$50 Fine Remitted

A Powers letter says that Harry Sargent has returned from Coquille where he served a term of ten days in jail for contempt of court, imposed by Justice Zimmerman. On returning to Powers he gave himself up to answer the original charge against him and on which he was arraigned when the contempt punishment was given. The court showed leniency and fined Sargent $50 and costs amounting to $25, but remitted the fine of $50 during good behavior.

The Sunset Magazine and the Sentinel are now furnished in combination for $5.
