GOULD & GOULD

Miss Columbo Goes to Hospital

Katherine Columbo, of Englewood, recently resigned her position as typist in the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce and came over here the first of the month to accept a similar position in the office of Mr. N. A. Louka, the field man of this zone in the Oregon Dairymen's Co-operative League. On Saturday, after she had been here only a few days, Miss Columbo was taken seriously ill and by Sunday night her illness developed into an acute attack of appendicitis. Monday morning she was taken over to Marshfield on a stretcher, where Dr. Horsfall operated on her the same day.

Miss Talmadge takes the part of Georgianna Chadbourne, who is relieved of a too-good-for-any-use husband at twenty, and who sallies forth in search of a man who can give her a thrill. She finds him too!

The Marshfield Central Labor Council is actively campaigning for Cox for president.
