Albert Culbertson, of Myrtle Point, was taken out to the State Training School at Salem this morning by Probation Officer Dunham. The offense charged against him was larceny.

The County Court at its November meeting Wednesday and Thursday did little beside audit the October bills. It will meet again next Monday to take up the matter of the special taxes which are petitioned for in the various road districts.

The names of a number of subscribers whose time has expired will be dropped from the Sentinel list this week. We find a percentage of those who expect to continue the paper let the time pass unless their memory is jogged in this way.

Mrs. J. E. Ross and her mother, Mrs. Burchfield, came in Thursday afternoon last and the family is now comfortably settled in the Burkholder residence where John is happy to get home cooking again.

The Sentinel missed an opportunity to gain a reputation for foresight by not making a prediction as to the result of the Howell trial last week. But it was not alone in thinking the result would be a mistrial.

Mrs. Carrie Clinkenbeard, of Coquille, is here this week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Stevens. She is also assisting her father with a specially long job of press feeding, at which Mrs. Clinkenbeard is an expert.—North Bend Harbor.

Writing from another county to renew for the Sentinel a subscriber says: "You certainly have the best weekly newspaper that I have ever taken." Such compliments are appreciated. It doesn't do any editor any harm to receive a few bouquets while he is alive instead of getting them all posthumously.

"Let the Women Do It"

With the strong sentiment there is in Coquille now for the purchase of Lamb's Grove by the city the opposition of one or two men should not be allowed to block the deal. After paying her share of the Taylor street improvement there will be about $2,500 left of the amount received from the sale of the waterfront property and the city could not make a better investment than by applying it on the purchase of that grove. "Let the women buy it," was the sarcastic reply to the suggestion that the city ought to be moving in the grove matter at the council meeting Monday night, and the subject was thereupon dropped, but the women are not going to drop it. Those who have been outside this summer know what such parks and the attractions for tourists which they offer mean to places like Coquille, and they are all enthusiastic boosters for a similar camping ground here.

Hugh Is Selling the Cletrac

Hugh Harlocker, of this city, has made a connection with John J. Bateman for the sale of the Cletrac Tank-Type Tractor, otherwise known as the Cleveland Tractor. He has taken over the entire Coos and Curry county territory. Mr. Harlocker will devote all of his time and attention to the sales of Tractors and farm implements. He has just returned from taking a practical course in the handling of this particular tractor and reports that the farmers in the Willamette Valley are having fine success with the little Cletrac.

Mr. Harlocker has just received one of the latest types of the Cletrac, which he will have on display in this city. It will be Mr. Harlocker's pleasure to talk this proposition over with any farmer in any part of the two counties at their convenience.

Saturday's Mask Ball

The American Legion Masque Ball last Saturday night was the largest ever given in Coquille from point of numbers, Goulds Hall, being crowded to suffocation. Surprising, bewitching and original were the costumes prepared for the occasion and mention of only half of them would fill more than a column of the paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leach won the prizes for the most comic costumes, and Mrs. Martin, of Riverton, for the best sustained character. Two young ladies, whose names no one seems to have learned, won the prizes for the best dressed characters.

It was an event long to be remembered and added to the laurels already won by the Legion for giving enjoyable dances.

Church of God Moves

As we have moved our place of worship to the Presbyterian church we extend a welcome to all to our regular services, commencing November, the 9th. L. E. Neal, Pastor.

During the high water Monday a lot of Aasen Brothers' logs from the North Fork got away from their drivers and went past the boom bound merrily out to sea, but they were all corralled further down the river.

Petition For Market Road

J. D. Laird, was in from Sitkum Wednesday with a petition by the residents of the four road districts through which the old Coos Bay Wagon road runs, for a market road from the upper East Fork to Marshfield. The road is already graded for practically the whole distance and sentiment for improving it and making an every-month-in-the-year road of it is practically unanimous at Fairview, McKinley, Dora and Brewster Valley. Mr. Laird had 105 names on the petition and was going over to Marshfield with it to take it to Secretary Reid of the Advisory Board. He says that while most of the roads in those districts have been graded the planking, which has made it possible to drive a car from here to Brewster any time in the winter for years past has mostly rotted away and in many cases the roads are no better now than they were 15 years ago. But some of the best rock in the county is to be found on this line of road and they want an improvement that will last.

Roasting Ears for Thanksgiving

Two days ago the writer enjoyed a fine mess of green corn on the cob and it wasn't canned corn either, but fresh from the garden, where frost had not yet touched it. It was Golden Bantam replanted late in June. We have had a mess any day we wanted it for the past ten weeks. Roasting ears at this season are not to be had at many places in the United States north of 40 degrees north latitude, but it is possible to have it most years in the Coquille valley.

After we had written the above item J. L. Smith wanted us to ask reports as to how many people are getting roasting ears out of their gardens now. He had a mess yesterday, one day later than the editor has reported above, but ours is not all gone yet. He also wants to know how many people are enjoying fresh strawberries from their own gardens now, since having a luscious dish at Bandon Wednesday. There are doubtless some blackberries and raspberries, too.

To Have Saturday Auction

Attention is called to the announcement of Miller & Son elsewhere published in this issue. They have rented the Chase barn two blocks north of the city hall and besides being run as a livery and feed stable, they have added a feature which will certainly prove of great interest to the farmers of this section. Each Saturday afternoon they will hold an auction sale of stock of all kinds, wagons, harness, etc., where anything a farmer has to dispose of will be sold for him for a reasonable fee. The first sale will be held Saturday, Nov. 15, on one of the Corn Show days.

Skin Grafting Tried

The necessary skin grafting to furnish an epidermis for Jessie Pointer's right hand, which was so terribly injured between the rolls of the ironing machine at the laundry a few weeks ago, was done at the Coquille hospital yesterday, and she is reported to have had a good night's rest and to be "doing nicely." The material for the operation was taken from her own side, so that there is another wound to heal.

Another Link in the Chain

We hear of more than one further link in the chain of evidence that will be presented in the second trial of the Howell boy for murder to take place here shortly. The way in which the defendant's mother attempted to prevent John Leuthold from getting his eye on Harold's gun, when the weapon from which the fatal shot was fired was an object of search, makes a rather thrilling story in itself.

Room for Everybody

Almost everybody attends the Corn Show, but if there's any one in the valley who hasn't had that experience it's up to them to be here next Friday and Saturday and get an idea of what they have been missing so, these many years. The time has already arrived when there are youngsters who have no idea of there having been a time when the Corn Show was not.

Few Orders Filled

Postmaster Leneva tells us that only about a third of the army groceries ordered by Coquille people were received, several hundred dollars being returned to the purchasers. So far, he says, only a few gum boots have been received of the stuff ordered from the Quartermaster's department at Portland—no blankets at all.

Ladies to Give Carnival Dinner

The Ladies Aid of the Federated Church will on Saturday, Nov. 13, serve a Corn Carnival dinner at the church dining room from 11:30 to 1:00. The price of meals will be 50 cents.

IDEAL COUNTRY OF DELIGHT

Isle of Utilla Seem to Have Been Appropriately Designated "Lazy Man's Paradise."

...Worth while seems life on the Isle of Utilla. Its place on the map would be hard to find, but it's worth discovering. Away off in the Southern sea, never heard from before and but little known, it comes to the knowledge of the Pan-American union that here have Americans found a home that others enjoy when they are dead. "We call it a lazy man's paradise," says the message from this land of delight, "not that the inhabitants are necessarily indolent, but simply because a large amount of labor is superfluous. Nature provides for nearly all our wants here as in most tropical countries. Farming is our principal occupation, yet there is not a plow on the island. Frost is unknown and extreme heat is never experienced. Ninety degrees in the shade would be an unusually high temperature. Our grade schools are of high standard, attendance being compulsory ten months in the year. American text books exclusively are used and social life could not be distinguished from that of the United States. Utilla is one of the Bay Islands, a string of six verdant keys in the bay of Honduras, an arm of the Caribbean sea, which was discovered by Columbus in 1502. They were then thickly populated by native Indians, who became slaves. The islands now are inhabited wholly by English-speaking people. The first family to settle there was that of Joseph Cooper, who found upon landing two lonely American young men, Samuel and Joshua Warren by name. A few years later came Mark G. Morgan, an American from Philadelphia. The descendants of these men now inhabit the islands. These pioneers were the Puritan stock, all seafarers imbued with the spirit of adventure, who though filled with wanderlust, found conditions on the island so ideal that they planted their stakes deep and said: "Alabama—here we rest." Of the principal exports, 110,000,000 coconuts are sent yearly to the United States. There are fourteen Methodist churches and six of the Seventh Day Adventists on the islands with more than 700 members and 300 children to their Sunday schools.—Ohio State Journal.

If you want a splendid modern home at one-half what it would cost to build now, on two of the best corner lots in Coquille, or if you wish to buy a neat five room cottage near Court House for $1000, call on Ned C. Kelley.

The light that says "There it is!"

LOOK out for that tack!!
Don't let the dark trip you.
Don't stumble over a chunk of night.
Don't trip on a chair wrapped in blackness.
Don't fall victim to the garden rake, or the baby's tin soldiers that lie in wait for your bare feet.

Don't flirt with fickle night.
Go where you want to and get what you go after, and do it decently.

Take an EVEREADY into the night—and make things easy. You'll need it before bed-time.
