MYRTLE POINT ITEMS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Roberts returned home Sunday from a visit with their son, Lewis Roberts, and family at Ashland.

John Harris spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Ida Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. John Warner and family, Mrs. Nyström and J. B. Campbell motored to Roseburg Sunday. They expect to be gone several days.

Rev. L. M. Anderson and son, Lewis, motored to Eugene Tuesday.

Johnnie Roberts left Monday for a month's vacation. During his absence Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller will have charge of his store.

Last Saturday Bob Hall accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Blancett and small daughter, and Lloyd and Harry Wise, started in the car for Roseburg. They were a little way beyond Bridge on a very narrow road when they met another car. Bob Hall turned to the edge, thinking the earth was solid but the car went over the grade. The bank was very steep and had it not been for a small tree, which caught the car the party would all probably have been killed. Mrs. Blancett and Lloyd Wise went to the foot of the hill. Bob Hall and Harry Wise were pinned in the car and Mr. Blancett and his little girl were thrown a short distance away. The little girl was kept from rolling on down the hill by a small tree. Mrs. Blancett had her collar bone broken and was badly bruised in different places. Harry Wise had his leg broken and he was also bruised. The rest of the party escaped being injured except for bruises. They were brought to the Guerin Hotel and there attended to. Bob Hall had business in the Valley and so left Tuesday. Mr. Blancett will stay in town until his wife recovers.

Mrs. W. H. Fearnley and small daughter, of North Bend, were here this week attending Chautauqua.

M. B. Paroungian, an Armenian, will speak at the Methodist church both morning and evening next Sunday. All are invited to hear him.

Mrs. Fred Garrett and daughters, Alice and Veva, and son, Donald, left for Coos River Thursday for a visit with Mrs. Garrett's brother.

Mrs. Frey expects to leave Saturday for a visit with her son on Coos River.

Myrtle Point's biggest event of the year has come—and gone. Ellison White Chautauqua this year proved to be all that was expected and more, too. With the arrival of the superintendent, Mrs. Paget, last week, enthusiasm was imbibed in the citizens of Myrtle Point and from then on a successful Chautauqua was assured.

The first program by the International Trio started the Chautauqua spirit and Julius Cassar Naype in his lecture-paragraph of the Grecian customs, revealed to the directors that seating capacity was far too small to seat Myrtle Point Chautauqua audiences. "Victory Day" was celebrated on Sunday with real enthusiasm by the Overseas Quartet and by the lecturers, Joel W. Eastman and Sergeant Arthur Gibbons. Sergeant Gibbons gave one of the most realistic pictures of the war as it really was that Myrtle Point people have been privileged to hear. The music of the third day was furnished by the Zedler Symphonic Quintet, a company of real artists giving classical music with the "class" minus the "ic." Judge Geo. D. Alden, descendant of Priscilla and John Alden, lived up to his reputation in his lecture on Monday night. He hit Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont pretty hard—of course he knew nothing of Myrtle Point. "Band Day" was a big day. At noon the people of the town gathered in Dickson's grove and joined in a big picnic dinner with Hon. William Jennings Bryan. The afternoon program was held in the grand stand at the Fair Grounds so that the large crowds wishing to hear Mr. Bryan might be accommodated. Before being introduced he was presented with a large box of Myrtle Point cherries and a myrtle bowl. The program in the evening was given by Castellucci's concert band and Bess Gearhart Morrison. Words fail to describe the music furnished by this great band and the wonderful entertainment by Mrs. Morrison. The Parnells on Wednesday afternoon and evening filled the audience with laughter by their varied impersonations and music. The lectures by Dr. Sutcliffe and J. C. Herbsman were interesting as well as instructive. Herbsman told us how our town looked to outsiders and how we could make it better. Let us get busy. Then came the last big day. People thought their minds were all made up as to who was best and the like, but the Earl Hippie Concert Company made the decision more complex. Their program was packed full of musical "fire works" as predicted.

The Chautauqua this year settled the question in the minds of our people that Myrtle Point cannot get along without it. When Mrs. Paget entertained the members of the committee at an ice cream social Monday night and the subject of next year's Chautaqua was brought up, twenty members immediately signed the contract. The number of signers has now been increased to 115. Myrtle Point will have a Chautauqua again next year.

Grandma Ansen died at her home at Hall's Creek Thursday morning.

Sophia Barkdoll was born at Peoria, Ill., March 10, 1865, and died at Dr. Clarke's Sanitarium in Myrtle Point of injuries received in an auto accident the Fourth of July, aged 54 years, four months and two days. She was united in marriage to J. P. Barkdoll in 1883 and to this union were born eight children, four boys and four girls, all of whom survive their mother. Mr. and Mrs. Barkdoll came to Oregon in 1886 and located on a farm near Norway, where they have since resided. Mr. Barkdoll died in 1908. Mrs. Barkdoll was a faithful wife and loving mother, always thinking of the welfare of her children. Her first thought was of them to the very last. She leaves behind to mourn their loss, her eight children, fourteen grandchildren, three brothers and a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Arrington arrived in Myrtle Point Thursday afternoon from Chelsea, Iowa. Vincent Arrington and Miss Ella Hamlin were married at the home of Miss Hamlin's sister June 12, after Mr. Arrington's discharge from the Marines. On their way home they visited the Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest. It is not yet known what their future plans will be but it is expected that they will make their home in Myrtle Point.

All ladies and girls interested in sewing are requested to meet at the Red Cross room Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Miss Kalbus will be in charge.

J. C. Warner and family returned to their home near Gaylord station Thursday.

Items From Arago.

Miss Minnie Kalbus held another meeting at Arago July 9 and Mr. Peterson was present in interest of organizing a canning club at Arago. There were not many ladies at the meeting, these being the most busy times. Miss Kalbus manufactured a very serviceable fireless cooker for about 99 cents, which does the work of a far more expensive one.

There will be another meeting on Wednesday, July 23, and if there are enough interested in the many useful subjects to be learned they will organize for the work and each one will be benefitted in some manner.

Last week Ethel, Mildred, Pauline and Earl Johnson, of Fairview, visited at the home of their aunt, Mrs. George Halter. They motored to Bandon for a day, returning home Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Cleghorn and sister, Mrs. Tipton, came up from Colunga, California, for a visit with friends and relatives. They were visiting at Ben Knife's last Wednesday, as were Mr. and Mrs. Lane, of Coquille, and L. A. Pinkston.

John Carl had a busy day Saturday collecting hogs in his truck for the shipment for Portland by Gus Schroeder.

Schroeder Brothers were filling their silo with vetch last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Thompson, nee Ella Root, came up from Grenada, Cal., last Friday. They are camping at the old home on the Stauff ranch for a while.

Quite a number of people from Arago and vicinity attended the Brethren services at Myrtle Point Sunday morning and the Chautauqua later.

Mrs. Barkdoll died from her injuries received the night of July 3rd in a car driven by Lucius Meyers, which was overturned, pinning her beneath it. Mrs. Barkdoll was an old resident on their ranch at Norway. Funeral services were held at Norway cemetery by Rev. Thos. Barklow. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends present.

Mrs. Al Hite and Mrs. Harry Kribbs left Monday morning for their home in California, Mr. Kribbs having located there.

Mrs. Perry Breuer and little son, Woodrow, returned from a week's stay in Bandon and Marshfield, seeking relief from hay fever. She was accompanied home by C. B. White, who returned to Marshfield Sunday evening.

East Fork Items.

"I have only seen one worm's nest this year," it should have read in last week's Sentinel, not one "wren's nest," as my spelling or the printer's type made it. The bluejay cleaned up those worms.

The Nortons and the Leslies folded their camp outfit Sunday and returned to their Coquille homes. Wednesday the Hazards and Sherwoods unrolled their camp outfits at the Club grounds and settled down to fish and good times. Mrs. Hacker and Mrs.

Standard, of Southern California, are with the Hamada.

Archie Philip is not slipping off to Los Angeles. It is funny that some of those who think they did so much "to get" Archie do not stay to enjoy their "get." It may be that some folk are afraid of being drowned in their own muddy waters. Sometimes there is some recompense with a loss. Is it possible that our new County Judge has already commenced to wade in for more pay than the law allows? What can you expect of men who bathe in muddy waters and thrive on German gas.

When the County Court is assailed by "delcrazes" from "road districts" in the interests of the defunct road law and their own "road supervisors," they might get a little comfort if they remembered the poem about somebody "came down like the wolf on the fold."

Mr. Rycraft and son, of Corvallis, look in the East Fork country one day last week.

R. A. Easton.

AIMS AT CABINET FOR EDUCATIONAL BOOM

George D. Strayer, former President of the National Educational Association, started his campaign when he announced that the fight should be for a department of education with a secretary in the president's cabinet. In this way education could be removed from petty politics and to its rightful importance, he
