14 Came Within an Ounce of It

A press dispatch from Salem dated Tuesday says that fourteen people will divide the $20 prize offered for the nearest guess to the weight of the large cheese shown at the Coos county exhibit at the State fair. The cheese was painted to represent a $20 gold piece and weighed 127 pounds and 15 ounces. The winners guessed 128 pounds. Guesses were submitted by 4230 persons. The winners were: P. B. Sibley, Portland; A. W. Oliver, Corvallis; Mrs. A. W. Groth, Portland; Estelle Austin, Amboy, Wash.; Dale J. Butt, Newberg; Glen Hardley, Airie; Sam Owens, Portland; J. T. Lewellen, Myrtle Point; Albert T. Anderson, Salem; S. A. Mitchell, Corvallis; James Smith, Salem; Elma J. Morley, Shaw; H. C. Mack, Hubbard; William Busbey, Salem.

within one ounce of guessing the weight of a big cheese, like that is something remarkable.

No Disparagement Intended

In referring to the School Buildings last week, the Press Committee of the Woman's Club failed to give deserved tribute to Mr. H. L. Johnson, janitor. All who visited the school were particularly impressed by the faithfulness and care with which he performed his duties. Everything was as spotlessly clean as he could make it. The serious conditions which were reported were in every case conditions which he could not correct. With such faithfulness under such impossible conditions what will not be expected from the new school house is completed.—Com.

County Sells Part of Waterfront

The County Court had a very short session this week, meeting on Wednesday and adjourning yesterday afternoon until Wednesday of next week. Besides auditing the month's bills the only business of any importance transacted was to sell a part of the Coquille water front to the Nestle's Food company. This deal has been before referred to. The Food company needs space here to handle goods shipped up from a Bandon by boat—that is the whole product of the Bandon Condensary which is not shipped by sea. So they have bought 125 feet of water front along the river, running from Ferry street east and back to the railroad right of way. The county recently paid $5,000 for this property and now sells slightly less than half of it for $3250. The county still has a strip east of what has been sold, 130 feet in length, but it has agreed to allow a railroad switch to be built over this to continue on to the ground sold to the Nestle's company, as the 125 feet they bought was too short for the building of a switch.

They Appreciate the Sentinel

Writing from Santa Barbara, where he is now located, F. N. Wilson says: "I am not so charmed with the 'Sunny South' but that my mind turns at times to the forest shades and glorious mountain waters of 'Old Coos.' We have had no rain since way last spring and in the last twelve months less than 13 inches of precipitation; consequently it is terribly dry. The city water supply has been very short and many lawns, flowers gardens, and even vegetable gardens and shrubbery have perished. However, the city is just completing a scheme whereby the supply will be increased several hundred per cent."

Writing from Paden, Oklahoma, where he is now located, Rev. S. G. Rogers, formerly pastor of the M. E. church South in this city, in renewing for the Sentinel, says: "I have to have it. It has the whole community news. I love Coquille and think longingly of fishing and summer there. Coquille sure is booming and it deserves it."

Writing from Milton, Ore., to renew for the Sentinel, Geo. Henninger, who recently moved there from Arago, says: "We are getting along nicely in our new home. My wife's health has improved considerably and our boys have entered Columbia Jr. College."

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bryan—he was a few years ago pastor of the M. E. Church here—in writing to renew for the Sentinel says: "We are nicely settled on a small ranch three miles southwest of Hood River, Ore., and invite our many friends to come to see us."

It Is For the Women to Say

The continuance of the work now being done by Miss Minnie Kalbus, the O. A. C. home demonstration agent in this county, during the coming year depends upon the interest the ladies of the county manifest in it. If they want her to go on with the work and tell the County Court so that body will provide the necessary portion of the funds, as the college will not have sufficient money to meet the entire expense, as it has been doing this year. It is up to the women who appreciate Miss Kalbus' work and want it continued to get busy.

How is It for a Compromise?

Coquille is unique not only in its name but also in having two different pronunciations of that name current at the same time. The happiest compromise we have ever heard, however, between the two versions of the name was made last Sunday by Dr. Fry, when he called it Co-Kwell—neither Co-Keel nor Co-Kwell, but as much like both as it was possible to make it.

Dates for School Athletics

At a meeting of the Coos County High School Athletic association held here Saturday Sept. 8, E. Baker, of Coquille, was elected president and Supt. Arahart, of Bandon, secretary. One of the most important actions was the pledging of the schools to the following resolution:

"Any student proved to have used tobacco after September 29th shall be barred from participation in any interscholastic event during the semester in which the offense occurred."

The Coos county association also agreed to join the Oregon State Athletic Association:

Old Fashioned Girls Next Week

Bess Gearhart Morrison, of Lyeon and Chautauque fame as coach and entertainer, has evolved a new idea in the program of the Old Fashioned Girls, to be held here October 9 on the Lyeon Course. She has departed completely from the hackneyed form of concert programs, going back a half century for her inspiration. She says "old songs are best" and the program of her company goes a long way towards proving it. Dressed in the costumes of a half century ago, singing the songs and telling the stories of the old South, these four charming young ladies have been achieving real success at every appearance. Both as vocalists and instrumentalists all the members show marked talent and ability. There is a world of variety in their offerings, including vocal and instrumental solos, duets, quartets, accustomed songs, sketches and readings. Whatever you may like in music or entertainment you will be sure to find something in this program to charm and delight you.

Couldn't Get That Number

One of the girls at the local telephone exchange recently attended evening services at one of the churches and fell asleep during the sermon. At the close the preacher said: "We will now sing hymn No. 341—341." The young woman, just waking in time to hear the number, yawned and said, "The line is busy."—Bandon World.
