

The Lost Shoe Found

Henry Higgins, bachelor rancher of North Coos River, has W. L. Mast, a Bandon diver, at his place trying to locate an old shoe which Higgins says contains over $2,000, and which was thrown into the stream with some other debris. He knows where he threw the debris in, and hopes that the weight of the money, part of which is understood to have been gold, was sufficient to sink the shoe there.

Higgins and his brother, James, live together, hatching it, it is said. They were averse to putting their money in the bank and hence the loss.

It seems that Henry Higgins carried the funds in a wallet until a recent illness, and the weight of it bothered him. He is said to have placed it in an old shoe in the corner of the house and forgot to remove it when in housecleaning the old shoe was heaved with other articles into the stream.

He is said to have guaranteed Mast $200 to dive for it.—Coos Bay Times.

After spending $200 in diving and even finding the old shoe with nothing in it, the lost money was discovered in a kettle on a shelf in the kitchen and the agony is over.

Some Old Time Prices

Judge W. A. Wood, of Curry county, has a letter written in 1845 at Springfield, Illinois, by his grandfather, giving the following prices, indicating a decidedly low cost of living then:

Corn, 10 cents per bushel. Potatoes, 15 cents per bushel. Wheat, 30 cents per bushel. Flour, $2.50 per barrel. Hams, 4 cents per pound. Pickled pork, 3 cents per pound. Eggs 8 cents per dozen. Side Bacon from 2 1/2 to 4 cents per pound.

Doesn't Like to Furnish Targets

Archie Philip is determined to keep hunters off his place hereafter and has posted big red signs all along the marsh. A few days ago one of the hunters shot his best Jersey heifer, fortunately being at a distance, she was not seriously hurt. Archie has been busy since extracting the shot from her skin, and says he believes he has them all out, having found twelve.—Coos Bay Harbor.

It Would Be a Fair Exchange

Here is one of the oddest advertisements we ever saw in print. We clip it from the Gold Beach Reporter: To Exchange At The Reporter office, one Ladies Tan Button Shoe, left foot, size 3 1/2, for right shoe of same description. NO QUESTIONS ASKED.

The Oregon Farmer is still furnished for $2.15 in connection with the Sentinel, and why its publishers shouldn't ask a dollar or a dollar and a half a year for a paper as good as they furnish, we don't understand.
