Geo. Kruse, of the Kruse Vulcanizing Works of Marshfield, was looking after business in Coquille Wednesday.

Mrs. F. C. Pursey and children returned from Eugene last Saturday after a week's visit with friends and relatives.

The oldest settler can't recall anything finer in the way of October weather than we have enjoyed so far this year.

There are a number of extra good attractions coming to the Liberty Theatre this next week. See the program on page 7.

Mr. Fred Slagle returned Sunday from his visit in San Francisco. Mr. Slagle drove out to Roseburg last Friday to meet her.

Though corn was touched by frost's fingers in the valley here last week over on the North-Fork and the East Fork it escaped unscathed.

Mrs. H. A. Benzee is preparing to join Mr. Isensee at Hood River and expects to leave Sunday morning with the four youngest children.

Rev. Madison Swadener addressed a meeting at the Federated church last night on the subject of a campaign for world prohibition.

See the program of the Liberty Theatre for the coming week on page 7 of this issue.

W. E. Bradley reports taking orders for a good many strawberry plants as a result of the notice published in the Sentinel last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slagle were visiting at the Bay the first of the week. Fred returned Wednesday but Mrs. Slagle remained for a few days longer.

Judge John S. Coke has been appointed chairman for Coos and Curry counties for the spiritual and financial campaign the Episcopal church has planned.

Spectacles and Eye glasses repaired while you wait. Broken lenses duplicated. Satisfaction guaranteed, by V. R. Wilson, the Optometrist, Coquille, Oregon.

Louis J. Simpson and Charles Hall, who came over from the Bay to attend the road meeting Wednesday evening were callers at the Sentinel office that afternoon.

Gene Schroeder and Frank Burkholder left last Monday morning for Portland to attend the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias which convened there this week.

G. C. Fuller and H. L. Kelley expect to open up a new billiard parlor in the Machon building soon to be known as "The Club." Everything will be new and high class.

See the program of the Liberty Theatre for the coming week on page 7 of this issue.

C. J. Fuhrman enjoyed a visit this week from his niece, Mrs. W. E. Hollingworth, and her husband. Their home was formerly in Wisconsin, but they are now located in Portland.

J. S. Sawyer and family left last Friday for Yoncalla, where he will have charge of a portion of the road work being done under the supervision of the State Highway Commission.

Dr. F. C. Bunch yesterday opened his dental office in the Farmers & Merchants Bank building in the quarters formerly occupied by Dr. A. F. Kirshman. He has a well equipped, up-to-date office.

There are a number of extra good attractions coming to the Liberty Theatre this next week. See the program on page 7.

Mrs. J. S. Lyons and children were over from Marshfield the first of the week visiting relatives. They returned home Wednesday with C. J. Fuhrman and family who drove over there for the day.

Erma Oulin, daughter of the late Dr. Oulin of this city, came up from San Francisco on the City of Topoka Saturday for a ten days' visit with her aunt, Mrs. V. R. Wilson. She has a two weeks' vacation.

L. F. Falkenstein, of North Bend, is being sued for $450 by Louis O. Anderson. He went on a note with Prof. A. G. Raab, formerly superintendent of schools at North Bend, who became a bankrupt.

R. L. Gimlin intends to open a new restaurant in his place on Front street, opposite the Baxter, as soon as he can secure the necessary dishes and a large range, and make the required re-arrangements.

The grand jury which has been in session since Monday has not yet made any report, but is expected to this afternoon. Witnesses in the Lauthold murder case were under examination Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

We note the death last week of a son of G. A. Colvin, who recently removed from here to Portland. The young man was seriously ill with tuberculosis when the family left here and his recovery was hardly thought to be possible.

George Martin, 51 years of age, who was committed to the state hospital for the insane at Salem the 30th of last January, escaped from custody Monday morning while out at work with an apple picking crew. Martin is regarded as harmless.

D. D. Pierce started Sunday for a visit of two or three months at his old home in Michigan in which he will combine business with pleasure, by selling some of our Oregon lumber for his company. He still has two brothers and one sister living in that state.

Twice recently the railing at the southeast corner of Front and Hall streets, on the new bridge has been broken by careless auto drivers who took long chances of a drop of 15 feet into the gulch. The third time that it tried some one will be almost sure to go over.

This week the Wm. Oddy agency sold the old J. C. Frantz place just south of Mrs. L. Harlock's residence, to I. M. Irvine for $1000. The property contains four lots and a small house and orchard. Mr. Irvine, who is a brother of R. H. Irvine, came here from eastern Oregon.

Mrs. L. L. Hasleton went up to Portland yesterday morning to see her daughter, Marjorie, whom Mr. Hasleton took there about a month ago for an operation for hip dislocation which proved entirely successful. Mrs. Hasleton hopes that her daughter has sufficiently recovered to bring her home, but if not, she will visit a while with her.

The biggest little Watch, Jewelry and Optical store in Oregon. The store that gives you the best to be had. Repairing done neatly, quickly and correctly. Quick service. Difficult jobs done while you wait. V. R. Wilson, Watchmaker and Optometrist, Coquille, Oregon.

Here is Their Progress

F. M. Solberg, of Roseburg, contributes to the Oregonian the following interesting information in regard to the evergreen blackberry:

Referring to the correspondence in The Oregonian concerning the evergreen blackberry, much of the doubt therein expressed as to its origin may be very easily cleared up by consulting Gray's Field, Forest and Garden Botany, where we find the following:

Rubus laciniatus, Wild. Cut-leaved or evergreen blackberry. Leaflets 3, each pinnately divided into lobed and cut portions; flower cluster small, whitish pubescent; stems with recurved prickles. Probably a form of the European Rubus fruticosus.

Carl Ludwig Willdenow, who is here quoted as having named the plant, was a German botanist who flourished from 1765 to 1812; so we see the plant is probably older than the Declaration of Independence.

The writer came from the Willamette valley to this locality about 45 years ago, where he then formed his first acquaintance with, as it was then called, the Australian blackberry; but how it came here or when, he has no knowledge.

Now, notwithstanding the desirable qualities of the plant as set forth in The Oregonian, please mark this prediction: Wherever the plant gets a foothold in congenial surroundings the inhabitants thereof are booked for trouble in the not distant future. It spreads rapidly from both seed and root stocks, and once established, is almost impossible to eradicate, and of course, any place occupied by it is good for nothing else under the sun.

Ole Olsen

Which comes to Liberty Monday, Oct. 20, is one of the funniest comedy dramas ever written. The 3-acts of the play are filled with situations and climaxes that call for an unlimited number of hearty laughs. For many years this play has more than held its own in the affections of Theatre goers and the reason for its never failing popularity lies in the fact that it is never allowed to degenerate into low comedy or horse play. Dave Williams, the comedian, is well known on the coast and his portrayal of the quaint slow spoken Swede proves the assertion that comedians are born, not made. His appearance in the different scenes of the play is always greeted with laughter and applause.

Mr. Williams is supported by a capable cast of actors and actresses amongst which is the dear little boy, Tom Walsh, who plays the part of little Jim, or as Ole terms it, "Little Yim." Don't fail to see this splendid attraction, (not a Moving Picture.) As an added feature there will be acts of vaudeville between the acts.

Coquille Colony at Eugene

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Johnson stopped at Eugene on their way home from Portland last Friday and Saturday to see their son, Philip, and saw the ball game Saturday, also the Pajama parade Friday night and other sports. They found eleven Coquille young people there attending the state university this year, including Earl, Keith and Julian Leslie, Austin Hazard, Fred Lorenz, Ray Burns, Herbert Lukens, Phil Johnson, Marvel Skeels, Genevieve Chase and Gladys Nosler. Not much chance for any of them to get lonesome with so many of their old schoolmates there.

New Automobile Agent

F. L. Greenough has decided to move from Bandon to this city where he will act as a automobile agent and salesman for the Marshfield Auto company here. The Record says that Mr. Greenough is a competent and well-informed automobile agent and will be likely to transact a large amount of business in this field. He has taken a lease on the T. B. Currie house.

To Have Halloween Dance

Halloween night will include among its festivities a Masque Ball by the American Legion at Gould's Hall. Prizes are to be given for the best costume, the most unique one and the most comical one, to both men and women.

Attention!

This is the month to get a good pair of glasses, scientifically ground and fitted by a graduate Optometrist, at a very reasonable price.

Dr. Eaton, the Eyeman.

Are You Interested?

Put in your orders for strawberry and raspberry plants at once. We have ordered a limited supply and they will arrive soon.

Bradley, the Berry Booster.

About the Appropriation

When Judge Wade wrote the following letter to the directors of the Coos & Curry Fair Association at Myrtle Point he probably didn't realize just how much of a hornet's nest he was going to stir up:

"Coos county has heretofore included in its annual budget an amount for the Coos Curry Fair, the amount this year being $800.00. It is the Court's understanding that this appropriation was originally made and thereafter continued with the view of promoting the school and educational features of Coos county.

"It has been unofficially called to the Court's attention that the educational features of the Fair have not been given the attention that this appropriation would seem to warrant and also that boxing contests, prize fights and other enterprises of like character have been promoted by the Fair management in a manner generally inconsistent with a judicious expenditure of taxpayers' money.

"If this is true, the Court would not care to make any appropriation in next year's budget. The truth or untruth of these rumors, being particularly in your own knowledge, if you desire the appropriation next year, the Court has deemed it best to place on you the burden of disproving these rumors, if in fact they are incorrect, and the Court will be glad to have you, or any of you, appear at any time, when the Court is in session, and show cause why this appropriation should not be discontinued."

The result was a visit of about three carloads of Myrtle Point boosters to protest against the cutting off of county funds from the association and about seven columns of indignation directed against the county court and more especially against the county superintendent of schools and the county club leader in industrial school work by the Southern Coos County American.

The court was satisfied that the Fair ought to have some money from the county treasury, but did not promise to give as much next year as had heretofore been appropriated for the fair.

If the managers have done anything reprehensible there may be some strings attached to the grant hereafter.

Almost Caught a Burglar.

An item which we missed last week was the supposed burglary of the Coquille Hardware Co. safe. F. H. Wood ruff awoke about one o'clock one night and heard what he supposed was a burglar drilling the safe next door, and after calling the police department and Mr. Ellingson, a half dozen men crept gingerly into the room with revolvers drawn and ready to shoot. But no desperate character was found. Next day it came out that C. A. Machon, who has a clothesline running from his rooming house to the hardware store building, had been pulling the line of clothes in to see if they were dry, which made the drilling sound and about the time Wood ruff rapped on the wall he slammed the window down which sounded like the dropping of tools. Night Marshal Hersey had a man watching a car at the rear of the store all night in which it was supposed the robber was going to make his escape.

Would Erect Building

The American Legion dance last Saturday night was a very successful affair, both in attendance and in pleasure. The sale of tickets amounted to $94 and the net receipts were $67. The Legion has rented Gould's Hall and expects to give frequent dances, the next one to be a Masquerade on Halloween.

The ambition of the Legion members is to buy a suitable lot and erect thereon a building which can be used for all kinds of public meetings, including the annual corn show. That is something urgently needed here and Coquille should lend a helping hand to the carrying out of their plans.

Two Card Parties.

Mrs. D. D. Pierce entertained the "500" club last evening at the home of Mrs. Hal Pierce, four tables of club members and guests being present. A very pleasant evening, with delicious refreshments at the conclusion of the game, was enjoyed by all.

Miss Allie Phillips entertained a number of friends last evening at cards. Miss Snyder made high score for the evening, while Mrs. V. L. Hamilton won the consolation.

VETERANS ARE NOT ENVIOUS

Soldiers Who Took Part in the Civil War Proud of the Youngsters of Today.

Recently one of the current magazines contained a picture called "His Place Usurped." It showed the usual village crowd of youngsters listening to a returned soldier tell stories of his life "over there." Sitting at one side of the picture, entirely deserted by every one, was a Civil war veteran. His face was full of sorrow over his desertion by his usual audience.

"We wondered whether that was really the way people were doing—forgetting the old soldiers—also whether the old soldiers were feeling as this old man in the picture seemed to feel," said an Indiana man. "So we took the picture and showed it to an old man who is a very familiar figure in our streets—on account of his faded army uniform. He looked at the picture and then he chuckled:

"Why, bless your soul, I don't feel that way," he told us. "I want to listen to 'em myself," he continued. "I want to know how they fought at Ypres and see if it was like we did at Antietam. And then, too, he smiled more. 'It's just this way. I've been honored for more than 50 years now, and during that time one gets just a little hungry for a chance to do a little honorin' himself. So now it's my chance to honor the young fellers. I'm glad the tables are turned for a little while, and I bet most of the other old comrades are, too.'"
