring good entertainment but this community agrees with others that now it is a patriotic institution and instead of a privilege it is a duty. There are at least eight out of the twelve numbers that various people have said were worth more than the price of a season ticket.

J. E. Campbell received word Thursday evening that his brother is dying.

McKinley Notes.

Ensilage cutting and haying are the chief amusements at McKinley these days. The ladies as well as the men are taking part.

Mrs. L. A. Lawhorn and son, Ratliffe, made a business trip to Coquille Friday.

Marcus Hobert Hyde, of Oakland, Cal., who enlisted in June, 1917, in the 8th Co. Coast Artillery Corps, California, and was honorably discharged on account of physical disability, is visiting his aunt and uncle at Mountain Glade ranch. He hopes to increase his weight enough so that the next time he enlists the flesh will not be drilled off before he gets to France. His younger brother, Warren, who enlisted the same time in the same company, is on Long Island and they expect to be sent across soon.

Earl Endicott commenced carrying mail on his own contract with Uncle Sam. We are glad Earl got it; he is accommodating, and we have not known him to overcharge but we have known him to undercharge.

J. L. McIrwin, wife and children, who drove in here from Oakland, Cal., went out over the Coos Bay and Roseburg wagon road Tuesday bound for Hood River country. They left the North Yakima country something more than a year ago, so they are getting back towards home, and think the Northwest good enough for them.

Mrs. Chas. Shephard received a message Wednesday from Roseburg, saying her father, Thos. Laswell, is very sick and for her to come at once.

Mrs. J. D. Laird and daughters, Miss Ethel and Mrs. Earl Endicott, have gone to Mare Island, Cal., to see Ivan before he leaves for Virginia. J. D. took them to Roseburg Wednesday.

Marshall Alford, who has followed the business of lineman for eight years, is helping his home folks on their ranch in Brewster Valley.

Tom Krowson leaves the 21st inst. to answer the call to the colors.

Great is the efficiency of Billie 2; he can put out a pewter vase coated with a gold plate, as "solid gold," valued at $5,000. That is the first time I ever heard of a gold brick man putting out his goods in the shape of a vase. Billie 2, my boy, you and your gold vase were both made in Germany. If I was to make a guess, I would guess that the devil was born in Germany.

Ambassador Morganthau in World's Work for July says, "I found that the evil spirit was not the Turkish government but Von Brossart, the German chief of staff." The Turkish "holy war" was made in Germany.

Letter From Harry Oerding.

It is not often that we publish a letter from the western front before it is a month old, but the following from Harry Oerding to his parents bears date June 22:

The weather has not been the best, raining a good share of the time.

Occasionally the Germans try to make things hot around here, but so far they have not been able to hand the Americans very much. The Germans are making drives on nearly all the fronts and to date they have not won a single objective, only a little territory that has been fought over a dozen times.

I am sending a flower that I picked close to the front line trenches. The Germans with all their unhuman devices are not able to destroy all the beautiful things of France, a little poppy.

Last but not least, I will say that I am getting along fine.

Matt Kerrigan Writes Briefly.

Matt Kerrigan is in receipt of the following brief letter from his son, Thos. M. Kerrigan, under date of June 13:

Rather busy times over here now but then you probably read about what we are doing over here now. Guess the folks are proud of our army over here and I know Fritzie at least respects us now and will probably fear us later, as we are making his acquaintance all along the western front, and the papers tell us it is not to any advantage of Fritzie's.

Myrtle Point Land Tangle.

The case of J. O. Stemmler against the late T. J. Greene, involving the title to city property in Myrtle Point was decided by Judge Coke in the Circuit court here Monday in favor of the plaintiff. Greene had a contract on the property, and on the strength of that mortgaged it to Stemmler, though he did not obtain title to it until some time afterward. Then he sold the property to one Bigelow, the latter sold it to L. B. Guerin and he to J. S. Whitaker and wife. Greene and Bigelow are both dead and Stemmler sued the present and previous owners in his mortgage foreclosure case. Guerin, who had given Whitaker a warranty deed was the man who was holding the sack and defending the case. The decision was in Stemmler's favor giving him judgment against the property for the full amount of his claim, interest and costs.

Good Teeth Start With Infancy

GOOD teeth, well taken care of, add a charm to any face. A child with a deformed mouth enters the race of life with a big handicap. There is nothing that detracts more from a person's appearance than unsightly or irregular teeth.

Straight, even teeth—a perfectly shaped mouth—rest very largely with mother's care in infancy. Few realize the danger likely to result from allowing young children to form the habit of sucking their thumbs or fingers. This tends to force out the upper front teeth and jaw, and to push back the lower front teeth and jaw. A deformed face is the result.

This deformity causes the teeth to come in irregularly. Deformed jaws help to cause sidewise and mouth-breathing, and mental development is retarded by displacement of the bones of the jaws and face.

Do not neglect the temporary teeth. They represent the structure on which the permanent teeth are built. If lost by decay before their time, the jaws fail to expand properly, and the incoming permanent teeth will be crowded and irregular. A child's temporary molars are not fully replaced by the permanent teeth until the teeth or teeth year after birth.
