Thos. Heaton, the contractor, returned last week from a trip to Portland and the Sound. While on this trip he constructed a building at Everett, Washington, and has the contract of Dr. J. B. Moore, formerly of this city, for the construction of two more buildings at a place called Lentz, just outside of Portland. He will return to that place in a short time.

Dr. J. D. Whitmore, of Yaquina Bay, has rented the Collier residence near the depot and will be located here with his family about July 12. The Doctor's former home was at Chicago, Illinois. Having become a resident of our state in 1902, he has since held two offices of responsibility and trust, and has been the physician and surgeon for Siletz Reservation, and state health officer of Yaquina Bay harbor. The Doctor's credentials are of the best, and we welcome him among us.

There is not to be found a tone more musical, pure and sonorous, than that contained in the Erhardt Piano, which is especially adapted for the home parlor. This piano comes in oak, walnut and fancy mahogany, and out of three hundred and fifty-one pianos made in this county, not one is better suited for the home than the Erhardt.

There have been several cases of sickness in town the past week among some of the children which had somewhat the appearance of pneumonia, but in each case much better at present. The afflicted ones were Mr. Stanley's little daughter, Mr. Davis' little son, Mr. Upton's little boy and Mr. Lowe's little boy.

The body of Grandma Robison who died last week at the home of her daughter Mrs. W. H. Averill at Brownsville, Oregon, was interred at the Fishtrap cemetery on Monday. The body was brought in by her sons G. T. and B. F. Robison and grandsons George and Ithmer, who had arrived at her bedside a few hours before she passed away. We will give a sketch of this venerable old lady in our next issue.

D. W. Morley, of the Lee section, accompanied by his brother, L. B. Morley, who arrived here last week from Johnson county, Tennessee, made our office a pleasant call on Monday as these gentlemen were on their way to the bay side to look at the country. The new arrival is the clerk of the county in which he lives and is an affable gentleman whom we would be pleased to have locate with us in case he concludes to camp to the coast. He is very favorably impressed with our town.

We realize that no inducements in piano buying have ever been offered to the people here, to compare with the extraordinary low prices which we are enabled to give, and for reasons explained elsewhere in these columns. These pianos are fresh from the manufacture and are of latest improvement and design. If you want a piano of standard make now is the time to save money.

Death on the Bar.

Death has another time visited this section and two more lives have passed away, James Costello of this place, and William Harris, of Port Orford, being the victims. Messrs Costello and Harris started to cross out over the bar, this morning at 5 o'clock, in Costello's gasoline launch, and after getting as far as the end of the south jetty, turned to come back, but after turning the engine seems to have stopped. The life saving crew were watching and had gone half-way down, and seeing that something was wrong started for the boat, but before they got there the boat was thrown upon the south jetty and the damage done.

Costello's body was secured within five minutes, but life was dashed out upon the jagged rocks rather than by drowning.

A small boat that was being towed behind was smashed to pieces. The launch drifted out to sea being well filled with water.

The body of Harris has not been recovered as we go to press. Mr. Harris was about 30 years old and Mr. Costello was past 60.—Bandon Recorder.

Marshall & Wendall.

Have manufactured these pianos for fifty-two years past, and it is a matter of record that there is not a single inhabited county within the borders of these United States where they are not in use. Coos county comes in with a representation of nearly a quarter of a century, and the pianos are in perfect order today. E. M. FURMAN CO. sell them.
