War Histories Coming Soon

Histories of the Great War are going to be on the market soon and agents will be scouring the country expecting to place one in every home. A history of the war in press now can hardly be a complete one nor can it have been written from a historic view point. The events are too recent. Still they may sell like hot cakes. If any one wants to start on the job of selling such books the Sentinel can put him in touch with the publishers of what is probably the best of them.

For Sale

Two acres of A-1 land within five minutes' walk from the First National Bank. One acre of bottom in good state of cultivation, a good house and everything in good shape for a real home. The price is right and the terms easy. Apply to Frank Burkholder, Coquille, Oregon.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

of such a law; therefore, be it resolved, by the Commercial Club of the city of Coquille, Oregon, that we condemn such action and that in voting against said measure, he, the said Mr. Thrift, misrepresented rather than represented the law abiding and liberty loving people of Coquille; and resolved further, that this resolution be published in the Coquille Valley Sentinel and be entered regularly upon the minutes of this club, and a copy sent to Mr. Thrift."

Frank Burkholder recommended the cleaning up of the unsightly spots in town and also that street signs be posted at all intersections and the houses numbered. The suggestions were endorsed by J. E. Norton and L. P. Branstetter.

Councilman D. L. Rood, of Marshfield, who was present, was called on by the chairman at this time and he heartily agreed that the removal of tumble-down shacks and debris was one thing all cities should attend to. He said that at Marshfield the city had to force the cleaning up of premises and that such action was a splendid thing for the town.

T. B. Currie wanted the club to take some action by opposing the proposed law establishing a dead line for fishing in the Coquille river at the ferry here but when W. C. Chase stated that the legislature had adopted a resolution to adjourn that night at midnight the matter was dropped.

H. S. Tuttle renewed his plea for a Memorial building which could be used for Corn Show, athletics, etc., and moved that a committee be appointed to consider plans, architecture and ways and means. The motion prevailed but the committee was not appointed at that time.

Councilman Mansell was called upon to tell what he knew about the possibility of bringing the Marshfield road into town over a fill on Taylor street and up past the Sentinel office. He began by saying, "Mr. Chairman, I have a hen on, and she's clucking." He went on to say then that he was working on a plan by which the fill could be made. "By forming an improvement district of that property benefited on the north side of the swale which would bear a portion of the expense, another portion could be borne by the city and the county might then be able to bear a portion and thus solve the problem of getting our Coos Bay to Douglas county highway linked up through Coquille. He stated that he would ask the council at their next meeting to instruct the city engineer to give an estimate of the probable cost of making the fill.

Judge Watson stated that he thought the state might be willing to help in the matter, as it was by law permitted to in cities under 2500 in population, and in order to put the organization on record for the improvement of the highway facilities, Mr. Sherwood moved that the club recommend to the county court the putting on line and grade of the Coquille-Marshfield road from the Davenport place to Moulton street this year. The motion was approved.

L. P. Branstetter was strongly in favor of a county road through town along which there would be no parkings, because he said the stockmen had to bring their cattle through the city and everyone of them disliked to despoil the turf, shabby, etc., of the citizens as well as incur the wrath of the ladies.

C. I. Kime and Frank Willard, of the Roy district, were the first two farmers we remember to have seen at a Commercial Club meeting, although the farmers have been invited time and again to attend. And for fear anyone might feel that they were not invited, an invitation is hereby extended to every farmer or rancher in the Coquille district to join the club and to attend the meetings, which are held every Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Kime said they had come down to see if Coquille would not work with the up-river people in securing a better road to Fishtrap and along other lines that might be to their mutual benefit, such as a bridge to get into town, hitching racks and watering troughs for their horses after they got here. Along the same line of co-operation were the remarks made by Mr. Willard.

With the interest and enthusiasm now manifested in Commercial Club work by the local citizens, if the ranchers of this district would follow the trail marked by Messrs. Kime and Willard, there is no limit to the achievements which might be accomplished for this entire section.

O. W. Morris, of Powers, who was sentenced to pay $600 and serve six months in the Mulnomah county jail for illicit manufacture of liquor by a still at Powers, will take a correspondence school course during his half year interment, according to the Portland Journal.

Says It Was "Frame-Up"

During nearly all of the year 1913, Lew A. Cates was the publisher and manager of the Coquille Valley Sentinel. He was also half owner, J. C. Savage, its former owner, holding the other half interest. It was in January, 1914, that the present publisher bought Mr. Cates' interest in the property and in December of the same year that he took Mr. Savage's.

But during Mr. Cates' management, he wrote to his partner, Mr. Savage, a letter which bids fair to pay a very important part in the suit the county has begun against him and the publishers of the Evening Record and Coos Bay Times at Marshfield. Not only that but he forgot to adjure Mr. Savage to burn this letter.

The suit, as we stated three weeks ago is for $9,337.21 claimed to have been paid to A. E. O'Brien of the Record for publishing the Tax Summons of 1908 in excess of the $648.20 that was warranted by law.

How it happens that Messrs. Maloney of the Times and Cates, the former publisher of the Sentinel, are involved in this suit in connection with Mr. O'Brien will be very apparent on reading the letter below, which Mr. Cates very jubilantly wrote to Mr. Savage after he had engineered what he called a "frame-up" in which Coos county was to be the goat. This letter became public when Mr. Savage introduced it in evidence two or three years ago in his suit against Mr. Cates for an accounting of the partnership business. The original letter has been, we are informed, stolen from the files, or at least can no longer be found, but the court stenographer, Mr. Loud, who was the referee in the case and took the testimony, took a number of copies, of which the Sentinel has been furnished with one. It reads as follows, omitting some unimportant chat about the Sentinel business at its close:

The Coquille Valley Sentinel
By Lew A. Cates

Coquille, Oregon,
April 28, 1913.

J. C. Savage,

Willets, Calif.

Fried Savage: Received your letter this morning, and will drop you just a note so that you won't "worry." See? The big job of printing went to The Record. I found out that he put in a bid of 10 cents per description and 2 1/2 cents per line for all foreign matter, and at the time set for the court to hear it, I headed off Maloney and O'Brien as they came from the train and getting them into the office succeeded in making a frame-up, though one that will not be very profitable to anyone. It is this: The Sentinel bid 10c per description, The Times 10c, and The Record Co. 10c, being the sum allowed by law, and then; The Sentinel bid 11 cents per line for all foreign matter; The Times 12 1/2; and The Record 10c. Of course the Record got at that price. Then O'Brien agreed to set the type at 60 cents per M, charge for the paper it is run on at cost, charge a "nominal" fee for press work, and cut the profit in three pieces. This was altogether satisfactory to me, because had it come to a bid, I did not feel that I could do it at 2 1/2 per line and buy about $150 worth of figures to set it in the office and had I got it and sent it out for composition there would have been nothing left at the price. I think it a good deal, all things considered, but, of course, there will be nothing coming on it for a long time.

L. A. C.

No Hope For His Recovery

Edson Robbins, who for the past week has been suffering with a clot on the brain, has developed acute heart trouble and is not expected to live. Mr. Robbins has been in the hospital for several months, and was expecting to be at his home in Coquille soon, when a week ago the sudden seizure of illness came upon him, the doctors immediately pronouncing his case hopeless. Mr. Robbins has been unconscious throughout the attack. He is the son of Mrs. Helen Harvey of Coquille.—Record.

Odd Fellows Attention!

J. S. Lawrence, Sec.

Getting Rid of Colds.

The easiest and quickest way to get rid of a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This preparation has been in use for many years and its value fully proven. No matter what remedy you use, however, care must be taken not to contract a second cold before you have recovered from the first one, and there is serious danger of this. A man of middle age or older should go to bed and stay in bed until fully recovered. It is better to stay in bed three days at the start than three weeks later on.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F.
