

YEAR'S GREETING

To Our Friends and Customers

We wish you during the coming year the happiness and prosperity you so richly deserve.

For ourselves, we are gratified for the consideration and the favors you have shown us, and we hope to merit your further support by the continuation of our sincere and earnest efforts to give you at all times the very lowest prices possible in keeping with the goods we handle.

We did not advance our prices with the markets as they were advancing but on the other hand bought heavy so we could protect you as far as possible. The new year finds us with one third less stock than last new year's day as we looked for dropping markets, which have come, so as to give you the lowest prices. We are taking our loss as we go along, following the market down.

Below we give you some prices at the high point and our prices on today's market.

Why Change Your Will?

This question is answered in a great picture at the Liberty Theatre & Friday, Jan. 15th and 16th.

"Milk" and "Butter"

(From Farm House News)

Though the farmer gets both more than a dollar a bushel of the best of milk, and a dollar a pound of butter, he still makes more from the milk than from the butter. The reason is that the milk is sold at a higher price than the butter.

Remember when speaking for the South that it was only 15 years from a year to get the Oregon Farmer, an excellent agricultural paper for a year.

Cowan-Staninger

Last Monday night at 8 o'clock the marriage of the Methodist Christian church Frank P. Cowan was united to marry to Audrey M. Staninger, daughter of J. A. Staninger, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. Brown.

The groom is in the employ of the Fraser Mill company at its camp on the lower river, while the bride is one of Coquille's most popular young ladies.

The newly wedded pair came to Coquille for their honeymoon, but will make their home at Hinton. Their many friends here are extending congratulations and best wishes in which the Sentinel heartily joins.
