Mrs. Chase Entertains

One of the delightful social events of the season was a dinner given by Mrs. Chase at her home Friday evening, Dec. 12, to the officers and teachers of the Public School.

Due to Mrs. Chase's duties at school on that day the officers' wives assisted in the preparation of the meal. All the teachers will assure you that they were good cooks.

Miss Sweet and Miss Fitzgerald showed special esthetic ability in the decoration of the two long tables. Baskets filled with Christmas holly sat in the center of tables to which were attached red streamers extending to each plate. At the end of the streamers were sprigs of holly and beautifully hand-painted place cards.

Mrs. Brandon proved a brilliant toast mistress. Every guest present responded and many brought out humorous situations in school life, often at the expense of other guests. The occasion was a particularly happy one in evidencing the cordial relations among teachers and school officers.

Before separating the toastmistress referred to the scores of mothers who like herself had the comfort of knowing that when their children started off to school they would be under the care of a mother heart which was big enough for them all. In response, all present stood in silent tribute to Mrs. Chase.

Those present were Mesdames Baker, Lawrence, Morrison, Ellingsen, Mulkey, Tuttle, Brandon, Dungey, Chase, Misses O'Farrel, Whitney, Sweet, Hough, Schneider, Fitzgerald, Willoughby, Kennedy and Lund; Messrs. Baker, Mulkey, Lawrence, Morrison, Ellingsen, Tuttle, Brandon, Bradley, Chase, Sparks and Kistner.

Editor Celebrates His Birthday

Wednesday the editor of the Sentinel celebrated his 72nd birthday, along with his youngest granddaughter's fifth as he has done ever since Miss Carol has been having birthdays. She is a native of Oregon born in Coquille, while we first saw the light on the shores of old Long Island within a mile of the briny deep. It is now over forty-five years since the writer went into the newspaper business at Galva, Illinois, 27 of those having been spent in southeastern Kansas, three in Colorado and seven in Oregon. If it be true, as we used to hear, that the substance of the human body is completely changed each seven years, we are now all Oregonians. That our health has very much improved during the past year is one of the blessings for which we are profoundly thankful. Indeed, we are beginning to entertain hopes of spending another score of years at the editorial desk.

Mrs. Chas. Harlocker Entertains

Tuesday evening Mrs. Chas. Harlocker entertained the Junior "500" club at her cosy home in the east part of town, with sixteen guests present. Five tables were played, Mrs. T. B. Currie winning the club prize and Mrs. Tracy Leach the grand prize. Mrs. Harlocker was assisted in serving refreshments by Miss Edna Harlocker and Mrs. M. J. Hartson. These ladies remained for some time to wait the coming of the new day that was to witness the end of the world, but were disappointed, as nothing unusual happened.

Is Agent for Moline Tractor

On another page of this issue will be found the advertisement of the Moline tractor and those who know the reputation of the implements and machinery made at Moline, Illinois, will need no further guaranty as to the excellence of this tractor. Thomas H. Hanley, of Coquille, is the agent for Coos and Curry counties and is prepared at any time to demonstrate the workings of this tractor on the Hanley ranch at Lampa. Any one interested is cordially invited to call there and see it in operation.

The Sunset Magazine and the Sentinel are now furnished in combination for $3.

Recruits Wanted For Army

Lieutenant E. B. Jackson, Color Sergeant Wallace, Sergeant Leach and Corporal Formeller, all of the 1st U. S. Infantry, Camp Lewis, Wash., came in Wednesday on recruiting duty and expect to leave for Marshfield today. They are not only accepting men for Camp Lewis, but are accepting them for Panama, Hawaii, the Philippines or any place where Uncle Sam is maintaining an Army and needs men. A man enlisting now may choose the branch of the service he prefers as well as the country to which he wishes to go.

Congress recently made war time pay in the Army permanent and it ranges from $30 to $121.50 per month, to which must be added the value of rations, clothing, quarters, light, heat, medical attendance and dental treatment, which is estimated to be equivalent to an increase in the monthly payment of from $50 to $65 or more.

The recruiters are presenting the Army in a new light—as an education or as a career. The Army has become a school, both where a man can make up deficiencies in mental training and, much more, a technical school, where he can learn any one of a number of trades in which good wages are paid in civil life. There are schools for electricians, firemen, wireless experts, engineers, telegraph and cable operators, and mechanics of various kinds. The men not only learn these trades, but have actual practice in them, so that when their enlistment expires they are finished, skilled workmen, able to hold their own with anybody.

The way to West Point and a commission has also been opened for enlisted men, and commissions from the ranks may be obtained by those who are qualified, so that no opportunity is denied to the man who wishes to make a career in the Army.

Enlistments are now being made for one to three years and ages are 18 to 40 in the line—Staff Corps 18 to 55 years inclusive.

American Legion Notes

Great interest is being shown by members of the American Legion here in basket ball. They are beginning to practice and expect to have a strong team on the floor in a very short time. They have some excellent material from which to build a winning team.

The Legion is in receipt of a letter from the Grant Hodge post at Centralia, in which that post expresses its appreciation of the resolutions sent them by this post regarding the Armistice Day outrage.

The war is over—but don't forget you're an American. Report any one standing up for the Red flag to the local post.

Marc Brown's Body Recovered

While running logs on the North Fork near the Lee school house Marcus Brown was drowned on Dec. 10. The body was not recovered until Sunday morning, Dec. 14, at 11 o'clock about 100 yards below where the drowning occurred. Interment took place in the Dora cemetery on Monday at 11 o'clock, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. Thos. Barklow.

Marcus L. Brown was born at Osburn, Neb., July 26, 1897, and died Dec. 10, 1919. He was 22 years, 4 months and 25 days old at his death. His bright, lovable disposition made him a general favorite in the community and all McKinley join the family in mourning his loss.

Port of Coquille River Sued

The Port of Coquille river is again being sued for damages on account of brush it had had cut along the river and had not cleaned up. A freshet came along and swept the fallen brush in a mass against the boom of the Myrtle Point Mill Co., carrying it out. Once before the Port commissioners had to pay damage to P. L. Phelan for the loss of a boom and once to Capt. Panter for the sinking of one of his boats due to the same cause.
