

MINOR MENTION.

Telling About People and Events in the City and County.

E. C. Roberts, of Myrtle Point, was a Sentinel caller this morning.

Hemstitching done at Maybelle Ford's Millinery.

Judge Coke came over here today to take up the pending naturalization cases.

Look over the list of odds and ends Quick advertises. Very likely he has something you want.

Earl Cochran, of Parkersburg, was doing business in Coquille yesterday and made the Sentinel a call.

Assessor J. P. Beyers went home sick with the grip a couple of days ago and is now confined to his bed.

We know "The Beach Models" will captivate you when they appear in person at the Liberty Theatre, Feb. 26th.

Planting garden has been the rule here in Coquille this week. The appeal of such weather couldn't be resisted.

Wednesday noon the Marshfield schools were dismissed until next Monday on account of sickness among both pupils and teachers.

You are invited to spend these long rainy evenings at the Club Billard Hall, clean, warm, comfortable. Follow the crowd.

While the Coquille team won in the debate with Bandon here last week, Marshfield is said to have carried off the honors in the county.

"The Beach Models" carry their own scenic and electrical effects. They will appear at the Liberty theatre, Thursday, February 26th.

If you want a Portland daily in connection with your Sentinel subscription you will find that we make an attractive combination price.

"The Beach Models" appear first on the screen in their latest comedy, "Dog Days," and then appear in person in a miniature song and dance revue.

R. A. Wernich, of the Coquille Lumber Mills, informs us that he has in contemplation the establishment of a saw and door factory here some time in the future.

Spectacles and Eye glasses repaired while you wait. Broken lenses duplicated. Satisfaction guaranteed, by V. R. Wilson, the Optometrist, Coquille, Oregon.

A. T. Morrison has gone out to Eugene to spend a couple of weeks in the Willamette valley, working in the interest of the Bankers Life Insurance company.

They say in China, the chinks pay fifty cents to see the bathing girl comedies. According to that "The Beach Models in Person" would play at $2.00 per seat.

Mrs. Owen Knowlton, war called on yesterday afternoon to assist at the county clerk's office, both Mr. Oddy and Miss Bunch having been taken with the grip during the day.

While the schools, the churches, the theater, the pool halls and the lumber mills are all closed and there are practically no social functions this week, the newspapers go on just the same.

Before the shut down at the Coquille Lumber Mills, a beginning was made in lath manufacture, 7,000 being produced in half a day by green men. The capacity of the plant is about 20,000 a day.

State Senator Walter B. Jones, of Eugene, and W. T. Alpine, of Wisconsin, were in Coquille recently on their way to Riverton, where they are interested in the John-Jones Coal company mines.

Dr. J. L. Masson, the Myrtle Point veterinarian, was a caller Tuesday. As will be seen from a notice published elsewhere in this issue he has taken on the sale of Atterbury trucks as a side line.

C. D. Jarman and J. T. Jenkins, dairymen of the lower valley, were callers last Friday. They were much interested in the organization of the Jersey Breeders' association elsewhere reported.

The venerable plant at the Coquille Lumber Mills under the management of Mr. Deylan, has begun to turn out some very fine specimens—smooth as glass on one side and rough as sandpaper on the other.

H. C. Gets, bookkeeper at the Coquille Lumber Mills, has purchased the house where L. L. Bunch has been living—one of the Folsom bunch of houses on East First street next to the Beech street bridge.

There will be two entire shows at the Liberty theatre Thursday, February 26th, to accommodate the crowds who are eager to see "The Beach Models" appearing in person.

Mrs. E. P. East, of McKinley, whose maiden name was Emeline Woodring, died Tuesday evening at her home and was buried Wednesday. She was one of the colony of 65 who came to Coos county in 1872 from North Carolina.

Among the projects to be voted on at Eugene at a special election soon will be bonds for $22,000 for 100 acres of aviation field, $12,000 for bridge in city, $10,000 for tourist camp grounds and $25,000 for more fire equipment.

N. N. Neiman, who sold his East-side store, a couple of months ago, was over from the Bay Tuesday. He is now salesman for the Marshfield-North Bend district of Coos county for the line of automobiles handled by J. J. Bateman.

E. O. Clinton has resigned his position in the Farmers Union store here to go to work in a logging camp where wages are higher. Mr. Chase has engaged the services of Frank Schram, an experienced clerk from the Bay, to take his place.

The Coquille Lumber Mills (formerly the Sitka) was shut down Wednesday owing to so many of the workmen being sick and so many others having severe cases of sickness in their families. The Johnson mill has shut down for the same reason.

Chas. Strang and family started yesterday morning for Montague, Shasta Valley, California, where he has bought a ranch and will engage in farming. Mr. Strang has done lots of road work in Coos county and will be missed by a host of friends here.

The management of "The Beach Models Co." didn't only pick beautiful girls, but also selected talented ones.

Mrs. Justine Ferris returned last Tuesday from her visit of several months in Portland. She was accompanied by her brother, E. O. Howe, whose home is near Eugene. He is spending several days visiting his daughters, Mrs. J. C. Savage and Mrs. Earl Graham.

Mary Ellen Cary entertained a number of her young friends at a Valentine party last Saturday afternoon, the guests appearing in costume. A very enjoyable time was had by the little folks, although many of those invited were prevented by sickness from being present.

While the Liberty Theater is shut down now along with so many other places, and is being thoroughly cleaned and fumigated on account of the prevailing epidemic, Manager Gage doesn't consider it closed on account of any official order, and is preparing to open again next week.

D. C. Krantz has added to his place a couple of blocks west of the Sentinel office by buying an acre of land from off the west end of the Stanley place just south of his. He has also added to his milk supply by buying one of Mr. Chase's Jersey cows for $125.

"The Beach Models" will appear in a thirty minute Song and Dance Revue at the Liberty Theatre, Thursday, February 26th.

Roy A. Wernich has added to his recent purchase of real estate on the Marshfield road by buying the place where Jack Juza used to live, adjoining it on the south—about two acres more. He is having plans made for the enlargement and remodeling of the Ferris residence.

Miss Agnes Brault met with a serious and nearly fatal accident Sunday evening when, while returning to her home in Bay City, she slipped off the wharf near Bay City and went down twice before Mr. Reiox succeeded in pulling her out. She is suffering today from a sprained ankle.—Coos Bay Times.

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Wilson entertained with eight tables of "500" at their home last Friday evening, both ladies and gentlemen. The evening was very pleasantly spent and after the games were finished, a delicious two-course luncheon was served. The guests were emphatic in their words of appreciation of the pleasant evening they had enjoyed.

Mrs. W. V. Glaisyer last Saturday gave a Valentine party for her two children, Allington and Elizabeth, at which the guests in attendance were twelve of their little friends. They enjoyed the afternoon very pleasantly making valentines, playing games, etc., and their visit ended with appetizing and dainty refreshments which they all fully appreciated.

"Miss Pan," who will appear in person with "The Beach Models," at the Liberty Theatre, Feb. 26, was at one time champion lady fancy diver of Australia.

Expert Carpenter Work
First Class remodeling or building new houses, done with neatness and dispatch. Finish work a specialty. See M. J. Kern or phone 345. 414*

Call on us for stationery.

The Coos county stockgrowers are not at all in doubt that prices have gone up. They are asking the county court to offer a bounty of $100 on coyotes, which are said to be increasing so fast as to make stockgrowing a very precarious business.

Miss Kena Danielson, who was for so long one of the most popular clerks at the court house, was a caller this morning. She and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Danielson, have been spending the past four months visiting her sister, Mrs. I. B. Davidson at Bellingham, Wash. Of course Miss Kena found work in an office there during the time, as she is constitutionally averse to idleness.

Jack Juza, of Gold Beach, who was for so many years connected with the Sentinel office, is quite ill again—so bad that he was unable to come to the phone one day this week to talk about an important business matter. It will be remembered that he was ill for many weeks a year ago following the flu and that grave fears began to be felt as to the outcome, his heart being very seriously affected.

For the past two months Dr. Edwards, the health officer over at the Bay, says there have been the following number of cases quarantined: by Dr. Houseworth 2, by Dr. Horsfall 4, by Dr. Keizer 15, by Dr. Edwards 4. In Empire 4. In all, 27 cases quarantined. This, observes the Harbor, is a wide variation from the report sent to the Oregonian from Marshfield which stated we had from 200 to 300 cases here.

"The Beach Models" who appear in person at the Liberty theatre, Thursday, February 26, come direct from a two day engagement at the Noble Theatre, Marshfield.

City Council Advertizes Bonds
A short session of the city council was held last evening to authorize the sale of improvement bonds, amounting to $1862.03, for the Hall and Front street bridge. This being the only matter mentioned in the call for the meeting, no other business was transacted, although Mrs. Hattie Bledsoe appeared before the body to ask that Third street be graded from Taylor to Moulton street, in order that access might be had to the houses on the north side of Third. She was told that if two-thirds of the property owners would petition for it the improvement could be made; otherwise the matter would have to follow the prescribed routine, be advertised, and street cut to the established grade.

She also asked the council to do something toward removing the old half-burned structure across the street east from the Bledsoe house.

Wm. Oddy reports the sale through his agency this week of the Mrs. DeLing property, consisting of a house and two lots in Nessler addition north of the Academy, to O. K. Rakestraw. This consideration was $1050.

Suffer in Bandon's Stead
The basket ball game with Bandon here last Friday evening was called off by the visitors owing to the fact that members of the team were in the debate that same evening, but that did not prevent the locals from getting revenge from some one for their two previous defeats, as they prevailed on the Myrtle Point high school team to come down for a schedule game. The Pointers, who had to patch up their team in a hurry were pretty badly smeared to the tune of 28 to 3, but they would have had to have a dandy five to have stopped the local bunch that evening. Every one of the Coquille boys played a splendid game that evening and have evidently hit their stride.

Milk on Coos River
Mrs. Frank Rogers was here from their Coos River ranch Saturday. She states that the Rogers' ranch is now shipping more milk than all of the rest of the South Coos River ranches.—Coos Bay Times.

We should like to hear of a dairy ranch on any of the forks of the Coquille that is producing as much milk as any of the rest in its neck of the woods. But such a ranch doesn't exist.

"The Beach Models" will appear in chic and daring bathing toggery at the Liberty Theatre, Thursday, Feb. 26th. The show is clean and refined.

See the Atterbury Tractors
A carload of the famous Atterbury Tractors is now on display at Myrtle Point, which I will be glad to show to those who contemplate buying. Two trucks of this make have been in use there for a year without a cent's worth of repairs—and in the logging business at that—which gives some idea of how they carry on. One of these trucks one day last week handled there the largest log ever carried by a truck of that capacity. J. L. Masson, County Agent for Atterbury Trucks

Marriage Licenses

Feb. 11—Harry A. Wilson and Myrtle Gibson, both of North Bend. They were married the same day by Rev. A. G. Anderson, at the Lutheran parsonage at Marshfield.

Feb. 11—Harold Lewellen Young and Alta Randleman, of Bandon. They were married here the same day by Rev. A. B. Barry at the parsonage.

Feb. 11—Dane C. Goodman and Cora Belle Dye, both of Marshfield. They were married on the 13th at the residence of the bride's parents by Rev. R. C. Kephart, pastor of the Methodist church.

Feb. 17—Reuben Griffith and Ida Cochran, both of Bandon.

Feb. 17—Archie A. Slocum, of Marshfield, and Clara B. Wright, of Sumner.

Feb. 17—Emmett Hammack, of Coquille, and Perna Barklow, of Myrtle Point.

Feb. 19—Eugene H. Imler and Florence Flanagan, both of Marshfield.

"The Beach Models in Person" appeared at the Symphony theatre, Los Angeles, for two solid weeks.

Central Has Grievance

The writer, who was not at the Sentinel office when it got afire last week, did not say just what he should have in relation to the fault in the telephone service at that time. Central rang the street alarms—the little bells at the city hall, Fuhrman's and the Busy Corner—and notified Fire Chief Chase of the location of the fire. Recorder Lawrence tried repeatedly to get central to find where the fire was in order to ring the fire bell in a way to indicate where the fire was. He was utterly unable to do so, the result being that he was unable to learn the location or ring the bell until the fire was out—in fact, did not ring it. This was the second time within a month that Central failed to function at the time of a fire and we can see no reason why the operator should have called the editor down so hard. It might mean thousand of dollars difference in a fire loss to neglect to give the information asked.

They Are Praying for Rain

The normal snowfall at Tamarack in the San Joaquin valley, California, is something over 15 feet; and when it dropped to two this winter, the churches in the San Francisco bay section begin to pray for rain. The fruit crop is practically the entire resource in the Santa Clara valley and without rain this winter and the ground as dry now as in August the chances of a crop look very dubious just now.

Sunday School Convention

The Sunday school convention at the Federated church was well attended and the sessions proved both interesting and profitable to the teachers in attendance. Mr. Humbert's sermon Sunday morning was listened to with close attention by a crowded house, the worshippers at the Christian church coming over in a body to attend the services.

To Keep Boys Out

At the Bay, Constable Goodman has been busy looking after minors who are frequenting pool halls. All pool hall proprietors have been notified to enforce the law. Boys who put a slip of paper marked 21 in their shoes and then lie about their age, or misrepresent it in any other way, are subject to a fine of $10.

Snow This Morning

We haven't had snow enough here this winter to whiten the ground. The few scattering flakes that were seen this morning are, however, a reminder that the stuff which has been piled up in the streets of New York, blocking traffic for a week or two early this month, is not entirely foreign to this coast.

New Cases in Circuit Court

Feb. 11—Sarah M. Van De Car vs. Bennett Timothy Van De Car. Suit for divorce.

Feb. 17—John K. Kollock vs. Coos county, and the Sheriff, county judge and County Commissioners.

Feb. 18—L. M. Travis vs. Henry W. Wiebke and ———— Wiebke, his wife.

Take a tip—be on hand early Thursday, Feb. 26th, at the Liberty Theatre, if you want to see "The Beach Models Appearing in Person."

Russ Lands Offered for Sale

The lands of the Russ Improvement Co. have now all been platted and are offered to the public in tracts of any size desired. L. P. Branistetter.

"The Beach Models" have the reputation of having some of the most elegant wardrobes on the road today.

The offer of the Sunset and the Sentinel both for one year for $3.00 still holds good.

TESTS SHOW GERMS IN MILK

Multiplication of Bacteria Causes Rapid Deterioration—Value for Food Lessened.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Extensive experiments conducted at the government farm, Beltsville, Md., show that milk drawn into a sterile pail from dirty cows contained an average of 32,677 bacteria per cubic centimeter, while milk drawn from clean cows whose udders and teats were washed immediately previous to milking had a content of only 4,047 germs per cubic centimeter. These tests were made immediately after milking. Naturally on standing the milk with the greatest number of bacteria would deteriorate most rapidly due to the multiplication of the germs. Accordingly its value as a human food product would be greatly reduced, while its introduction on the city market would be carefully scrutinized, and in some cases punished by the health authorities.

Pride should cause every dairyman to maintain his cows in an attractive, clean and sanitary condition every day in the year. In a way the appearance of the cow is an accurate measure of the owner. In the same degree that neglected fences, overrun fence rows, tumbledown buildings and un-housed machinery typify the shiftless, never-do-well farmer, dairy cows which are dirty indicate the milk farmer who does not safeguard consumers against contaminated milk.

PROTECTION FOR DAIRY COW

Exposure to Cold Rains is Often More Injurious Than Colder Weather of Winter.

The dairy cow often suffers the most from exposure to the weather before real winter has begun. After steady cold comes the cow is generally stabled. Exposure to cold rains in November is often more injurious to the animal than the colder but dry weather later in the winter.

The dairy cow is not like the fat steer, protected from cold by a layer of fat. As a result bad weather causes a big drop in milk production. So long as the weather is dry it is just as well to leave the cow outside nights, but every cold rain should find her protected.

The main thing is to have tight walls so there is no draft or wind and a good roof. Care should be taken in arranging the stalls in the form of a platform of the right length and a gutter of sufficient depth to hold the manure. The cleanliness of the milk depends to a considerable extent upon having the barn built so the cow will keep herself clean.—Clemson College Bulletin.

One of the Family

We had a beautiful outdoor wedding for our sister on a September morning. Elaborate floral arches, altar, etc., had been arranged. Our guests were assembled. From out the house came the procession, the minister leading, the bride and bridegroom with their attendants, when to the merriment of all, our family dog joined in the procession, walking along slowly as the rest, and he laid down by the altar during the ceremony.—Chicago Tribune.

RUBBING IT IN.

Doctor Green—Your father insisted me. Said he wouldn't have me attend a cat for him.

Miss Koon—The idea! I don't see why papa should fear to commit a cat to your charge—a cat has nine lives.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Top and Bottom.

"I'm glad I'm not a Hindu soldier," remarked the private who was always late to formations.

"Why?" asked the sergeant who was always calling him down for that falling.

"It's bad enough," responded the chronically tardy one, "to get my legs dressed in time for reveille, let alone wrapping an extra spiral leggin' around my head."

Helped Where Help Was Needed.

"You told him to diet," said the young doctor's wife.

"Yes, I told him to eat only the very plainest food and very little of that." "Do you think that will help him?" "It will help him pay my bill!"—Boston Transcript.

Hard to Forgive.

Miss Pansy Prynin has worn a look of superior gloom and refused to allow home to be happy for several days. Her father lightly alluded to her cowboy hero's "chaps" as his mother furs.—Washington Star.

Gentleman.

The original form of the word "gentleman" was Gentle-man—signifying a convert to Christianity.
