

TO PROPERTY OWNERS IN COOS COUNTY

This will explain to you how you can reduce the cost of your fire insurance.

THE OREGON FIRE RELIEF ASSOCIATION was organized in McMinnville, Oregon, 25 years ago, for the purpose of insuring the property of its members at cost. In this 25 years the Association has saved its members approximately 40 per cent. No fire traps are insured; no policy is issued for over $4,000.00 on any one piece of property; no merchandise stocks, stores, garages, factories, etc., are accepted. Every house insured in this association must be in good condition and in a locality where the fire risk is not great. These are the reasons why this association is able to save its policy holders approximately 40 per cent.

THE FOLLOWING FACTS SHOW THE CONDITION OF THE ASSOCIATION

1. The Association has over 40,000 customers in Oregon.
2. The Association has over 50,000 policies in force in Oregon.
3. These policies cover property for more than $47,000,000.00 insurance.
4. The Association has conducted a successful business for over 25 years and paid every loss.
5. The Association has over 700 customers in Coos county already.

The State Insurance Commissioner says: "As the strength of a financial institution is measured by comparison of its surplus and assets, it is apparent that THE OREGON FIRE RELIEF ASSOCIATION occupies an enviable position, as its surplus is more than 50 per cent of its total assets. If you will examine other insurance corporations you will find few which can show the same relative strength. The company has an excellent reputation for promptness in the settlement of its losses, and it must necessarily be fair or it could not continue to hold the patronage of its members."

Although a mutual company, THE OREGON FIRE RELIEF ASSOCIATION issues a policy which is absolutely non-assessable. Its policy holders are NOT liable to be assessed to pay the losses of other members of the Association. Under the Oregon law, "A mutual company with $200,000.00 of assets and a surplus of over $100,000.00 created through the operation of its business, may issue policies which are non-assessable." THE OREGON FIRE RELIEF ASSOCIATION has over $400,000.00 assets, and a surplus of over $150,000.00. There is no record of any mutual company ever having failed that had accumulated in the course of its business a net surplus of over $50,000.00.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN LOWER FIRE INSURANCE RATES?

If you have farm property, or city residence property which is not a fire trap, call on or write to the agent at address below and he will call to inspect your property and submit rates to you. He will be glad to explain the OREGON FIRE RELIEF method to you.

On a "Candy Debauch"
Secretary Huston, of the department of agriculture, says the American people are on a "candy debauch," and that if they will quit eating sweets for a little while they will see what will happen to sugar prices. Perhaps, but now that booze is gone those who were addicted to its use are taking to candy as a duck does to water. We don't blame them a bit either and are willing to pay, three or four prices for sugar in order to give them all they want until high prices stimulate production.

Jolly New Year's Party

The New Year 1920 was surely accorded a most hearty welcome in the Parkersburg neighborhood last Wednesday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Drane held sway with a jolly, never-to-be-forgotten party. Many of the guests were arrayed in costumes which were the source of much merriment to the onlookers, and it was no easy task for the judges to decide just who was the possessor of the most beautiful garb. However, Miss Hazel Newton captured the ladies' prize and Mr. John Auer the men's. The evening was spent in playing games both old and new, and in visiting in just good, friendly fashion. Shortly after midnight a delicious repast was served to the 85 assembled guests, and it was truly in the wee small hours when the party finally broke up and the guests departed voting Mr. and Mrs. Drane real joy-givers and wishing them everything good for the new year.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Elmore Drane, T. P. Hanly, Thomas Hanly, Sam Clinton, P. A. Lux, W. A. Sloan, Richard Danielson, Hillis Perkins, John Auer, Eugene Hamblock, Thomas Devereux Jr., Henry Miller, J. T. Jenkins, Thomas Devereux Sr., Earl Cochran, Elmer Hufford, Chas. Planalp; Mesdames Julia Randleman, R. B. Knife, Clarence Roberts, T. W. Drane and Sherman Hufford; Messrs. Charles Newton, Jackson Knife, George Newton, Grover Gouthier, John V. Hamblock, Orville Newton, Wayne, Epperson, Phil Devereux, Archie Newton, Errol Sloan, Keith Jenkins, Jesse Hamblock, Roy Gilkey, Frank Hamblock, Ray Hamblock, Ralph Planalp, Russel Planalp, Malcolm Jenkins, and Roy Jenkins; Lowell Lux, Bob Hamblock, Neil Jenkins, Donald Auer, Carmen Hamblock, Jack Auer, Ralph Hufford, Norman Clinton, Fred Clinton; Misses Gertrude Bogard, Loretta Devereux, Teresa Devereux, Elizabeth Merchant, Alda Sloan, Ena Clinton, Harriet Danielson, Pauline and Velvo Miller, Sadie and Julia Hamblock, Addie and Hazel Newton, Teresa and Roboh Willard, Viola Knife, Dorothy, Alice and Myrtle Newton.

New Year's at Lee

A New Year's reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Mast for the service boys of Lee and surrounding neighborhood.

The dining room was prettily decorated with cedar, clusters of hawthorne berries and American flags. The living room also was decorated with flags and Oregon grape.

A sumptuous and bountiful dinner was served. The table fairly groaned under its weight of good eats.

Those present were: Messrs. Wiley Summerlin, Dick Summerlin, Carl Anderson, Jim Watts, Roy Stout, Charley Rackleff, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman King, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Lawhorn, Mr. and Mrs. William Mast, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Mast, Myrtle and Lloyd Mast.

After all had partaken of the delectable viands to their heart's content, the guests proceeded to the living room where music and singing were enjoyed for a time, after which progressive whist was played for the rest of the evening, a most enjoyable time being had by all present.

Coos Does It Differently

Members of the farm bureau of Linn county at a luncheon conference held in Albany Wednesday decided to finance the office of the county agricultural agent by private subscription, the request to the county court to include that office in the annual budget having been denied. This will make the third year that the farmers and business men of the county have contributed the proportion of the county agent's expense which is supposed to be borne by taxation. After the meeting 22 men mutually pledged themselves to raise $100 each, $500 being subscribed before the meeting adjourned.

Coos county likes the county agent plan so well that we have two of that class, one paid by the state and county and one by three banks.

Come and bring the kids to see "The Hoodlum" at the Liberty Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 13th and 14th. If you haven't any borrow your neighbors. Believe me, you'll have "some time."

Death of J. C. Wilcox

Word has been received in Marshfield of the death in San Francisco of J. C. Wilcox, formerly a resident of North Bend and one of the first settlers in that city when it was founded. In the wide open days he conducted a big dance hall, saloon and gambling room there which was known all over the Coast. The fortune he made was lost when he fought prosecutions which ended in a sentence of a year in jail. He was pardoned by Governor Chamberlain just before the latter left the executive chair to become United States senator. The passing of Wilcox's place in North Bend was one of the last changes in this locality from the wide open days to the new condition of affairs.

How to Help Enumerators

Each head of a family can facilitate the taking of the census if he will procure a copy of the questions and write the answers using the numbers to indicate the paragraphs. He will find it fascinating work and the enumerator will call him blessed.—Oregonian.

That's the idea. Take last week's Sentinel, grasp your pencil and go to it.
