Note and Comment.

With all the Russian warships that are within dredging distance, the Japanese might let the interned ones alone.

The highbinder outrages in New York are not any strong argument against the rigid enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act.

New Orleans thinks it can speak with some authority on the yellow peril, and it has not been to the Far East either.

Gov. Folk and District Attorney Jerome have both been braden as drinking men. The District Attorney in Washington had better look out. A few more indictments will set him into bad odor with the prohibitionists.

Secretary Shaw professes to be greatly pleased over the applause of the Virginia Republicans. Leslie ought to remember that it is some time since Virginia went Republican in a presidential election.

The Treasury Department states that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing is working overtime on new money. Nobody would kick if they doubled their output.

When the gamblers, the statesmen and the government office holders get through telling about the prosperity of the country, the factory and shop girls on five dollars a week might say what they think about it.

President Baer does not think there will be any coal strike and Mr. Mitchell does not think there will be any reduction in wages. And the consumer is morally certain there will not be any diminution in price.

It has been authoritatively stated so many times first that there would be an extra session of Congress and then that there would not be, that the calendar has had most of the leaves torn off that intervene between now and the regular session. The astute party managers have managed so well that there is little time left for danger from a special session; but unfortunately, from their point of view, the time is drawing near when they will have to face the regular session and that cannot be put off. The question arises what will they do. They want to mark time. President Roosevelt wants reform, wants a lot of it and wants it quick. The country as a whole will probably agree with him in thinking it is needed. So Congress will have to make a few motions to convince its constituents that it is doing something. Probably it will devote as much time as possible to railway rate legislation. It is an even chance that if a bill of this sort gets through the house it will suit the railroads about as well as it will suit anyone. If it does not it probably will be killed in the senate. That has been done before and the House hopes that the senate will take the responsibility again. Tariff revision will not be attempted if the party managers can prevent it, and if it is, there will be a dreary round of talk that is not likely to result in anything. Both the Democrats and a small section of the Republicans think there is a good chance to make capital out of investigating the Panama situation and this ought to serve very well to kill a lot of time. But the best, brightest and safest prospect is to let the congressmen who have been to the Philippines tell what they did and didn't see there. This will of course precipitate the question of the reduction of Philippine duties, but this could be very well made a separate issue from general tariff tinkering. That is a bright idea. By all means let us have a Philippine symposium. This will kill many weeks between meeting day and the time when an adjournment can be decently forced. It is about as safe a subject as there is in the lot and it can be made to sound very patriotic while it is being talked about. By all means let us get busy with the Philippines.

Fossil of Three-Toed Horse is Discovered.

Berkley, Cal., Sept. 5.—The first official bulletin descriptive of the fossil unearthed by the expedition to the John Day region, in Eastern Oregon, has been published by the geology department at Berkely. It describes some of the strange creatures that dwell in the country known as the Bad Lands. Among these remarkable beasts are extinct pigs and peccaries as large as cows, camel-like quadrupeds, and, not the least interesting, the famous three-toed horse.

The "Elotherium," or giant hog, is a monster mammal nearly ten feet long and six or seven feet high.

Three-fourths of the remains of animals found are of the peculiar hoofed beasts named "Oreodons," part deer and part hog. These varied in size from that of a dog to that of a small cow.

Put Mitchell out of Chair.

Oregonian News Bureau, Washington, Sept. 5.—When the committees of the United States are being reorganized next December a fight is to be made to wrest the chairmanship of the Isthmian Canal Committee from Senator Mitchell of Oregon. Because of the prominence the canal legislation is likely to attain at the coming session, it is desirable that Senate committee should be in the hands of some good strong man, fully competent to conduct hearings, direct the work of the committee, and assume charge of whatever canal legislation may be reported to the Senate. It is recognized that Senator Mitchell can do none of these things. Therefore there is a general desire that a new chairman be selected.

Twenty Lives Lost in Storm.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 4.—Eighteen or 20 lives were lost and property valued at $500,000 sacrificed in the furious storm that swept over Lake Superior Sunday and Sunday night. The gale was the most destructive to lake shipping that has been experienced in many years. Beside the wreck of the steel steamer Sevonia, which broke in two on Sand Island reef, seven of the crew losing their lives, it is now believed that two more ships were lost with their entire crew.

Soused A Hold-up Man

Eugene, Or., Sept. 5.—(Special)—Last night about midnight a masked man entered Witter's saloon at Springfield, while Mr. Witter and his son were the only persons inside, and, drawing a revolver, commanded them to throw up their hands. The elder man responded, but the son grabbed a bucket of water and threw it into the hold-up's face. This caused confusion, during which Witter got a revolver, when the intruder slipped out and escaped.—Oregonian.

Beautiful Women

Plump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health and a pure complexion, make all women beautiful. Take a small dose of Herbine after each meal; it will prevent constipation and digest what you have eaten. Mrs. Wm M Stroud, Midlothian, Texas, writes, May 31, 1901: "We have used Herbine in our family for eight years, and found it the best medicine we ever used for constipation, bilious fever and malaria. Sold by R S Knowlton."

Detective Stories That are the Real Thing.

The Cosmopolitan has been fortunate enough to secure the "Confessions of a New York Detective," made by an ex-Captain of Police. This remarkable narrative will be run serially, beginning in the September issue. It bids fair to prove far more interesting and exciting than any imagined detective story, for it deals directly with those phases of life and their supervision by the police upon which all the ingenious yarns of clever writers are formed. Henry Raleigh is illustrating the Confessions, and is making some very realistic drawings.

Road Agent Fails in Escaping With Heiress.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 5.—Harry Paxton, self-confessed road agent, supposed to be son of a wealthy Boston family, is being chased tonight by sheriffs of San Bernardino, Riverside and Los Angeles counties for horse stealing committed in Riverside. Paxton has won the affection of Quiney Helde, a pretty 16-year-old heiress, whom he completely dominates. She had consented to join him in his career of crime, having become fascinated with remnants of bold hold-ups on the road.

The young girl had secured two speedy horses, which she was leading to an isolated section south of town, where she was to meet him, when detected by friends.

Paxton made his escape, taking a valuable horse from Riverside, which he traded here for another animal. He was trailed last night as far as Ontario, from which Point he turned into the river bottom. Officers are drawing a strong cordon about him between here and Santa Ana.

Not Asked for Forty Years to Obey.

Last week the following statement went the rounds of the secular press: "Copies of the revised rules to ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church which have been received show that in the marriage word 'obey' does not appear. Hereafter the bride will have only to agree to love, honor and keep him." To this Rev. Samuel McKean, or Troy, N. Y., a Methodist minister, makes fitting reply: "To a Methodist this discovery is ludicrous, for the word 'obey' was removed from the marriage service in 1864, and under that service no bride has been required to promise to obey for the last 41 years. And though I have been a minister of that church for over 50 years, I have never heard of a bridegroom who expressed a desire that his bride should make such a promise."—Zion's Herald.

Abscess

Abscesses, with few exceptions, are indicative of constipation or debility.

W H Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, Aug. 15, 1905: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail which caused the cords in my leg to contract and an abscess to rise in my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J F Lord's drug store (who is now in Denver, Colo.) He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment; I got a 50c size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world. Sold by R S Knowlton."

Mary had a little lamb; that time has passed away. No lamb could follow up the gait that Mary goes today. For now she rides on air-spoke wheels in skirts too short by half; no lambkin shares her airy flight, but you can see her calf. But is there one who can complain or cry in woe, "Alas!" so long as Mary's calf's all right the lamb can go to grass. So all the men delight to gaze, their joy is not a shame, for while the other critter's out they have no use for lamb.

THREE JURORS CURED OF Cholera Morbus With One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

Mr G W Fowler, of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Clebourne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soused meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale by R S Knowlton.

Deciding Game.

(From the "Vallejo Daily News.") The fans are promised a baseball feast Sunday next, when the Vallejo and Napa nines face each other for the last time this season, to decide to whom the honors belong. Vallejo has beaten Napa twice and Napa has won once and tied on another occasion so this coming contest will decide the championship.

Napa will have the same team which it has been playing for the past month and which took Vallejo's scalp in the last contest, with the exception of the catcher and Boynton, who are out of the game temporarily through injuries received.

The Vallejo nine has been considerably strengthened by the addition of Micky Nevins, who played the best game last Sunday at short seen in Vallejo this season, either by a local or a visiting fielder. Ordway, the new fielder, is also up to the standard of Nevins, and the team looks to be in line to win Sunday's game although all believe that the struggle will be close. Ward will make his reappearance in the box and promises to lead the locals to victory.

Rooms at the Lewis & Clark Fair

S. A. Madge, J. O. B. Scobey and F. W. Stocking, of Olympia, Wash., and M. G. Royal, of Salem, Oregon, have secured the Hotel Palmer, of Portland, and put it under competent management for the Fair trade. It is a 65 room hotel situated on Alder street between Seventh and Eighth, just one block west of the Oregonian building, only one block from car line running directly to the fair grounds. For one dollar a day the very best accommodations can be secured. The above gentlemen are well known all over the state of Washington and to a large extent in Oregon and their names give assurance that the guests of the hotel will be properly cared for. Take the Morrison Street car at the Union Depot and ask the conductor to let you off at Park Street, then walk north to the hotel. Write at once for particulars and for reservation of a room. Address Hotel Palmer, 350 Alder street, Portland, Oregon.—From the Morning Olympian, Olympia, Washington.
