STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(California)

The "T" head type engine, illustrated here, like all internal combustion engines, requires an oil that holds its lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the cylinder and goes out with exhaust. Zerolene fits these requirements perfectly, because it is especially refined from selected California asphalt-base crudes.

Bengtsson is the proper person to file the recall petitions against Archie Phillip. It must be that County Commissioner Phillip does not do any insurance business with Henry Bengtsson. I was told that one of the shippers on the Bay needed some necessary dredging done, and the ship yard man went to some one or more of the members of the Coos Bay Port Commission to have the dredging done and was referred to Henry Bengtsson as the one member of the Port Commission to be seen about dredging. Henry's answer was, "Who gets your insurance?" And on being told the ship building company would divide it up among the different companies represented by Marshfield agents, Dan Bengtsson rendered the verdict. "You give me all your insurance business and you get the dredging done." Henry Bengtsson got all the insurance business of the shipyard company and the necessary dredging was done for the shipyard.
I do not know that the shipyard folks had to make such a deal in order to get the necessary dredging done, but that is the way it was told to me that Henry Bengtsson used his position as secretary of the Coos Bay Port Commission to further his own personal interests. If Archie Phillip blocks the grafting game nothing short of Archie's scalp dangling from Bengtsson's belt will satisfy the recallers.

Those who are putting up such fierce yells for the normal schools trying to throw dirt into the voters' eyes by the pretense that a teacher in order to be a teacher has to be infected with the dope of the machine educator may be able to fool the people, may be not. Those who have been educated at Pacific University, Willamette University, McMinnville College, Albany College, Pacific College, Reed Institute, and the independent colleges of Oregon stand on their merits as teachers. They do not have to receive the special privilege of a law. Take away the special privilege granted by law to the normal schools and the things it turns out, then the "educator" and the "near educator" would be shouting for some other kind of a gold brick. Vote the normal school proposition into the pit where it belongs, by voting "no."

Billie, me boy, you do not put your peace lie across on President Wilson. Your peace talk is like your solid gold vase you have passed out as prizes, just a coat of yellow whitewash on base metal. Billie, every day you live you give a ranker stench to the name German.

Nov. 5, 1918

Owing to the epidemic of Spanish influenza, I am not going to make a personal campaign, as it would be against the rules of quarantine regulations. So I take this means of addressing you, soliciting your support at the election on November 5th. Indications now seem to be very favorable for my candidacy and if all my friends will remember me at the polls in marking their ballots and before that in saying a good word in my behalf to their friends, there ought to be no doubt as to the result.

Road Work Held Up.

Work was about to start on the Marshfield-Coquille macadam contract when A. H. Powers threw a monkey wrench into the cogs of the state machinery and brought the matter to a sudden stop.

At a prior meeting the Highway Commission voted to empower Chairman Benson and State Engineer Nunn with authority to close the contract with Dean & Brown just as soon as the permission was received from the Federal Board having control of expenditures of public funds.

L. J. Simpson, of North Bend, while in Washington last week, accompanied Senator McNary to the office of the Federal Highway Commission and explained to that body the necessity of completing the work on this newly graded road, and received the unanimous consent of that body to proceed.

At Portland Monday Chairman Benson was ready to sign the contract when a telegram was received from A. H. Powers which stopped him from the act, for the time being at least.

Mr. Powers said there was no military need for the road at this time and that he would agree to place gravel on the road after the war was over at one dollar less per yard than Dean & Brown bid for crushed rock. The Commission thought best to investigate and ordered deputy engineer Dunn to inspect the Powers gravel, the cost of hauling, etc., and report. This, of course, delays and as a result the work, which was to have started within 48 hours after signing the contract is held up.

Mr. Dean was present at the meeting and went Mr. Powers one better. He offered to do the work after the war was over at two dollars less per yard.

The Commission stated that after the war was over the road would be paved and that neither gravel nor macadam was wanted or would be considered.—Coos Bay Harbor.

An Influenza Preventative.

We are requested to publish the following prescription for the prevention of Spanish influenza, which was prescribed by an American doctor, and we understand has the approval of the medical profession:
Dobell's solution, gargle three times a day, carbolic vasoline in the nostrils, drink plenty of cold water, keep the house open, and walk one mile a day.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 29, 1918.—The estimated receipts of live stock at the North Portland Union Stock Yards over night is 150 cattle, 300 hogs and 300 sheep and lambs. With a heavy run of 3000 head of cattle yesterday the market held steady at the opening, but the cow market weakened in the afternoon and is still inclined to be druggy today. There are a few common hogs coming in but by far the largest part are choice to prime and not many pigs. The market advanced a quarter strong yesterday with 2900 head on the market, and the advanced prices are maintained in today's trading. Quotations are: Prime mixed $17.10-17.35; medium mixed $16.25-17.00; rough heavies $15.10-15.35; pigs $14.00-15.00; bulk $17.10-17.50.

Must Have a Permit.

We don't know whether any of our readers are keeping migratory water fowl or the posterity of migratory water fowl in captivity, but if they are they should lose no time in applying to the United States Game Warden at East 1007, Indiana Avenue, Spokane, Wash., for a permit to retain such water fowl in their possession. And it makes no difference whether the water fowl are used for "ornamental, exhibition, propagation or decoy purposes," the permit is required just the same.

Does Cheap Service Pay?

THIS is a question people often ask themselves after having had an experience where price is the chief consideration. Especially where a man's knowledge, honesty, and skill make up the personal "service," such as in dentistry.

It is always well to know in advance about what the desired service is to cost, and then decide which you want. No one would take chances with their health or their teeth. Artificial substitutes for natural teeth, while often necessary, are not substitutes as such, and unless properly fitted, will never give comfort and satisfaction.

Service of information which will save you money and give you a permanent benefit, is a service of the highest order. It is a service which should be given to all who are in need of it.
