Homer Johnson, of Douglas county, was working among the people last week along the old Coos Bay Wagon road on a proposition that Douglas county would improve the road to the county line, if Coos county would use her windfall from the U. S. on the Coos county end of the Coos Bay Wagon road. The Myrtle Point road down the East Fork should have a slice, too. Mr. Johnson said the Coos Bay road could be built on not to exceed at any place a five per cent grade. The only way that his road project could be made to work would be to have the Douglas county legislators get special legislation through to spend the money.

It strikes me that the State Engineers and State Road Commission should pass on road matters not aeroplane legislation. This windfall that is expected to come to Coos county belongs to the people of the whole county and if it is to be spent on roads the people of the whole county should decide on the roads on which it is to be spent. Why not pay the bonds we now owe?

Toney Bobbio, of the 346th Field Artillery, 91st Division, is visiting his friend, Tom Garonia. Toney was overseas something more than six months and got into the thick of the fight. One of the hard places was about twenty miles from Metz, where he did his part in putting up a barrage for twenty-three hours with French 75's.

Last week Verne Bennett took a truck load of hogs out of Brewster Valley to be shipped to the Portland market.

The funeral of Nevy Harry, who died at the home of his daughter in Coquille, the 12th inst. was held Saturday, 12 o'clock, at the Dora cemetery. Mr. Ham Bunch conducted the services in the house and the Odd Fellows at the grave, members of that order being present from the Marshfield and Coquille Lodges.

The last time the writer had a talk with him was when he went down in his buggy on his way to town, about the time Roosevelt died, for when he came back on Thursday, he told me of Roosevelt's death. He told me then that he could not do much work. In answer to my suggestion that he still kept going, he said, "Yes, I keep going and will keep going as long as I can for as long as I keep doing I am not down." The thought expressed was that he did not intend to get down and he didn't. I am of the opinion that if he could have made a choice he would not have had the home going different. For he rode over for the last time the road he helped to build, when he went to town with "Jimmy" Laird the day before and then as he rested at his daughter's home in the afternoon the message came. That is a beautiful way to go.

Nevy Harry did many kind deeds in his time and had many friends. His funeral was attended by a large number of his friends and neighbors.

Rufus Howe, who has been working for some time in camps on the Columbia River, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Lloyd Leatherman. He got here just in time to attend the funeral of his old neighbor.

Wm. Miller reports that his brother, Felix, set a trap and found a big wildcat in it Sunday.

"Our Friends, the French," by Carl Holiday in the November Geographic Magazine is an article that makes us sit up and take notice of the great character of the French people. Read it. Then to get a little idea of what Liberty costs, read in the same number, "The Price of Liberty," and see what our price would have been if we had paid in proportion to France. To the calamity howlers, let me repeat, this war is not a calamity. The calamity would have been if there had been no war, for then shame, sorrow, treachery and cowardice would have been the scourge of the whole world. The price of Liberty is great but Liberty is worth the price.

Thankful for His Life.

An Irish farmer, waking up in the night, saw an apparition at the foot of the bed. He reached out for a gun and perforated the ghost with a bullet. In the morning he discovered that he had made a target of his own shirt.

"What did you do then?" inquired the friend whom he told the story.

"I knelt down and thanked God that I hadn't been inside it," said the farmer piously.—Youth's Companion.
